Fleming Guilty Of Collaboration Charge

Former POW Freed Of Two Other Counts

No Decision Reached On Penalty; Case May Establish Precedent

FT. SHERIDAN, Ill., Sept. 22 (AP)—Lt. Col. Harry Fleming, 46, today was convicted of collaborating with the enemy in a North Korean prison camp, the first U.S. Army officer ever court-martialed on this charge.

The infantry officer was cleared of two other charges—informing on other prisoners under his command and of conduct unbecoming an officer in allegedly stepping on the foot of a soldier, also a prisoner of war.

Fleming accepted the 11-member court's findings without show of emotion. His wife and daughter were in the hearing room when the verdict was read.

Immediately, the court began hearing arguments of "mitigation and extenuation" as a prelude to passing sentence.

Could Get Life Term

The maximum penalty could include dismissal from the service, forfeiture of pay and life imprisonment at hard labor.

The law does not provide for any minimum punishment but, in effect, it would be a reprimand.

There was no indication when a decision on any penalty would be reached.

Fleming, of Racine, Wis., was the first American army officer to be court - martialed for his behavior in a Communist prison camp during the Korean War.

Information received from Washington was that the Judge Advocate General's office had reported Fleming also was the first U.S. Army officer ever court-martialed on a charge of collaborating with the enemy.

Case Sets Precedent

Alfred E. La France of Racine, Wis., defense counsel, said the case will establish a precedent.

Fleming was a captive of the Reds for three years. He was wounded by bullets and apparently also by shrapnel on the day he was caught.

During his court - martial he stripped and displayed scars on his back, both legs and left arm.

The collaboration charge was based on allegations that Fleming made recordings which were used for Communist propaganda purposes, and that he led discussion groups which reflected opinions that the United Nations and United States were illegal aggressors in Korea.

Ike, Launching Tour, Reiterates "Basic Policy"

MISSOULA, Mont., Sept. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower, hunting congressional election votes in a restrained kind of way, declared tonight American citizens generally are better able to look after their needs "than is some bureaucrat in far-off Washington."

Opening a three-day aerial tour of the Far West with Republicans seeking to maintain control of Congress, the President addressed an applauding airport crowd which police estimated at 30,000 persons.

At no point in his brief off-the-cuff talk did the President plug openly for election of a GOP controlled Congress in November. But, as he has done before, he stated what he called the "basic policy" of his administration.

Ike Mentions Rep. D'Ewart

That is the kind of campaigning he said months ago he would do.

Eisenhower did mention one Republican candidate for Congress by name—Rep. Wesley D'Ewart, who is bidding for the U. S. Senate seat of the incumbent veteran, Sen. James Murray, Democrat.

The President referred to D'Ewart as "my good friend Wes," after D'Ewart had introduced him, but the chief executive said nothing about D'Ewart's candidacy.

Eisenhower said the basic policy of his administration is "the intense belief that every citizen is not a ward of a centralized federal government."

Pledges Aid When Needed

He added that in some circumstances the federal government can step in and help states and localities, but each citizen is better qualified to look after himself "than is some bureaucrat in far-off Washington."

Eisenhower said his administration never will desert any section of the country which really needs aid from Washington but he added it also never will "step across that line that means federal intrusion."

The presidential plane Columbine landed at Missoula county airport after a 3½ hour flight from the summer White House in Denver.

Santa Fe's "Chief" Derailed; 15 Injured

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Chicago-bound Santa Fe Chief was derailed, apparently by a faulty switch, at the Orwood siding, 40 miles east of here this afternoon. There were no fatalities.

Ten cars, including the dome observation car, and the two diesel engine units of the crack streamliner left the tracks at a speed reported by the engineer at 70 miles an hour.

About 15 persons were reported hurt, nine seriously enough to require hospitalization.

Early Verdict On McCarthy Censure Seen

Senate Session Call To Consider Report May Be Issued Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—J. Mark Trice, secretary of the Senate, said tonight he had been advised by the office of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) that no announcement would be made before tomorrow on whether a pre-election session of the Senate will be called to act on a resolution to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Trice, who waited into the night to receive a call from Knowland, the Senate majority leader, had said earlier there was a possibility he would be instructed shortly to send out telegrams summoning senators to return here.

Sept. 29 was the date generally mentioned for the start of the session, although some thought it might be a few days later.

Committee Meets

Trice said Knowland's office had informed him the senator had another Republican senator he wanted to contact before making a decision but did not expect to reach him in time for an announcement tonight.

While Trice stayed late in his office tonight to hear from Knowland, the special six-member committee working on a report of its investigation of the censure charges met for nearly five hours in the office of Chairman Watkins (R-Utah).

Before recessing last month, the Senate authorized Knowland and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, to recall the members on five days' notice.

No Statement Now

Johnson said at Austin, Tex., today he had no statement to make now. He said that if the committee's "report came in today, I assume I would talk to Knowland."

Knowland could not be reached.

One Senate source said Sept. 29 seemed like "a reasonable date" to expect the Senate to return provided the special committee finishes its work this week.

He said the leaders felt the earlier the session could be held the better it would be, in view of the approaching congressional elections on Nov. 2.

Attlee Says Get Rid Of Chiang

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP) — Back from Moscow and Peiping, Labor Leader Clement Attlee called on the West today to get rid of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at once.

Simultaneously, Attlee's lieutenants supported the principle of West German rearmament in the face of determined opposition from left wing and pacifist groups at a meeting of the Labor party's National Executive Committee.

Both developments will influence the course of events at the party's annual conference next week at Scarborough, a Yorkshire seaside resort.

Arriving home after talks with top Russian and Chinese Communist leaders, Attlee stepped from a plane at London airport, greeted his two daughters and a grandchild, and said:

"Personally speaking, I think the sooner we get rid of Chiang Kai-shek and his troops the better."

Long ago Attlee went on record in favor of giving Peiping representatives the United Nations seat held by Nationalist China, a wartime ally of the Western powers.

President Will Turn Chef, Serve Beef Stew

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower, doing his bit to promote sale of meat and vegetables, will turn chef next Monday and serve beef stew to a roomful of luncheon diners.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson told a meeting of the American Meat Institute and United Fruit and Vegetable Assn. that Eisenhower will dish up the stew at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club.

"The President is interested in this type of program," he said, referring to an industry campaign to bolster meat and vegetable sales.

Benson said the presidential chef also will make an important announcement at the Denver luncheon, but "there will be no political flavor to it, whatever."

Santa Fe's "Chief" Derailed Again

This air view shows the derailed Santa Fe's Chicago-bound "Chief," which left the tracks 17 miles west of Stockton, Calif., yesterday, injuring about 15 persons. Roosevelt Will Run On Harriman Ticket

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (INS) — Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., defeated by Averell Harriman for the nomination for governor of New York, was chosen tonight by the Democratic state convention to be the party's candidate for attorney general.

This surprise development caused considerable speculation as to why Roosevelt agreed to run on the same ticket with Harriman, his conqueror.

One opinion, expressed privately by experienced politicians, was that Franklin Roosevelt realized that his elder brother, James Roosevelt, in all likelihood will be elected this fall as a congressman from California and that if they were both in Congress at the same time their records and positions on issues would be "pin pointed" to the point of embarrassment.

"Jimmy" Roosevelt has won the nomination for Congress in a district where the nomination is regarded as tantamount to election.

Another view of FDR's action in agreeing to run for the attorney generalship was that this position would give him executive training and at the same time enable him to build himself up for the governorship in the event he desires to run for this office four years from now.

He is only 40 years old.

If elected as attorney general, Franklin Roosevelt would resign as congressman. His term expires next January 20.

Included in the ticket nominated by the Democrats were:

For lieutenant governor — George B. De Luca, district attorney of Bronx County.

When the ticket was completed, Harriman came to the platform and delivered his speech of acceptance. He was given a hearty ovation.

He told the delegates that the "name of our opposition is 'Republicanism.'" Harriman characterized "Republicanism" as "a certain outlook on life — a backward look, cramped, narrow, joyless and above all, fearful."

Gold Leg Makeup Newest Sensation In Glamor Lineup

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Golden legs are the newest sensation in the glamor lineup, introduced today by designer Lilly Dache at her fall millinery showing.

Gold leg makeup and face powder in tones of mauve, green and gold were worn by the Dache models, who displayed hats and costumes keyed to the color of hair and complexion. The leg makeup is worn beneath sheer stockings.

Pope Receives Pilgrims

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 22 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, whose doctors have urged him to rest more, received 7,000 pilgrims in general audience today at his summer residence here.

He gave only the words of his benediction. He did not give a speech as he has done often in the past.

Italian Reds Demand Premier Quit In Montesi Death Scandal

ROME, Sept. 22 (AP)—Italy's powerful Communist party tonight charged pro-Western Premier Mario Scelba with full responsibility for the Wilma Montesi death scandal and demanded his resignation.

The maneuver by the largest Communist party organization outside the Iron Curtain had been anticipated. Scelba promised to answer the charges tomorrow.

Before the government-shaking storm broke on the Senate floor, police chiefs of key Italian cities, summoned urgently to Rome, were briefed on how to carry out anti-riot operations. A high police official said the Communists were expected to stage "disorders and demonstrations."

The Communist assault—joined by fellow-traveling Socialists—developed from the detention last night of two prominent Romans. They are Piero Piccioni, 32, jazz pianist son of Attilio Piccioni, who resigned last Saturday as Italy's foreign minister in order, he said, "to defend my son and my family's good name," and a rich, self-styled marquis named Ugo Montagna.

Both are accused in connection with the death of Wilma, a shapely, 21-year-old party girl. Her death has led to allegations of sex and drug orgies involving persons high in Italy's society and politics. Her nearly nude body was found on the beach at Ostia, Rome's Coney Island, in April, 1953.

From the floor of the Senate, Sen. Umberto Terracini, Communist Senate leader, accused Scelba of "being responsible for the Montesi affair."

"We cannot tolerate being governed by anybody under any kind of suspicion," he asserted. "If Piccioni paid for suspicion on his son by resigning, you (Scelba) should do the same."

When the Communist leader had finished, Sen. Emilio Lusso, a member of the Moscow-oriented Socialist party, rose and seconded the call for the Premier's resignation. The tough, stocky Scelba, who is also interior minister and therefore in charge of all Italian police, stomped from the chamber, ignoring Lusso's demand for an immediate reply to the charges.

Reds Balk At U.N. Debate On Laos, Cambodia Entry

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—The Russians balked today at discussing the admission of Laos and Cambodia to the U.N. until a satisfactory settlement is made in Indochina in accord with the decisions of the Geneva conference.

The U.N. Assembly's steering committee voted 12-0, however, to recommend that the 60-nation Assembly debate a proposal by Australia to give Laos and Cambodia a place in the U.N. Russia and Czechoslovakia abstained.

Soviet Still Has whip Hand

The Soviet Union still has the upper hand for it can veto in the Security Council the admission of Laos and Cambodia regardless of what the Assembly does. The Soviet opposition to debate now made it clear the Russians will demand the U.N. pay attention to the decisions of the Geneva conference, which was held outside the U.N.

Dulles Speech Awaited

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles also may touch on the Geneva conference tomorrow when he speaks to the Assembly and gives the 59 other country's a report on the state of the world as the United States sees it.

The Assembly today elected seven vice presidents and seven committee chairmen who, with the president, constitute the Steering Committee. As usual, the five big powers were elected vice presidents. Burma and Ecuador also were chosen.

Triplets Born In Auto, Elevator And Hospital

LUDINGTON, Mich., Sept. 22 (AP) Triplet sons — Tom, Dick and Harry—were born today to Mr. and Mrs. Velmar Bidwell who live near Ludington.

Tom was born in an automobile on the way to the hospital. Dick was born in a hospital elevator on the way to the delivery room. Harry arrived under orthodox conditions —in the delivery room.

The triplets and their mother, Alberta, 32, were said to be doing fine. Dick and Harry are in an incubator.

The Bidwells have five other children ranging in age from 2 to 13.

Woman, Firing Gun First Time, Bags Bear

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., Sept. 22 (AP)—"It was either me or the bear so I shot," Mrs. William Arch commented calmly as she displayed the carcass of a 200-pound bruin.

The animal prowled cabins at a wilderness lodge operated by Mrs. Arch and her husband. When the bear climbed onto the porch of the main lodge, Mrs. Arch grabbed her husband's rifle and killed it with a single shot.

"First I ever fired a gun, too," she explained.

Supreme Court Decides On Date For Arguments

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Supreme Court today fixed Dec. 6 for the start of arguments on how to end public school segregation. The timing raised a possibility that final decrees may not come until about the time for the spring wind-up of classes.

Announcing the December date, Supreme Court Clerk Harold B. Willey said this was the earliest time the argument could be heard. The court's argument schedules for October and November already were filled.

The decision on the date was reached at a closed conference of seven justices. Justices Douglas and Minton have not returned from their vacations, but they communicated their agreement with the decision and thus made it unanimous.

Timing Major Question

The new arguments will pick up not only the question of how to order the end of school segregation which was unanimously declared unconstitutional last May 17. Another major question will be the timing in final orders for desegregation.

The court's opinion last May asked interested attorneys to discuss whether decrees should require admission of Negro children "forthwith" to schools nearest their homes, or whether there should be an "effective, gradual adjustment."

Attorneys also were asked to discuss whether in event orders were issued for gradual integration, the court should give detailed instruction, appoint a special master to study and recommend methods, or allow lower federal courts to devise detailed arrangements.

Maryland To Take Part

The five cases directly involved in the May decision—those from South Carolina, Virginia, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia—have been allotted a total of 10 hours on the December argument schedule. Atty. Gen. Brownell was given an hour.

Seven states not directly involved in the decision have notified Willey they wish to file "friend of the court" briefs or take part in December's oral argument. They are North Carolina, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Maryland, Tennessee and Oklahoma.

Railroad Engineer Gets Job Back, Dies

FAIRBURY, Neb., Sept. 22 (AP)—Life had been empty for Leroy Ensign, 68, Fairbury, since June 25.

That was the day that the Rock Island's Rocky Mountain Rocket with Ensign as engineer was wrecked near Hallam, Neb., injuring 62.

Ensign and four other members of the crew were discharged.

They appealed their firing and yesterday were reinstated.

Early today, as he planned to return to work, Ensign was seized by a heart attack and died.

At Least Four Reported Dead At Mo. Prison

Prisoners, Guards Wage Gun Battle; Troopers Alerted

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 22 (AP)—A bloody riot broke out at the Missouri State Penitentiary tonight and at least two guards and two prisoners were reported killed in gun fire between guards and the howling prisoners.

Fire broke out at the prison's furniture manufacturing plant about 7:15 p.m., about an hour and a half after the "E" Hall break. It spread to other buildings rapidly.

Flames leaped up around the eerie gray walls of the penitentiary and could be seen for miles.

Prison officials said the rioting started in "E" Hall, the solitary confinement area of the sprawling stone prison.

Two Prisoners Dead

They added it had been confirmed that two prisoners were dead and 14 injured. One guard, Oscar Corrington, was slightly injured with a bullet wound in his foot. They would not confirm reports that two guards also were killed in the shooting.

Warden Ralph E. Edison said he did not know how the convicts had obtained firearms. Reason for the rioting was not known, he said.

An unidentified prisoner told Thomas E. Whitecotton, director of corrections at the institution, that at least two other guards are locked inside inner buildings of the penitentiary.

Three of the injured convicts are reported to be seriously wounded. The dead were not immediately identified.

After breaking from "E" hall, officials said, the prisoners freed inmates of at least two other halls.

Troopers Converge On Area

The state Highway Patrol set up its radio alert system inside the prison grounds and some 50 specially trained troopers had been alerted to converge on the area. Patrol officers from as far away as St. Louis had been ordered to the scene.

Shots rang from the walls in the glare of the burning buildings. Two of the guard towers on the outer wall were out of touch with officials inside the prison.

One frightened old man who is night guard at the prison furniture factory was escorted to safety by two prisoners. He was Phillip J. Herbrandt. He said the convicts told him to "turn out the light and get out of there."

The roof of the flaming school building crumbled to the ground. At least two other buildings of the prison, opened in 1836 are 70 or 80 years old.

Rioting prisoners also set fire to the library, but other convicts managed to put it out quickly.

Legion Chief Urges Line Against Reds

LOS ANGELES, Sept 22 (AP)—Seaborn Collins, national commander of the American Legion, said today the free world is "losing the struggle" against communism and should forbid the Reds from crossing a fixed defense line.

The Legion chief received enthusiastic applause from delegates at the American Federation of Labor convention when he suggested the nation's present policies are not tough enough against the Communists.

"We must determine a line and serve notice that if the Communists cross it, the consequence will be immediate and total military retaliation against Russia itself," Collins said.

National Crime Rate Jumps 8.5% In First Half Of Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today the national crime rate jumped another 8.5 per cent in the first half of this year, compared with the same period in 1953.

And, he added, if this trend continues, major crimes will reach a record high in 1954.

In a semiannual issue of the Bureau's Uniform Crime Reports based on police reports from all parts of the country, Hoover estimated that 1,136,140 major crimes were committed during the first six months of the current year, up 88,850 from a year ago.

The report noted that during the 1954 period "a major crime was committed every 13.8 seconds."

The FBI's summary of the police reports asserted:

"Each day during the first six months of 1954, it is estimated that an average of 35 people were feloniously slain and 252 other felonious assaults were committed; 48 rapes were committed; 608 cars were stolen; 197 robberies and 1,454 burglaries were committed.

"It is estimated that during the period a crime of murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill was committed every 4.3 minutes.

"The timetable for crime during the first half of 1954 is as follows: One murder or negligent manslaughter every 40.9 minutes; one rape every 29.8 minutes; one robbery every 7.3 minutes; one aggravated assault every 5.7 minutes; one burglary every 59 seconds; one larceny every 23.5 seconds; one auto theft every 2.4 minutes.

"Robbery jumped 20.4 per cent while burglaries rose 13.2 per cent and larceny 9 per cent.

"Urban crime rose 7.2 per cent. Rural crime increased 11.9 per

Martha Raye Asks $400,000 For Party Brawl Injuries

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—Martha Raye, television and night club entertainer, wants $400,000 injuries she says she suffered during a birthday party brawl in Bimini a month ago today.

Miss Raye filed suit yesterday in Circuit Court against Harry Barton, Coral Gables contractor, claiming permanent injuries she said were caused when Barton smashed a whisky bottle on her head.

She said she will never recover from the effects and that Barton also "used vile and profane language and maliciously assaulted her" and claims the incident caused her to have "blurring eyesight, fainting spells and insomnia."

The suit was filed in the entertainer's married name, Martha Begley. Her husband, Ed Begley, was at the party but was not involved, according to reports.

Miss Raye was celebrating her birthday at the time and reports said the argument started when a party of which Barton was a member had a misunderstanding with members of the Raye party about a calypso band.

Participants in the brawl, which took place in the Compleat Angler bar on Bimini Island, weren't talking for publication, but Miami newspapers quoted an unidentified spectator as saying it was "quite a party."

Barton was arrested and fined $70 on two counts of assault and battery and resisting arrest.

Members of the calypso band suffered burns from the acid contents of a fire extinguisher and various other persons came out of the fray with cuts and bruises.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (INS) — Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., defeated by Averell Harriman for the nomination for governor of New York, was chosen tonight by the Democratic state convention to be the party's candidate for attorney general.

This surprise development caused considerable speculation as to why Roosevelt agreed to run on the same ticket with Harriman, his conqueror.

One opinion, expressed privately by experienced politicians, was that Franklin Roosevelt realized that his elder brother, James Roosevelt, in all likelihood will be elected this fall as a congressman from California and that if they were both in Congress at the same time their records and positions on issues would be "pin pointed" to the point of embarrassment.

"Jimmy" Roosevelt has won the nomination for Congress in a district where the nomination is regarded as tantamount to election.

Another view of FDR's action in agreeing to run for the attorney generalship was that this position would give him executive training and at the same time enable him to build himself up for the governorship in the event he desires to run for this office four years from now.

He is only 40 years old.

If elected as attorney general, Franklin Roosevelt would resign as congressman. His term expires next January 20.

Included in the ticket nominated by the Democrats were:

For lieutenant governor — George B. De Luca, district attorney of Bronx County.

When the ticket was completed, Harriman came to the platform and delivered his speech of acceptance. He was given a hearty ovation.

He told the delegates that the "name of our opposition is 'Republicanism.'" Harriman characterized "Republicanism" as "a certain outlook on life — a backward look, cramped, narrow, joyless and above all, fearful."

Pope Receives Pilgrims

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 22 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, whose doctors have urged him to rest more, received 7,000 pilgrims in general audience today at his summer residence here.

He gave only the words of his benediction. He did not give a speech as he has done often in the past.

Reds Balk At U.N. Debate On Laos, Cambodia Entry

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—The Russians balked today at discussing the admission of Laos and Cambodia to the U.N. until a satisfactory settlement is made in Indochina in accord with the decisions of the Geneva conference.

The U.N. Assembly's steering committee voted 12-0, however, to recommend that the 60-nation Assembly debate a proposal by Australia to give Laos and Cambodia a place in the U.N. Russia and Czechoslovakia abstained.

Soviet Still Has whip Hand

The Soviet Union still has the upper hand for it can veto in the Security Council the admission of Laos and Cambodia regardless of what the Assembly does. The Soviet opposition to debate now made it clear the Russians will demand the U.N. pay attention to the decisions of the Geneva conference, which was held outside the U.N.

Dulles Speech Awaited

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles also may touch on the Geneva conference tomorrow when he speaks to the Assembly and gives the 59 other country's a report on the state of the world as the United States sees it.

The Assembly today elected seven vice presidents and seven committee chairmen who, with the president, constitute the Steering Committee. As usual, the five big powers were elected vice presidents. Burma and Ecuador also were chosen.

Triplets Born In Auto, Elevator And Hospital

LUDINGTON, Mich., Sept. 22 (AP) Triplet sons — Tom, Dick and Harry—were born today to Mr. and Mrs. Velmar Bidwell who live near Ludington.

Tom was born in an automobile on the way to the hospital. Dick was born in a hospital elevator on the way to the delivery room. Harry arrived under orthodox conditions —in the delivery room.

The triplets and their mother, Alberta, 32, were said to be doing fine. Dick and Harry are in an incubator.

The Bidwells have five other children ranging in age from 2 to 13.

Woman, Firing Gun First Time, Bags Bear

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., Sept. 22 (AP)—"It was either me or the bear so I shot," Mrs. William Arch commented calmly as she displayed the carcass of a 200-pound bruin.

The animal prowled cabins at a wilderness lodge operated by Mrs. Arch and her husband. When the bear climbed onto the porch of the main lodge, Mrs. Arch grabbed her husband's rifle and killed it with a single shot.

"First I ever fired a gun, too," she explained.

Italian Reds Demand Premier Quit In Montesi Death Scandal

ROME, Sept. 22 (AP)—Italy's powerful Communist party tonight charged pro-Western Premier Mario Scelba with full responsibility for the Wilma Montesi death scandal and demanded his resignation.

The maneuver by the largest Communist party organization outside the Iron Curtain had been anticipated. Scelba promised to answer the charges tomorrow.

Before the government-shaking storm broke on the Senate floor, police chiefs of key Italian cities, summoned urgently to Rome, were briefed on how to carry out anti-riot operations. A high police official said the Communists were expected to stage "disorders and demonstrations."

The Communist assault—joined by fellow-traveling Socialists—developed from the detention last night of two prominent Romans. They are Piero Piccioni, 32, jazz pianist son of Attilio Piccioni, who resigned last Saturday as Italy's foreign minister in order, he said, "to defend my son and my family's good name," and a rich, self-styled marquis named Ugo Montagna.

Both are accused in connection with the death of Wilma, a shapely, 21-year-old party girl. Her death has led to allegations of sex and drug orgies involving persons high in Italy's society and politics. Her nearly nude body was found on the beach at Ostia, Rome's Coney Island, in April, 1953.

From the floor of the Senate, Sen. Umberto Terracini, Communist Senate leader, accused Scelba of "being responsible for the Montesi affair."

"We cannot tolerate being governed by anybody under any kind of suspicion," he asserted. "If Piccioni paid for suspicion on his son by resigning, you (Scelba) should do the same."

When the Communist leader had finished, Sen. Emilio Lusso, a member of the Moscow-oriented Socialist party, rose and seconded the call for the Premier's resignation. The tough, stocky Scelba, who is also interior minister and therefore in charge of all Italian police, stomped from the chamber, ignoring Lusso's demand for an immediate reply to the charges.

At Least Four Reported Dead At Mo. Prison

Prisoners, Guards Wage Gun Battle; Troopers Alerted

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 22 (AP)—A bloody riot broke out at the Missouri State Penitentiary tonight and at least two guards and two prisoners were reported killed in gun fire between guards and the howling prisoners.

Fire broke out at the prison's furniture manufacturing plant about 7:15 p.m., about an hour and a half after the "E" Hall break. It spread to other buildings rapidly.

Flames leaped up around the eerie gray walls of the penitentiary and could be seen for miles.

Prison officials said the rioting started in "E" Hall, the solitary confinement area of the sprawling stone prison.

Two Prisoners Dead

They added it had been confirmed that two prisoners were dead and 14 injured. One guard, Oscar Corrington, was slightly injured with a bullet wound in his foot. They would not confirm reports that two guards also were killed in the shooting.

Warden Ralph E. Edison said he did not know how the convicts had obtained firearms. Reason for the rioting was not known, he said.

An unidentified prisoner told Thomas E. Whitecotton, director of corrections at the institution, that at least two other guards are locked inside inner buildings of the penitentiary.

Three of the injured convicts are reported to be seriously wounded. The dead were not immediately identified.

After breaking from "E" hall, officials said, the prisoners freed inmates of at least two other halls.

Troopers Converge On Area

The state Highway Patrol set up its radio alert system inside the prison grounds and some 50 specially trained troopers had been alerted to converge on the area. Patrol officers from as far away as St. Louis had been ordered to the scene.

Shots rang from the walls in the glare of the burning buildings. Two of the guard towers on the outer wall were out of touch with officials inside the prison.

One frightened old man who is night guard at the prison furniture factory was escorted to safety by two prisoners. He was Phillip J. Herbrandt. He said the convicts told him to "turn out the light and get out of there."

The roof of the flaming school building crumbled to the ground. At least two other buildings of the prison, opened in 1836 are 70 or 80 years old.

Rioting prisoners also set fire to the library, but other convicts managed to put it out quickly.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Sept. 22 (AP)—Life had been empty for Leroy Ensign, 68, Fairbury, since June 25.

That was the day that the Rock Island's Rocky Mountain Rocket with Ensign as engineer was wrecked near Hallam, Neb., injuring 62.

Ensign and four other members of the crew were discharged.

They appealed their firing and yesterday were reinstated.

Early today, as he planned to return to work, Ensign was seized by a heart attack and died.

Legion Chief Urges Line Against Reds

LOS ANGELES, Sept 22 (AP)—Seaborn Collins, national commander of the American Legion, said today the free world is "losing the struggle" against communism and should forbid the Reds from crossing a fixed defense line.

The Legion chief received enthusiastic applause from delegates at the American Federation of Labor convention when he suggested the nation's present policies are not tough enough against the Communists.

"We must determine a line and serve notice that if the Communists cross it, the consequence will be immediate and total military retaliation against Russia itself," Collins said.

Santa Fe's "Chief" Derailed; 15 Injured

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Chicago-bound Santa Fe Chief was derailed, apparently by a faulty switch, at the Orwood siding, 40 miles east of here this afternoon. There were no fatalities.

About 15 persons were reported hurt, nine seriously enough to require hospitalization.

National Crime Rate Jumps 8.5% In First Half Of Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today the national crime rate jumped another 8.5 per cent in the first half of this year, compared with the same period in 1953.

And, he added, if this trend continues, major crimes will reach a record high in 1954.

In a semiannual issue of the Bureau's Uniform Crime Reports based on police reports from all parts of the country, Hoover estimated that 1,136,140 major crimes were committed during the first six months of the current year, up 88,850 from a year ago.

The report noted that during the 1954 period "a major crime was committed every 13.8 seconds."

The FBI's summary of the police reports asserted:

"Each day during the first six months of 1954, it is estimated that an average of 35 people were feloniously slain and 252 other felonious assaults were committed; 48 rapes were committed; 608 cars were stolen; 197 robberies and 1,454 burglaries were committed.

"It is estimated that during the period a crime of murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill was committed every 4.3 minutes.

"The timetable for crime during the first half of 1954 is as follows: One murder or negligent manslaughter every 40.9 minutes; one rape every 29.8 minutes; one robbery every 7.3 minutes; one aggravated assault every 5.7 minutes; one burglary every 59 seconds; one larceny every 23.5 seconds; one auto theft every 2.4 minutes.

"Robbery jumped 20.4 per cent while burglaries rose 13.2 per cent and larceny 9 per cent.

"Urban crime rose 7.2 per cent. Rural crime increased 11.9 per

President Will Turn Chef, Serve Beef Stew

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower, doing his bit to promote sale of meat and vegetables, will turn chef next Monday and serve beef stew to a roomful of luncheon diners.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson told a meeting of the American Meat Institute and United Fruit and Vegetable Assn. that Eisenhower will dish up the stew at Denver's Cherry Hills Country Club.

"The President is interested in this type of program," he said, referring to an industry campaign to bolster meat and vegetable sales.

Benson said the presidential chef also will make an important announcement at the Denver luncheon, but "there will be no political flavor to it, whatever."

Martha Raye Asks $400,000 For Party Brawl Injuries

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—Martha Raye, television and night club entertainer, wants $400,000 injuries she says she suffered during a birthday party brawl in Bimini a month ago today.

Miss Raye filed suit yesterday in Circuit Court against Harry Barton, Coral Gables contractor, claiming permanent injuries she said were caused when Barton smashed a whisky bottle on her head.

She said she will never recover from the effects and that Barton also "used vile and profane language and maliciously assaulted her" and claims the incident caused her to have "blurring eyesight, fainting spells and insomnia."

The suit was filed in the entertainer's married name, Martha Begley. Her husband, Ed Begley, was at the party but was not involved, according to reports.

Miss Raye was celebrating her birthday at the time and reports said the argument started when a party of which Barton was a member had a misunderstanding with members of the Raye party about a calypso band.

Participants in the brawl, which took place in the Compleat Angler bar on Bimini Island, weren't talking for publication, but Miami newspapers quoted an unidentified spectator as saying it was "quite a party."

Barton was arrested and fined $70 on two counts of assault and battery and resisting arrest.

Members of the calypso band suffered burns from the acid contents of a fire extinguisher and various other persons came out of the fray with cuts and bruises.

Labor Forces May Inject German Unity Into London Meeting

BONN, Germany, Sept. 22 (AP)—Labor forces in Europe appeared headed tonight toward a drive to inject German unity into the London conference.

The Socialists in Germany demanded Chancellor Konrad Adenauer bring up the subject, contending sovereignty and rearmament for the West—even should it be granted—is only a stopgap measure.

In Great Britain, the rightwing forces of Labor leader Clement Attlee won Executive Committee approval for a resolution on West German rearmament, but inserted the qualifying thought that new efforts be made to induce the Soviet Union "to permit reunification of Germany on the basis of free elections."

How far the labor forces will get remains a matter of conjecture. The nine-power London parley due to start in a week is presumably confined at this point to the question of granting Adenauer's 50 million Germans equal rights in the Western world plus rearming them in an anti-Red Atlantic alliance.

Pressures on France—the stumbling block to German rearmament in any form up until now—mounted with these developments:

1. In Paris, Supreme Allied Commander Alfred M. Gruenther told French businessman NATO had enough safeguards to control German aggression and that is is essential to have German soldiers in the anti-Soviet bloc.

2. In Bonn, Chancellor Adenauer's top spokesman said the West German leader is keeping an open mind on the French plan for a seven - nation European defense community, including Germany and Britain. By his words and tone, the spokesman implied Adenauer is unwilling to irk the French in any way now in order to see how things progress in London.

3. In London, authoritative sources said French Premier Pierre Mendes - France had formally demanded in his memorandum last Saturday to the Western Allies that American and British troops remain indefinitely in Europe. This point, which appears certain to meet stiff opposition in Washington and London, was made a condition for French approval of West Germany's rearmament, the informants said.

Red H-Bomb Believed Exploded In Arctic

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 23 (AP)—The newspaper Asahi today said Japanese scientists have "almost conclusive evidence" that the Russians recently exploded an H-bomb on an island 500 miles northwest of Nome, Alaska.

The paper quoted Japanese researchers at the Tokyo Meteorological Laboratory as estimating the explosion took place in late August or early September on Wrangel Island. The island lies within the Arctic Circle due west of Pt. Barrow, Alaska.

Soviet Russia announced last Friday it had exploded an "atomic weapon" to study the battle effect. The brief Moscow announcement said the explosion took place "in the Soviet Union during recent days."

Desegregation Tension Eases In Some Areas

[By The Associated Press]

Tension created by attempts to integrate Negro students into white classrooms appeared to be lessening somewhat in several sections of the nation Wednesday.

A strike by 21 white students against admittance of three Negroes to Sherman High School at Seth, near Madison, W. Va., apparently was over.

Half a dozen white students were enrolled at Lincoln University, Jefferson, Mo., a university established 80 years ago for Negroes only. No incidents were reported.

Students at Carthage High School Carthage, Mo., elected two Negroes as class officers. Charles Scott was named vice president of the senior class and Dub Cheney was picked as reporter for the junior class.

In Washington, the U.S. Supreme Court announced it would hear arguments Dec. 6 on how to carry out its decision against racial segregation in the public schools.

Court opens in October, but Harold Willey, clerk of the high tribunal, explained the week of Dec. 6 was the earliest available date for the arguments. Briefs are expected to be filed by North Carolina, Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Maryland, Tennessee and Oklahoma.

On the other side of the picture efforts to stop what was termed segregation in the public schools in Hillsboro, Ohio, failed in U.S. District Court at Cincinnati.

U.S. Judge John H. Druffel denied a motion for a temporary restraining order against the Board of Education in the Southwestern Ohio city of 5,100. He set Sept. 29 for hearing petitions for a temporary injunction and a permanent injunction.

At Milford, Del., two schools remained closed due to telephoned threats against Negro pupils. Dr. Ramon C. Cobbs, Milford school superintendent, said the schools would not open until Monday at least.

Unexpected Taker For Ice Cream Gift

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 22 (AP)—A Lexington firm's offer to pass out a few parcels of free ice cream got an unexpected taker today.

Mrs. J. F. Frasure, a farm wife from near Conover, N.C., wrote that she'd be looking for her half-gallon of ice cream in an early mail.

Mrs. Frasure found one of 125 gift letters sent out in 5,000 gas-filled balloons Saturday at the Kentucky-Maryland football game.

Melvin A. Meyer, manager of Ball & Co., said: "We're going to send it if it's humanly possible."

"High Middle Road" Plea Made By Nixon

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 22 (AP)—Loss of Republican control of Congress would be "a body blow to the Eisenhower program that shuns both the far left and the far right," Vice President Richard Nixon said here tonight.

Nixon made an appeal to continue down the "high middle road" in an address prepared for delivery in the auditorium of Denfeld High School.

"If the Truman-ADA-Stevenson wing of the Democrat party captures the 84th Congress," Nixon said, "you can be as sure of one thing as death and taxes:

"The United States will swing back down the leftward road toward socialism, toward more big government that robs states of their historic freedoms, toward ever-mounting taxes, toward more of the crisis-to-crisis maneuvering that once kept our farm and industrial economy on a perpetual hot seat."

Union Welfare Fund Investigation Begins

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22 (AP)—A congressional subcommittee which launched a nationwide probe of union welfare funds today was told by a Chinese-American restaurant operator that he received a death threat for failing to contribute to such a fund.

Later the man accused of making the threat testified he was so drunk he didn't remember what was said. He said he was a part-time bartender and not a union official.

Trieste Accord Reported Near

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Yugoslavia and Italy under strong American prodding were reported today near a complete settlement of their dispute over the Free Territory of Trieste.

Western diplomats said unless unexpected hitches arise an agreement between the two countries may be signed in London within a fortnight. The United States, Britain and possibly France plan to guarantee the settlement.

In Washington a State Department spokesman said the United States now has an attitude of "cautious optimism" about the possibility of a final settlement of the quarrel over the strategic area at the head of the Adriatic, Italian before World War II.

Press officer Henry Suydam attributed the improved prospects to the diplomacy of Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, who flew to Europe 10 days ago. He conferred in Belgrade with Yugoslav officials and in Rome with Italian leaders.

Modern Traffic needs Concrete pavement

Traffic has increased steadily in weight and volume. Yet for more than a quarter of a century thousands of miles of concrete roads have rendered uninterrupted service while carrying most of the heaviest traffic.

Concrete meets every requirement of modern traffic. It is moderate in first cost. It has lower maintenance cost and at least twice the service life of other pavements. It is the safest pavement too. Its gritty surface grips tires firmly, permitting quicker stops in emergencies. Its light-colored surface allows maximum visibility at night. If you can't see you can't be safe.

Mr. Motorist, your license fees, gas and other taxes pay for building and maintaining roads. Insist on concrete to get the greatest pavement value for your money.

Pilot Sacrifices Life For Others

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Sept. 22 (AP)—A heroic pilot rode his burning cargo plane to a fiery death so the eight other men aboard could bail out. They were rescued last night and today in the San Bernardino Mountains, near the crash scene.

They suffered minor injuries. And two other airmen were hurt when their helicopter, used to bring the crashed crewmen out of the mountains, itself crash - landed three miles northeast of Lake Arrowhead.

The gallant pilot of the twin-engine C82 was Capt. C.M. Eckstein, 33, of Van Nuys, Calif. His widow and two small children live in Sioux City, Iowa. The C82 was from the 521st Air Defense Group at Sioux City.

The cargo plane crashed shortly after refueling at Norton AFB here at 6:16 p.m. last night. It came down 10 miles northwest of Big Bar Lake and exploded as it crashed, touching off a forest fire which crackled uncontrolled for several hours.

Ground crews searched through the night in the rough, precipitous country. Planes and helicopters from Norton, George and March Air Force Bases were aloft before dawn.

"Trolleyless" Boat Claimed By Russians

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Russians said today they have invented a boat which is a first cousin of a trolley bus—but without the trolley.

"Very soon now," Moscow radio said, "people living along the banks of the Moscow-Volga Canal will be astonished to see a new type of tugboat.

"It will be driven by electric motors, and what's more, the electric motors will be fed by a current from the shore without any wires."

It's called the "non-contact" method.

"The current will pass along the wires on shore and will be inducted in the wires on the vessel," the broadcast said.

Both Hard, Soft Coal To Be Sent Abroad

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Officials said today both hard and soft coal will be included in the 10 million tons to be shipped abroad as foreign aid.

Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration, announced the coal program yesterday at Denver after a meeting at the summer White House with President Eisenhower.

Stassen said the 10 million tons, to be bought by FOA for 150 million dollars, will include 2 million tons from Kentucky, 2 million from West Virginia, 2 million from Pennsylvania, 1½ million from Illinois and 2½ million from other states.

Officials said today they had little to add to Stassen's broad outline of the program. It is too early, they said, to detail precisely how the program will work.

They suffered minor injuries. And two other airmen were hurt when their helicopter, used to bring the crashed crewmen out of the mountains, itself crash - landed three miles northeast of Lake Arrowhead.

The gallant pilot of the twin-engine C82 was Capt. C.M. Eckstein, 33, of Van Nuys, Calif. His widow and two small children live in Sioux City, Iowa. The C82 was from the 321st Air Defense Group at Sioux City.

The cargo plane crashed shortly after refueling at Norton AFB here at 6:16 p.m. last night. It came down 10 miles northwest of Big Bar Lake and exploded as it crashed, touching off a forest fire which crackled uncontrolled for several hours.

Ground crews searched through the night in the rough, precipitous country. Planes and helicopters from Norton, George and March Air Force Bases were aloft before dawn.

"Trolleyless" Boat Claimed By Russians

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Russians said today they have invented a boat which is a first cousin of a trolley bus—but without the trolley.

"Very soon now," Moscow radio said, "people living along the banks of the Moscow-Volga Canal will be astonished to see a new type of tugboat.

"It will be driven by electric motors, and what's more, the electric motors will be fed by a current from the shore without any wires."

It's called the "non-contact" method.

"The current will pass along the wires on shore and will be inducted in the wires on the vessel," the broadcast said.

Both Hard, Soft Coal To Be Sent Abroad

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Officials said today both hard and soft coal will be included in the 10 million tons to be shipped abroad as foreign aid.

Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration, announced the coal program yesterday at Denver after a meeting at the summer White House with President Eisenhower.

Stassen said the 10 million tons, to be bought by FOA for 150 million dollars, will include 2 million tons from Kentucky, 2 million from West Virginia, 2 million from Pennsylvania, 1½ million from Illinois and 2½ million from other states.

Officials said today they had little to add to Stassen's broad outline of the program. It is too early, they said, to detail precisely how the program will work.

Unexpected Taker For Ice Cream Gift

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 22 (AP)—A Lexington firm's offer to pass out a few parcels of free ice cream got an unexpected taker today.

Mrs. J. F. Frasure, a farm wife from near Conover, N.C., wrote that she'd be looking for her half-gallon of ice cream in an early mail.

Mrs. Frasure found one of 125 gift letters sent out in 5,000 gas-filled balloons Saturday at the Kentucky-Maryland football game.

Melvin A. Meyer, manager of Ball & Co., said: "We're going to send it if it's humanly possible."

"High Middle Road" Plea Made By Nixon

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 22 (AP)—Loss of Republican control of Congress would be "a body blow to the Eisenhower program that shuns both the far left and the far right," Vice President Richard Nixon said here tonight.

Nixon made an appeal to continue down the "high middle road" in an address prepared for delivery in the auditorium of Denfeld High School.

"If the Truman-ADA-Stevenson wing of the Democrat party captures the 84th Congress," Nixon said, "you can be as sure of one thing as death and taxes:

"The United States will swing back down the leftward road toward socialism, toward more big government that robs states of their historic freedoms, toward ever-mounting taxes, toward more of the crisis-to-crisis maneuvering that once kept our farm and industrial economy on a perpetual hot seat."

Union Welfare Fund Investigation Begins

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22 (AP)—A congressional subcommittee which launched a nationwide probe of union welfare funds today was told by a Chinese-American restaurant operator that he received a death threat for failing to contribute to such a fund.

Later the man accused of making the threat testified he was so drunk he didn't remember what was said. He said he was a part-time bartender and not a union official.

Joseph Gee, a Chinese-American from Barstow, Calif., played a tape recording of a telephone conversation at the hearing of a special House subcommittee headed by Rep. Samuel K. McConnell Jr. (R-Pa).

Bubonic Plague In Peru

QUITO, Ecuador, Sept. 22 (AP)—Ecuadorean health officials said today bubonic plague has broken out in Northeastern Peru, near the Ecuador border.

Trieste Accord Reported Near

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Yugoslavia and Italy under strong American prodding were reported today near a complete settlement of their dispute over the Free Territory of Trieste.

Western diplomats said unless unexpected hitches arise an agreement between the two countries may be signed in London within a fortnight. The United States, Britain and possibly France plan to guarantee the settlement.

In Washington a State Department spokesman said the United States now has an attitude of "cautious optimism" about the possibility of a final settlement of the quarrel over the strategic area at the head of the Adriatic, Italian before World War II.

Press officer Henry Suydam attributed the improved prospects to the diplomacy of Deputy Under-secretary of State Robert Murphy, who flew to Europe 10 days ago. He conferred in Belgrade with Yugoslav officials and in Rome with Italian leaders.

The glue that sticks United States postage stamps is made of a hybrid-corn and casava mixture. It is not only palatable but slightly nutritious.

Modern Traffic needs Concrete pavement

Traffic has increased steadily in weight and volume. Yet for more than a quarter of a century thousands of miles of concrete roads have rendered uninterrupted service while carrying most of the heaviest traffic.

Concrete meets every requirement of modern traffic. It is moderate in first cost. It has lower maintenance cost and at least twice the service life of other pavements. It is the safest pavement too. Its gritty surface grips tires firmly, permitting quicker stops in emergencies. Its light-colored surface allows maximum visibility at night. If you can't see you can't be safe.

Mr. Motorist, your license fees, gas and other taxes pay for building and maintaining roads. Insist on concrete to get the greatest pavement value for your money.

BETTER THAN EVER . . .

The NEW Bendix Tumble-Action is IMPROVED—as much as 50% better than pre-war models. Washes cleaner than ever, and now you can PROVE it!

BETTER THAN OTHERS . . .

Now, you have PROOF that the Bendix Duomatic, using new improved Bendix Tumble-Action, WASHES CLEANER than the others—not just one, but THREE important ways!

HOW THE ATOMIC TESTS WERE MADE:

an ATOMIC WASH DAY

1—Radioactive dirt is added to ordinary soil in atomic washday test

Cloth containing dirt radio-activated with isotopes from the Oak Ridge Atom Laboratories so that the Geiger Counter can measure the soil in each washer-load.

2—Five loads are washed in each of six leading automatics

Atomic scientists put each machine through its washing cycle, five times. This tested the consistency of each automatic's washing performance.

3—Geiger Counter measures dirt left in clothes after washing

Detects and measures deep-down dirt the eye can't see! Shows that the Bendix Duomatic Washer-Dryer gets out more imbedded and surface soil than any of the other washers!

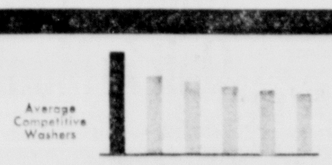
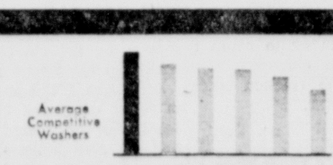
ONLY BURKEYS, YOUR BENDIX DEALER, HAS THIS PROOF:



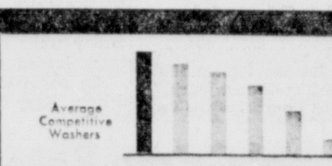
1—Surface soil removal

Fabrics came out of the Duomatic whiter, brighter — newer looking — than any of the other automatics washed them!



2—Thorough cleanliness

The Duomatic washed clothes cleaner of both surface and deeply imbedded soil — by actual Geiger Counter test!



3—Most consistent washing

No half-clean loads . . . no half-clean garments in the Duomatic! Every item in every wash came out cleaner every time!

Korean Peace Signed Over Year Ago But Cold War Chess Game Still Goes On In Panmunjom

Editors Note—After the Korean armistice was signed in July 1935, the once familiar Panmunjom date line all but disappeared. But things still happen in that Korean armistice village of huts and tents. Gene Kramer, Associated Press correspondent, on a recent assignment, found U.N. and Communist armistice commissioners engaged in a little cold war of their own. This is the first of two stories on his findings.

By GENE KRAMER

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Sept. 22 (AP)—It has been over a year now since the armistice was signed in this bleak Korean Village but a sort of cold war chess game still goes on.

This game with the Communists began with the signing of the armistice July 27, 1935, and the U.N. Command believes it is winning.

"I feel we have successfully defeated the Chinese across the table and set up a stone wall when they tried to get through," said Rear Adm. Thomas B. Brittain, senior U.N. member of the Joint Military Armistice Commission.

The game is played between the six Allied and six Communist officers on the commission. They have met 47 times since the armistice.

Brittain in an interview was not talking of checkmates in this verbal chess game. He was talking of blocking what he and his colleagues consider are Communist efforts to maintain tension in Korea, frustrate the truce and use it in worldwide propaganda.

Brittain observed that the armistice seemed to be settling into a "stabolized stalemate."

When the exchange of war dead ends in October, he said, except for obvious shortcomings "the armistice will in the main have accomplished its purpose and we will have carried out the main negotiation issues."

Col. John Weber, head of the commission's legal section, noted that the truce had three primary purposes — to stop the fighting, keep it stopped, and get the prisoners exchanged.

"It was freely predicted," he said, "that the armistice would never be carried out, but the record speaks for itself. Seventy-five per cent of it is over the dam so far as the real drama is concerned."

One part of the proceedings that is not over the dam is the question of the whereabouts of 2,840 Allied soldiers — 265 Americans — seen in captivity or never returned.

Brittain said he doubted that many of the 265 Americans or 50 other non-Korean prisoners are alive. The Communists have refused to make an accounting.

"I fear," the admiral continued, "we'll find some of them among the war dead returned at Glory Railhead (the name for the railhead during the current exchange of war dead)."

Brittain expressed belief, however, that some of the more than 2,000 South Koreans not accounted for are held in North Korea.

GUILTY — Thomas Wysokowski, 17, faces a future of 10 to 20 years in prison after he was convicted in Brooklyn of stamping Thomas Condon, 40, to death. Wysokowski was saved from the electric chair when the jury found him guilty of first-degree manslaughter. He had contended in his defense that he was intoxicated at the time of the attack.

The U.N. Command scored probably its greatest triumph over Communist propaganda when 22,000 former Communist soldiers refused to rejoin the Reds. They were freed to South Korea and Nationalist China.

A major shortcoming of the truce Allied officers repeatedly mention is an illegal buildup of Red military strength, especially in the air. The Communists have resisted all Allied demands for inspection.

"There is strong evidence of many aircraft now in North Korea. At the armistice there was nothing," said Brig. Gen. William J. Clinch, U.S. Air Force member of the Joint Commission.

During the first 13 months of the truce, the U.N. Command reported to the Commission it had evacuated or destroyed 5,640 combat planes and replaced 4,986. The Reds list no planes evacuated, none destroyed and none replaced.

Statistics show up against the Reds in the record of the 47 meetings of the Joint Armistice Commission. The Communists have been quicker to level charges of violating the demilitarized zone and quicker to ignore or deny any such charges against them.

Unlike the United Nations Command, they seldom admit anything.

The first 13½ months of truce, the Communists admitted only 2, ignored 3 and denied 7 of 12 U.N. charges of Ground violation. The Reds filed 26 of their own charges, of which the Allies admitted 12 and denied 13. One still is being investigated.

Allied negotiators at the Armistice Commission are backed up by perhaps 170 trained experts and helpers.

They plan strategy beforehand. Top staff members anticipate all possible Red moves, keeping in mind that the Communists for propaganda purposes often drag in issues entirely unconnected with Commission business or even with Korea.

Rebuttals to all possible Red arguments are drawn up. Brittain uses these "scripts" as they are needed. The situation for which some were designed never arises, but others come in handy.

"As far as I'm concerned, the Communist negotiators are not human, and it's very impersonal, although they seem to have quieted down some after Geneva," Brittain said.

"It could be frustrating, but I don't let it. They haven't got me within 1,000 miles of losing my temper."

McKeldin, Byrd Take Campaigns To Eastern Md.

[By The Associated Press]

Gov. McKeldin and Democrat H. C. Byrd, who seeks to prevent him from becoming the first Republican governor reelected in Maryland, took their campaigns last night to two Eastern Shore counties carried by the GOP four years ago.

McKeldin, backed up by Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins, stumped Worcester County, winding up with speeches to an Ocean City gathering. Rollins, appointed to his post in mid-term, seeks to become the first Republican elected attorney general since 1919.

Byrd and his running mates—Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and State Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, Rollins' opponent in the attorney general race—visited Talbot County for a dinner sponsored by the Young Democratic Club.

Talbot and Worcester, among six Shore counties carried by McKeldin in his 1950 victory over W. Preston Lane Jr., barely went Republican in that gubernatorial election. In the 1950 attorney general race, both were carried by Hall Hammond, the Democrat later appointed to the Court of Appeals.

Besides the three statewide candates, another interested participant in the Talbot County was Edward Turner, the candidate trying to regain for the Democrats their traditionally 1st District congressional seat from Republican Edward T. Miller.

While the candidates struck out in search of votes, workers at both headquarters announced appointments within the campaign organizations.

William C. Purnell, regarded as a member of the GOP "old guard" element, was named head of a Republican Veterans Organization. He is an army reserve brigadier general.

The Democrats announced Clarence W. Miles and Stanley L. Sagner, both members of the six-man committee running their campaign, were picked as co-chairmen of a finance committee.

Miles, prominent lawyer and president of the Baltimore Orioles baseball club, was among the "Democrats for Eisenhower" two years ago. Sagner, clothing manufacturer and a leader in Maryland thoroughbred racing circles, for years has been closely allied with George P. Mahoney, who opposed Byrd in the primary and since has joined the six-man top campaign committee.

T. Barton Harrington, head of the campaign committee, said the finance unit will include about 100 party leaders. As vice chairmen he named former U. S. Sens. George L. Radcliffe and Millard E. Tydings; former Baltimore Mayor Howard W. Jackson; William F. Hilgenberg, part owner of the Baltimore Colts football club and a member of the Baltimore board of fire commissioners; C. William Hetzer, Washington County contractor and former party chairman; John N. Mackall of Baltimore; T. Howard Duckett of Prince Georges County; B. Frank Sherman, Talbot County; J. Newton Brewer, Montgomery County, and R. Bruce Livie, Joseph P. Healey, James W. Wills and Harry D. Kaufman, all of Baltimore.

[By The Associated Press]

Fall was ushered into Maryland at 8:56 a.m. today with a forecast for appropriately cool and fair weather.

A possibility of rain developing was seen for Friday night or Saturday.

Cumberland, Waldorf and northeast Baltimore all had Wednesday lows in the forties, but the average in most sections was 52 or 53 degrees.

McKeldin, Byrd Take Campaigns To Eastern Md.

[By The Associated Press]

Gov. McKeldin and Democrat H. C. Byrd, who seeks to prevent him from becoming the first Republican governor reelected in Maryland, took their campaigns last night to two Eastern Shore counties carried by the GOP four years ago.

McKeldin, backed up by Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins, stumped Worcester County, winding up with speeches to an Ocean City gathering. Rollins, appointed to his post in mid-term, seeks to become the first Republican elected attorney general since 1919.

Byrd and his running mates—Comptroller J. Millard Tawes and State Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, Rollins' opponent in the attorney general race—visited Talbot County for a dinner sponsored by the Young Democratic Club.

Talbot and Worcester, among six Shore counties carried by McKeldin in his 1950 victory over W. Preston Lane Jr., barely went Republican in that gubernatorial election. In the 1950 attorney general race, both were carried by Hall Hammond, the Democrat later appointed to the Court of Appeals.

Besides the three statewide candidates, another interested participant in the Talbot County was Edward Turner, the candidate trying to regain for the Democrats their traditionally 1st District congressional seat from Republican Edward T. Miller.

While the candidates struck out in search of votes, workers at both headquarters announced appointments within the campaign organizations.

Mother Turns In Son, Helps Solve $9,000 Robbery

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP) — A mother whose son sported a bankroll of $680 around their Baltimore home turned the 15-year-old boy over to police and touched off a chain of events that led to the solution of a $9,000 safe cracking.

Police are holding the boy and a companion, also 15, on charges they robbed three of their friends.

The three friends are to be charged with cracking the safe of a five and ten cent store in Baltimore Sept. 12.

The 15-year-old admitted that he and his companion got the money from behind a step under a kitchen door in a West Baltimore Street apartment.

The boy said he and a friend stole the money after learning the others had put it there.

Police arrested the two brothers, 15 and 17, who lived in the apartment and learned the two, along with another 17-year-old, had entered the five and ten cent store and opened the safe with tools from the hardware counter.

Police said the two 15-year-olds took $1,292 of the store loot from their "friends."

Officers said a total of $2,738 has been recovered.

Unemployment Pay Claims Rise

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—After dropping to almost the lowest point of the year, new claims for unemployment pay made a sharp jump in Maryland last week.

The new claims went to 5,462, highest since the first week of August but still far below the 9,160 top reached early in April to start a new benefit year.

The 5,462 in new claims last week compared with 1,777 in the same week of 1953.

Although the number of new claims shot up last week, the total number of checks issued went to the lowest level since the first week of the year. The total last week was 22,011, compared to the peak, in May, of 33,564.

Benefits last week totaled $551,448, lowest since January. The year's peak so far was $802,601.

The State Department of Employment Security said the big jump in new claims last week could be traced in a large part to a temporary shutdown by a large Baltimore plant switching over to new models. There were also booms in new claims at Towson, Elkton, Salisbury, Cambridge and Cumberland.

Inn Near Frederick Robbed For 11th Time

FREDERICK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Wilcom's Inn has been robbed for the 11th time over a period of the last several years, and again owner Charles F. Wilcom and his two sons made a capture.

Wilcom told police he and his boys caught one man coming out of the establishment early Monday, but that two others got away with 20 cartons of cigarettes, some change, and three antique muskets Wilcom valued at $325.

Earlier this month the Wilcoms trapped three men inside the inn and nabbed all three, wounding one seriously with shotgun pellets.

Wilcom turned over to police after the latest attempt a man the authorities identified as Frederick Deloy Fields of Portsmouth, Ohio. Fields is being held under $1,500 bond in the county jail on charges of breaking and entering.

No one has come up with an explanation why the inn, located at the intersection of Fingerboard Rd. and Md. 75 near Kemptown, has offered so tempting a target to robbers and would-be robbers.

Crime Rate In Three Classes Drops In Md.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP) — Maryland cities are credited with a decrease in crime rates in three major crime classes in the first half of 1954.

The Federal Bureau of Ininvestigation said reports for the nation as a whole showed a decrease in rates in only two major crime classes.

Compared to the last half of 1953, the crime rates per 100,000 population in Maryland cities were reported to have decreased for robbery, for burglary, breaking or entering, and for larceny.

Roberts Probe Again Turns To Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Two deputy sheriffs from Florida who have been investigating the slaying of 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts more than two months ago in Miami were in Baltimore today.

The visit was the third for William McCrory and Earl H. Venno, the deputies.

"We are still investigating the murder; that's all I can say," McCrory said.

The Roberts girl, daughter of Baltimore lawyer James I. Roberts, was found strangled to death under circumstances that led some investigators to believe a kidnap attempt had gone awry. She was abducted from a sofa in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg, who live on Southwest 13th Street, Miami.

Her body was found in a mangrove thicket off South Bay Shore Drive a few hours later. Nearby was the abandoned car of her grandfather, which had been stolen from in front of the home.

Earlier this month the Wilcoms trapped three men inside the inn and nabbed all three, wounding one seriously with shotgun pellets.

Wilcom turned over to police after the latest attempt a man the authorities identified as Frederick Deloy Fields of Portsmouth, Ohio. Fields is being held under $1,500 bond in the county jail on charges of breaking and entering.

No one has come up with an explanation why the inn, located at the intersection of Fingerboard Rd. and Md. 75 near Kemptown, has offered so tempting a target to robbers and would-be robbers.

Roberts Probe Again Turns To Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Two deputy sheriffs from Florida who have been investigating the slaying of 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts more than two months ago in Miami were in Baltimore today.

The visit was the third for William McCrory and Earl H. Venno, the deputies.

"We are still investigating the murder; that's all I can say," McCrory said.

The Roberts girl, daughter of Baltimore lawyer James I. Roberts, was found strangled to death under circumstances that led some investigators to believe a kidnap attempt had gone awry. She was abducted from a sofa in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg, who live on Southwest 13th Street, Miami.

Her body was found in a mangrove thicket off South Bay Shore Drive a few hours later. Nearby was the abandoned car of her grandfather, which had been stolen from in front of the home.

Critic Of Congressional Trips Discovers Junket Not All Peaches, Cream, Free Ride

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—This is the time of year when many a congressman is seeing the world, on official business and at taxpayers' expense.

But one who returned from a junket reported today it isn't—as many a taxpayer has suspected—all peaches, cream and a free ride.

Rep. Usher L. Burdick, a Republican from Williston, N.D., long has been a loud critic of congressional trips. Yet he finally broke down and went along with other members of a House Judiciary subcommittee looking into claims against the government.

Burdick told about it in a news letter to his North Dakota constituents.

In general, the letter took the line of, my, my, how much it costs a country boy in the big city these days.

And the tone is set at the start.

"The first day out," Burdick wrote, "I ordered a small beefsteak. When I got the bill—holy smokes! It was $6.35."

Then he reached San Francisco, with these developments:

"You are now at the hotel, and the first message you receive is a statement from the management that the daily rate of your room is $13, and after you received the news and paid the one who delivered it 75 cents, you are legally and ceremoniously installed in an expensive room which looks no better than a $4 room in North Dakota.

"I found a bar of soap about as big as one of Wrigley's gum sticks, but it dissolved before I could use it."

Well, city living was so expensive that Burdick was glad he had decided to save. "I seemed to hollow up, by the way." He's a huge, shaggy bear of a man who, without the hollows, weighs 270 pounds.

Even so, Burdick reports, he soon ran out of money. He then learned that a congressman may be big stuff some place, but to a hotel clerk he's just another suspect who may be trying to bounce a check. Burdick said there was this dialogue:

Hotel clerk, with a dirty look: "Where are you from?"

Burdick, proudly: "Washington."

Clerk, gloweringly: "Oh, I suppose you're one of those lawmakers. I have heard they want more pay, but they never have any money. Now, mister, if that check bounces I'll have you investigated by the McCarthy committee. You can't pull that stuff here—we have made full arrangements for men like you—look out the window and you can see San Quentin and Alcatraz."

Burick says he got the money, briefly. He worked on committee notes until 12:30 a.m., and when he got up the next morning he found that a sneak thief had cleaned him out while he slept.

Well, the junket ended, and Burdick said any way he figures it, he comes out $250 loser.

"No more trips for me," concludes Usher L. Burdick, hollowly.

Retired Lt. Gen. Lear Receives Fourth Star

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky., Sept. 22 (AP)—Retired Lt. Gen. Ben Lear, publicized for disciplining soldiers who yelled "yoo hoo" to shorts-clad women, received the fourth star of a full general today.

The 74-year-old general, who rose from private, was honored by a review and parade of the 11th Airborne Division.

Lear lives at Memphis, where he was wartime 2nd Army commander. He was playing golf on a Memphis course in 1940 when members of a marching unit passing by shouted "yoo hoo" to scantily-clad women golfers.

The strict disciplinarian ordered the troops on a hot, 15-mile punishment hike.

Junior Learns Answers By Kits

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Millard B. Deutsch's young son, Junior, was in the habit of asking his dad questions like: "What makes this television work?"

Deutsch was in the habit of not answering them accurately or completely because he just didn't know.

This bothered Deutsch. Three years ago he wrote to the manufacturers of Science-Related Products and suggested they put out kits with which kids like his 8-year-old son could learn the answers to their questions.

The manufacturers asked for suggestions. Deutsch got helpful advice from Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry. Deutsch developed what he calls the "American industry educational hobby kit" program.

The first five kits will be offered for sale today in 100 department stores across the country.

They were produced by Radio Corporation of America (in the radio field), Bauer and Black (medicine), American Optical Co. (telescopes, periscopes), Taylor Instrument Co. (weather forecasting), and the Gemological Institute of America (rocks and minerals).

Deutsch, 43, who lives in suburban Winnetka, is the distributor of the kits. He plans others in fields of the telephone, electricity, rubber, steel, chemistry, aeronautics.

White Students Enroll In Negro University

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 22 (AP)—Lincoln University, established more than 80 years ago by Missouri for Negroes only, has more than half a dozen white students enrolled this fall as a result of desegregation.

Dean Earl E. Dawson, acting president, said today the school hasn't kept any record of the number of whites entering the school.

Ben Grauer To Wed

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Radio and TV announcer Ben Grauer, 46, and Melanie Kahane, 43, an interior decorator, took out a marriage license today at the municipal building. They will be married Saturday.

Russia Is Said To Have Bases For Ship Attacks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—A U. S. Navy publication said today Soviet Russia has bases from which it could launch air attacks on shipping on most of the sea approaches to Europe and China.

But it added that the ability of Soviet naval aviation to carry out its antishipping mission is limited by its size, and said the Russians probably would borrow air force aircraft to perform naval missions, as the Germans did in World War II.

Naval Aviation News, a monthly publication of the Chief of Naval Operations and the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, said the U.S.S.R. has been expending much effort since the end of World War II on development of the Soviet navy, and of naval aviation.

It declared that Communist naval aviators have been trained in antishipping and antisubmarine attacks as well as in support of ground forces in coastal areas.

The Navy magazine said Soviet fighter aircraft could attack merchant convoys or naval vessels within 460 to 575 miles of their bases, jet light bombers could make effective low altitude attacks out as far as 690 miles, and B29-type or twin-jet swept wing bombers could attack shipping beyond 1,600 miles—and also could direct Red submarines in shipping attacks.

It said that while Russia is not known to have any aircraft carriers in operation or under construction, the Reds do have several seaplane tenders, former German ships transferred under treaty agreements.

Justice Dept. Booklet Gives Defense Information Rules

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Justice Department is distributing to its employes in all parts of the country a printed booklet entitled "Regulations Relating to Defense Information." It gives detailed instructions on dealing with classified material.

The same regulations were circulated last June in typewritten form in the Washington headquarters and to top officials in the field as a follow-up on President Eisenhower's order of November, 1935, establishing policy on information security.

Signed by Atty. Gen. Brownell, the booklet notes that violations of regulations relating to government secrets may be punished by disciplinary action "or, in appropriate cases, criminal prosecution."

However, the booklet says:

"These regulations shall apply only to classified defense information as defined in these regulations, and no information shall be classified hereunder unless it requires protective safeguarding in the interest of national defense.

"The assignment of a classification under these regulations to material which does not contain information requiring safeguarding in the interest of national defense is hereby strictly prohibited.

"Defense information shall be assigned the lowest classification consistent with its proper protection. Unnecessary classification and over-classification shall be scrupulously avoided.

"The regulations shall not be applicable to information solely on the ground that the disclosure thereof would be prejudicial to the interest or prestige of a governmental activity of the United States, cause unwarranted injury to an individual, or cause administrative difficulty to the functioning of the Department of Justice, or to any information other than information the disclosure of which would be detrimental to national defense."

The regulations provide for the three usual classifications—top secret, secret and confidential and restrict to top officials the authority to apply the top secret classification.

New Life Faces Victim Of Polio

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP) — Two years ago life crumbled for Dr. Thomas Michiels.

He, and his wife and Bobby, the eldest of their three sons, were stricken with polio just after he had invested all his savings in a suburban dental practice.

In the months that followed, Mrs. Michiels died of the malady; Michiels, paralyzed from the neck down, was told he could never practice again, and that Bobby would be paralyzed from the waist down and would never walk. Bobby is now in a convalescent home.

Yesterday, Michaels, 31, announced he and Mrs. Rhea Wallace, 26, will be married Oct. 30. He is starting a dental laboratory even though he has lost the use of his arms, and has bought a home on the North Side with some $15,000 raised by residents of suburban Park Ridge and his Loyola University Dental School classmates.

Neither Michiels nor Mrs. Wallace—whose first husband died of polio—has doubts.

"I'm sure it will work out," she said. "I really have a lot of confidence in him. We both say that we're going to make this work. And we know it will."

Michiels and Mrs. Wallace met in Columbus Hospital where her husband, Floyd, was Michiels' roommate.

New Hope Pond Span Wins Bridge Contest

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—The little New Hope pond bridge in Wicomico County on the way to Ocean City has been picked as a winner in the "esthetic Bridge Contest."

Bridge chief Albert L. Grubb of the State Roads Commission said he had figured the new seven million dollar Severn River Bridge would be the more likely contender for national honors.

Apparently, judges of the American Institute of Steel Construction liked the little span's clean lines. No rivets or bolts show in its construction.

The Severn River Bridge cost $7,000,000 or about 208 times as much as the New Hope Bridge.

Carney said nomination blanks at the Jaycee office in the Liberty Trust Building may be submitted by the public. Winners will be announced January 22, 1955 in Louisville, Ky.

Each year judges select outstanding men between the ages of 21 and 35 from nominations presented by the public, trade associations, leaders of business, industry, educational organizations and other groups.

The Association of Friends Aware of Handicapped Children will meet today at 8 p. m. at Cumberland Savings Bank.

Final arrangements will be made for a meeting September 30 with State Senator Robert B. Kimble and members of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly, according to Mrs. John J. Long, association president.

The first week of Sunshine School for mentally retarded tots will be discussed along with methods of transporation. As yet, Mrs. Long said, no solution has been found for getting children in outlying sections to the school at the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp.

West Virginia Alumni Plans 'Sports Night' Celebration

Arrangements have been completed for the "Fall Sports Night" party to be held today in the recreation room of the Cumberland Brewing Company by Potomac Chapter, West Virginia University Alumni Association.

Laurence G. Reed, chapter president, states the party is open to all former West Virginia students and their friends.

"It is not necessary to have a degree to be eligible to participate in chapter activities," Reed said, "and we are particularly anxious to welcome teachers and other newcomers to the tri-state area."

Robert "Red" Brown, West Virginia's new director of athletics; Fred Schaus, the new Mountaineer varsity basketball coach, and David W. Jacobs, secretary of the Alumni Association, will present a program featuring movies of West Virginia's football victory over Pitt last fall.

The program will start at 8 p. m. (Daylight Savings Time) with a social and get-acquainted period until 9 o'clock when a short business session will be held.

Reed emphasized that most of the evening will be devoted to sports and the greeting of newcomers, but that time will be taken to permit delegations of Hampshire, Mineral, Hardy and Grant counties to complete organization of the chapter by selecting vice presidents to represent their localities on the chapter's board.

"I would also like to make it clear, for the benefit of members in Romney, Moorefield, Petersburg and other fairly distant points, that if they get here by 9 o'clock (Daylight Time) they will not miss the business meeting or any of the talks and movies," Reed said.

Parochial Schools Close

Parochial schools in Allegany County will be closed today as the faculties will be attending the annual teachers' meeting in Baltimore.

Plan For Industry In Western Maryland Is Outlined In Speech By Dr. J. H. Cover

"The time has arrived for a complete and integrated plan for a balanced and continuing economic development in Western Maryland," Dr. John H. Cover, director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research, University of Maryland, told the South Cumberland Business Men's Association at its annual dinner meeting Tuesday night.

Speaking on "Cumberland Has A Future," Cover said the first study by his bureau in 1947 raised warning signals and proposed constructive measures to build Cumberland and Allegany County on a plan of stabilized growth.

As to what happened, he borrowed a quote from John Steinbeck's "Sweet Thursday": "If only people would give the thought, the care, the judgment to international affairs, to politics, even to their jobs, that they lavish on what to wear to a masquerade, the world would run in greased grooves."

Covers Coal Situation

Cover referred to the bureau's publishing of its first study of Maryland's interindustry flow of commodities and services, the first application, he believes of the so called "input-output technique."

Two illustrations, coal and glass production have specified relation to the Cumberland area, he said, adding the former has been the invalid industry Western Marylanders watched waste away at the rate of 100,000 tons a year for almost four decades. The latter, he continued, "is the blueprint infant which has inspired new hope."

Looking at 1947 figures on coal, Cover added that 9¼ million tons were consumed in Maryland which produced only 2,049,996 tons (Allegany, Garrett counties) that year.

What may be expected of the coal industry in the next ten years? Cover asked, adding consumption of coal in Maryland will be about 11,295,000 tons in 1965, assuming that displacement by gas and petroleum continues.

Cites Possibilities

Also on the assumption coal maintains its present relative position as a fuel, the Maryland consumption should be 13,771,000 tons.

Then, he added:

"If it were possible to fill these prospective demands with coal produced in Maryland, the mines of Allegany and Garrett counties would respectively double or more than septuple current output. Is it worth while to strive for this goal, or even part of it? What can be done?

Citing "exhaustion of the thicker, accessible seams during the 150 years of continuous operation, the meager results of the scavenging efforts, the technical problems of the thinner seams," Cover said, "principal offsets to these limitations appearing on the horizon are technological innovations and improvements including gasification, hydrogenation, manufacture of synthetic liquid fuels from coal, improved methods of pulverization, transportation, and improvement of coal-fired turbines. x x x x

"Perhaps a major advantage to consideration of Western Maryland's coal situation is its morbid state. With only approximately 600 men employed and most of these for less than 200 days annually, the alternative to liquidation of the industry seems to be improvement. There is one means by which Western Maryland coal can most assuredly gain additional markets and thereby increase production: cooperation.

"Industrial and household consumers like Maryland coal. But large consumers, including public utilities, must have the assurance of adequate supplies on a schedule of delivery which will not fail. Small operators are unable to give this assurance. If facilities, supplies, stockpiles, and delivery schedules were integrated, centrally financed and managed, even the small unit operations now prevailing could compete successfully. Will Cumberland give it the attention it gives to the masquerade costume?

Cannot Be Passive

"Beyond the immediate period, several of the developing scientific processes should be tailormade for the Western Maryland situation. But Cumberland cannot afford to remain passive. A cooperative coal-producing group and a general committee on scientific developments and adaptations must serve as 'radar finers,'" Cover said.

Referring to location of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company here, Cover said major beneficiaries will be labor and management who between them will receive $536,966 for every million dollars worth of glass produced; other types of operations defined as part of the glass industry will receive $65,918 for each million dollars worth of glass.

Cover cited the effect of the plant on other industries, and used as an example the fact the glass industry nationally has directly required $3,802 worth of coal for each million dollars worth of glass produced.

Western Maryland possesses some "very significant locational advantages" for industries, the speaker asserted.

Cover said once the integrated plan and its ingredients are put to work and the trend begun, "continuation of prosperity in Western Maryland will depend, more than anything else, upon a high level of production and employment on the national scene."

Not Isolated

Regions, he continued, do not exist in isolation but are functioning parts of the total economy.

"Western Maryland potentially may play a much larger role in this development."

Rev. Ellwood Carey, pastor of Southminster Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation. Toastmaster was William C. Gilchrist.

Members also voted to have one meeting a month.

Driver Cites 'Pleasure' In Being Arrested

A Rockville photographer who formerly lived here, paid off a traffic fine by a money order to local Trial Magistrates Court and said that although he thought he was in the right, the manner in which he was arrested by a state trooper made it a pleasure.

Frank Turgeon Jr., said "It is not my idea of paying a fine when I think I am in the right, but in this case, the state trooper who issued the summons was so darn nice, it was a pleasure to be pinched by him."

Turgeon identified himself as the photographer who made all of President Eisenhower's campaign color photos.

Trooper First Class James Lewis of the LaVale Barracks was the arresting officer.

FHA Officials Attend Training Meeting

A meeting of the committeemen and officials of the Farmers Home Administration, a federal credit agency, was held Tuesday in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Presiding at the session, which was in the nature of a training meeting, was Beeson Snyder, of Oakland, supervisor for the FHA in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Snyder said the recent changes in the FHA act and new policies of the federal agency were outlined and a number of matters pertaining to operation of the program were discussed with the six committeemen. They are James Morgan, Frostburg; Raymond Slider, Oldtown; and Marshall Porter, Eckhart, representing Allegany County; Lenwood Bittinger, Mt. Lake Park; Paul Welsh, Oakland and Hubert Friend, Friendsville, representing Garrett County.

Others who spoke were Ralph Peters, director of the FHA for Maryland and Delaware; Nicholas R. Quesenberry, FHA specialist, both of Baltimore; and Lee Miller, Upper Marlboro, FHA appraiser.

Snyder explained that the FHA extends credit to farmers for machinery, equipment, etc.; development loans for land and buildings and loans for facilities such as irrigation, soil practices and similar items.

Plan For Industry In Western Maryland Is Outlined In Speech By Dr. J. H. Cover

"The time has arrived for a complete and integrated plan for a balanced and continuing economic development in Western Maryland," Dr. John H. Cover, director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research, University of Maryland, told the South Cumberland Business Men's Association at its annual dinner meeting Tuesday night.

Speaking on "Cumberland Has A Future," Cover said the first study by his bureau in 1947 raised warning signals and proposed constructive measures to build Cumberland and Allegany County on a plan of stabilized growth.

As to what happened, he borrowed a quote from John Steinbeck's "Sweet Thursday": "If only people would give the thought, the care, the judgment to international affairs, to politics, even to their jobs, that they lavish on what to wear to a masquerade, the world would run in greased grooves."

Covers Coal Situation

Cover referred to the bureau's publishing of its first study of Maryland's interindustry flow of commodities and services, the first application, he believes of the so called "input-output technique."

Two illustrations, coal and glass production have specified relation to the Cumberland area, he said, adding the former has been the invalid industry Western Marylanders watched waste away at the rate of 100,000 tons a year for almost four decades. The latter, he continued, "is the blueprint infant which has inspired new hope."

Looking at 1947 figures on coal, Cover added that 9¼ million tons were consumed in Maryland which produced only 2,049,996 tons (Allegany, Garrett counties) that year.

What may be expected of the coal industry in the next ten years? Cover asked, adding consumption of coal in Maryland will be about 11,295,000 tons in 1965, assuming that displacement by gas and petroleum continues.

Cites Possibilities

Also on the assumption coal maintains its present relative position as a fuel, the Maryland consumption should be 13,771,000 tons.

Then, he added:

"If it were possible to fill these prospective demands with coal produced in Maryland, the mines of Allegany and Garrett counties would respectively double or more than septuple current output. Is it worth while to strive for this goal, or even part of it? What can be done?

Citing "exhaustion of the thicker, accessible seams during the 150 years of continuous operation, the meager results of the scavenging efforts, the technical problems of the thinner seams," Cover said, "principal offsets to these limitations appearing on the horizon are technological innovations and improvements including gasification, hydrogenation, manufacture of synthetic liquid fuels from coal, improved methods of pulverization, transportation, and improvement of coal-fired turbines. x x x x

"Perhaps a major advantage to consideration of Western Maryland's coal situation is its morbid state. With only approximately 600 men employed and most of these for less than 200 days annually, the alternative to liquidation of the industry seems to be improvement. There is one means by which Western Maryland coal can most assuredly gain additional markets and thereby increase production: cooperation.

"Industrial and household consumers like Maryland coal. But large consumers, including public utilities, must have the assurance of adequate supplies on a schedule of delivery which will not fail. Small operators are unable to give this assurance. If facilities, supplies, stockpiles, and delivery schedules were integrated, centrally financed and managed, even the small unit operations now prevailing could compete successfully. Will Cumberland give it the attention it gives to the masquerade costume?

Cannot Be Passive

"Beyond the immediate period, several of the developing scientific processes should be tailormade for the Western Maryland situation. But Cumberland cannot afford to remain passive. A cooperative coal-producing group and a general committee on scientific developments and adaptations must serve as 'radar finers,'" Cover said.

Referring to location of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company here, Cover said major beneficiaries will be labor and management who between them will receive $536,966 for every million dollars worth of glass produced; other types of operations defined as part of the glass industry will receive $65,918 for each million dollars worth of glass.

Cover cited the effect of the plant on other industries, and used as an example the fact the glass industry nationally has directly required $3,802 worth of coal for each million dollars worth of glass produced.

Western Maryland possesses some "very significant locational advantages" for industries, the speaker asserted.

Cover said once the integrated plan and its ingredients are put to work and the trend begun, "continuation of prosperity in Western Maryland will depend, more than anything else, upon a high level of production and employment on the national scene."

Not Isolated

Regions, he continued, do not exist in isolation but are functioning parts of the total economy.

"Western Maryland potentially may play a much larger role in this development."

Rev. Ellwood Carey, pastor of Southminster Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation. Toastmaster was William C. Gilchrist.

Members also voted to have one meeting a month.

Driver Cites 'Pleasure' In Being Arrested

A Rockville photographer who formerly lived here, paid off a traffic fine by a money order to local Trial Magistrates Court and said that although he thought he was in the right, the manner in which he was arrested by a state trooper made it a pleasure.

Frank Turgeon Jr., said "It is not my idea of paying a fine when I think I am in the right, but in this case, the state trooper who issued the summons was so darn nice, it was a pleasure to be pinched by him."

Turgeon identified himself as the photographer who made all of President Eisenhower's campaign color photos.

Trooper First Class James Lewis of the LaVale Barracks was the arresting officer.

FHA Officials Attend Training Meeting

A meeting of the committeemen and officials of the Farmers Home Administration, a federal credit agency, was held Tuesday in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Presiding at the session, which was in the nature of a training meeting, was Beeson Snyder, of Oakland, supervisor for the FHA in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Snyder said the recent changes in the FHA act and new policies of the federal agency were outlined and a number of matters pertaining to operation of the program were discussed with the six committeemen. They are James Morgan, Frostburg; Raymond Slider, Oldtown; and Marshall Porter, Eckhart, representing Allegany County; Lenwood Bittinger, Mt. Lake Park; Paul Welsh, Oakland and Hubert Friend, Friendsville, representing Garrett County.

Others who spoke were Ralph Peters, director of the FHA for Maryland and Delaware; Nicholas R. Quesenberry, FHA specialist, both of Baltimore; and Lee Miller, Upper Marlboro, FHA appraiser.

Snyder explained that the FHA extends credit to farmers for machinery, equipment, etc.; development loans for land and buildings and loans for facilities such as irrigation, soil practices and similar items.

Veterans Day Observance Planned Here November 11

The first annual Veterans Day will be observed by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, on November 11, according to George Zegles, commander.

Public Law 380 was passed in the closing day of the 83rd Congress setting up Veterans Day for the men and women who served in all of the nation's wars, Zegles said.

Formerly November 11 was set aside as Armistice Day in commemorating the closing of World War I and in honor of the veterans of that war, the commander pointed out.

On June 1, President Eisenhower signed into law the American Legion sponsored bill changing annual Armistice Day on November 11 to Veterans Day

Zegles said he will appoint a committee this week to set up the local observance of Veterans Day.

U. S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. has invited the American Legion to cooperate with the Department of Immigration and Naturalization on Veterans Day by arranging for naturalization ceremonies of new U. S. citizens on that day.

Since the date of Citizenship Day has been changed to September 17, the former Constitution Day, the naturalization of aliens was not possible on that date.

Attorney General Brownell states the law prohibits the granting of naturalization during the 60-day period immediately preceding a general election.

City Auditor Report Given

With two months of the fiscal year history, the city has collected 16.5 per cent of the miscellaneous levy, a report prepared by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson showed yesterday.

As of August 31, $248,586.29 had been collected of the highest levy in the city's history, $1,505,270.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long reported that nothing is shown for the tax levy collection because bills are just being mailed by the collector's office. The tax levy is $1,011,240.

Operating costs or expenditures are about normal. So far, $203,172.70 has been spent or about 16 per cent for the two-month period.

The city has already received 73 per cent of its estimated share of the state sales tax; 49 per cent of state racing income and 32.6 per cent of the gasoline and automobile tax.

Those estimates and collections are as follows:

Gasoline, Auto tax — Estimated income $77,000; collected, $25,095.08.

Md. Farm Board Will Administer Watershed Act

Attention has been focused upon the new Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act passed by the 83d Congress with the designation by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin of the State Board of Agriculture as the agency to handle Maryland requests for planning aid under the act.

The State Board of Agriculture is best known in its capacity as the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland. Judge William P. Cole Jr. of Baltimore is chairman. A Cumberlander, Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, also is a member.

Other members are B. Herbert Brown of Baltimore, Edward P. Holter of Middletown, Louis L. Kaplon of Baltimore, Dr. T. B. Symons of College Park, Arthur O. Lovejoy of Baltimore, Charles P. McCormick of Baltimore, Harry H. Nuttle of Denton, C. Ewing Tuttle of Baltimore and Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, new president of the University of Maryland and executive officer of the board, had suggested that the agriculture board serve as the state agency to review and approve such applications.

The Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act was approved by Congress August 4.

When he signed the act into law President Eisenhower said:

"This act recognizes by law for the first time the great importance of upstream watershed protection in our overall water resource policy. For the first time also, this act provides a broad program of federal technical and financial assistance to such local watershed groups as are willing to assume responsibility for initiating, carrying out and sharing the costs of watershed protection which will help conserve water for agricultural uses and supplement any needed downstream flood control measures."

AT CD INDUSTRIAL MEETING — Milton O. Howle (extreme right), industrial protection officer for Region 2, Federal Civil Defense Agency, outlines the Civil Defense industrial program to representatives of area industries as a conference on plant protection got under way yesterday at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant. William G. Barger, county CD director, is host.

Former Patient Praises Hospital

Memorial Hospital comes in for praise from a patient of two months who has just returned to his home in Pennsylvania.

The letter, from W. Curtis Truxal, prominent Somerset, Pa., attorney, who was treated at the hospital here for a broken hip, was addressed to William A. Gunter, president of the board of governors of the hospital. It reads:

"I want you to know that in my opinion Cumberland has one of the best operated hospitals I know of. I never had so much kindness and consideration shown me from the medical staff down to and including the orderlies. The noticeable thing to me was the cooperation and feeling within the institution that we were all one large family."

Dr. McKenzie Heads Business Group

Dr. L. R. McKenzie was elected president of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association last night as the group reorganized for the coming year.

Dr. McKenzie succeeds Glenn Morris, outgoing president.

Named to serve with him were Nelson W. Russler, vice president; John Weber, treasurer, and Charles Keech, secretary.

The organization will hold its first general membership dinner-meeting under the new officers at Grace Methodist Church Community Hall, Second Street, at 6:30 p.m. October 12.

Md. Farm Income Shows Increase

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 22 (AP)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture says Maryland farmers took in more cash for their products last year than in 1952.

The cash receipts went up one per cent, the report said, going from $264,379,000 to $266,858,000.

The increases were in both livestock and allied products, and in crops. In livestocks, eggs and hogs showed the biggest percentage increase. Sheep, lambs, cattle and calves showed the biggest drop.

In crops, snap beans, soybeans and sweet corn recorded the top gains. Potatoes, strawberries and apples showed the largest declines.

In Delaware the cash receipts went down three per cent, from $106,729,000 to $103,758,000.

The Galveston, Tex., flood was caused by a hurricane that piled up enormous waves that inundated the city.

Twenty-eight elephants were exported from India during the six months ending in September of 1953.

For 36 consecutive miles, the great Smoky mountains of North Carolina are more than 5,000 feet high.

The construction of the Brooklyn bridge took almost 13 years.

Md. Farm Board Will Administer Watershed Act

Attention has been focused upon the new Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act passed by the 83d Congress with the designation by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin of the State Board of Agriculture as the agency to handle Maryland requests for planning aid under the act.

The State Board of Agriculture is best known in its capacity as the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland. Judge William P. Cole Jr. of Baltimore is chairman. A Cumberlander, Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, also is a member.

Other members are B. Herbert Brown of Baltimore, Edward P. Holter of Middletown, Louis L. Kaplon of Baltimore, Dr. T. B. Symons of College Park, Arthur O. Lovejoy of Baltimore, Charles P. McCormick of Baltimore, Harry H. Nuttle of Denton, C. Ewing Tuttle of Baltimore and Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, new president of the University of Maryland and executive officer of the board, had suggested that the agriculture board serve as the state agency to review and approve such applications.

The Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act was approved by Congress August 4.

When he signed the act into law President Eisenhower said:

"This act recognizes by law for the first time the great importance of upstream watershed protection in our overall water resource policy. For the first time also, this act provides a broad program of federal technical and financial assistance to such local watershed groups as are willing to assume responsibility for initiating, carrying out and sharing the costs of watershed protection which will help conserve water for agricultural uses and supplement any needed downstream flood control measures."

AT CD INDUSTRIAL MEETING — Milton O. Howle (extreme right), industrial protection officer for Region 2, Federal Civil Defense Agency, outlines the Civil Defense industrial program to representatives of area industries as a conference on plant protection got under way yesterday at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant. William G. Barger, county CD director, is host.

Former Patient Praises Hospital

Memorial Hospital comes in for praise from a patient of two months who has just returned to his home in Pennsylvania.

The letter, from W. Curtis Truxal, prominent Somerset, Pa., attorney, who was treated at the hospital here for a broken hip, was addressed to William A. Gunter, president of the board of governors of the hospital. It reads:

"I want you to know that in my opinion Cumberland has one of the best operated hospitals I know of. I never had so much kindness and consideration shown me from the medical staff down to and including the orderlies. The noticeable thing to me was the cooperation and feeling within the institution that we were all one large family."

Dr. McKenzie Heads Business Group

Dr. L. R. McKenzie was elected president of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association last night as the group reorganized for the coming year.

Dr. McKenzie succeeds Glenn Morris, outgoing president.

Named to serve with him were Nelson W. Russler, vice president; John Weber, treasurer, and Charles Keech, secretary.

The organization will hold its first general membership dinner-meeting under the new officers at Grace Methodist Church Community Hall, Second Street, at 6:30 p.m. October 12.

Md. Farm Income Shows Increase

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 22 (AP)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture says Maryland farmers took in more cash for their products last year than in 1952.

The cash receipts went up one per cent, the report said, going from $264,379,000 to $266,858,000.

The increases were in both livestock and allied products, and in crops. In livestocks, eggs and hogs showed the biggest percentage increase. Sheep, lambs, cattle and calves showed the biggest drop.

In crops, snap beans, soybeans and sweet corn recorded the top gains. Potatoes, strawberries and apples showed the largest declines.

In Delaware the cash receipts went down three per cent, from $106,729,000 to $103,758,000.

Twenty-eight elephants were exported from India during the six months ending in September of 1953.

For 36 consecutive miles, the great Smoky mountains of North Carolina are more than 5,000 feet high.

The construction of the Brooklyn bridge took almost 13 years.

A Familiar Pattern To Divert Attention

On the afternoon of March 21, 1953, three Americans sailed out of the anchorage of the British crown colony at Hong Kong toward the mainland. Six miles out, Royal Navy observers saw their small yawl intercepted by a junk. Later the yawl was seen in tow of the junk, and that was the last that was heard of the trio, two newsmen and a former ship captain, for a solid year.

It wasn't until the Geneva Conference of last May that the Chinese Reds finally owned up to having held the three at all despite periodic queries and demands for information on the part of the U. S. and British diplomatic corps.

With characteristic suddenness the Reds announced the other day that the three had been "deported." They were seen after several more days wandering down a railroad track, gaunt, disheveled and wearing the same clothes they had on when kidnapped. Their stories follow the familiar pattern of incarceration in dungeons, endless interrogation until they "told the Communist truth," as one of them put it.

This is a frustrating business, and one that can hardly be solved by meeting fire with fire and whisking off to prison any and all subjects of Russia or satellite nations who happen to blunder over borders inadvertently.

But more sobering is the report that an American businessman, listed as Hugh Francis Redmond of New York, has been convicted of spying and has been sentenced to life imprisonment by the Peiping government. This follows the pattern of the arrest and sentencing of Robert Vogeler and others.

Obviously the carefully staged arrests and subsequent "convictions" are an attempt to divert attention from the massive spy and espionage system which the Soviets, their satellites and imitator have set up on a worldwide basis.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Atoms And Politics

New weapons always alter not only the nature of war but the immediate objectives of diplomacy. Historic areas rise or fall in importance as the weapons for conquest or defense find greater range. When only the enemy on the border was a peril to the maintenance of a state, that peril might be removed by a diplomatic marriage, by gifts amounting to bribes for peace, by paying tribute or by pushing the enemy away from the border. The dynastic wars of Europe, following upon the death of Charlemagne and continuing to Napoleon, were generally of such a nature.

What are the borders of a country—any country—since the atom and hydrogen bombs have come into existence? For instance, the little country, Great Britain, 94,278 square miles, a group of islands off the coast of northwestern Europe, no longer has a natural defense. (Oregon is about 96,000 square miles, for comparison.) That defense used to be the English Channel, which had been crossed by Viking, Anglo-Saxon, Roman, Dane, and Norman, but not by Napoleon or Hitler. Nevertheless both the kaiser and Hitler strafed England ferociously, using airplanes and high explosives. Today, civil life on those islands could be destroyed by nine or ten atom or hydrogen bombs hurled at London, Portsmouth, Liverpool, Birmingham, Hull, Glasgow, Manchester, Edinburgh.

And the job could probably be done in no time at all, either by Soviet Russia or the United States which are amply supplied with bombs for the purpose.

When a nation faces that reality, its diplomacy is modified to meet the situation. Granted the truth that every weapon of offense stimulates the development of counter-weapons of defense, the risk that Coventry could be repeated on so vast a scale that Great Britain might be reduced in a few hours forces upon those in charge of British foreign relations the necessity of avoiding, for as long as possible, a war that could be fought in her skies.

To the practical official, it matters little who permitted such a situation to develop. He is not necessarily an historian and he cannot afford to concern himself too much with his own or other people's blunders. That, perhaps, is why Sir Winston Churchill can still sleep at night. The practical statesman deals with what faces him today. And today, Sir Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden are faced by possible or probable extinction, for their country, should war come. Great Britain has for most of her history managed to fight her wars away from home. The past two wars were in her skies; the next war could destroy her. The British program is based on peace at almost any price.

Primarily the British are interested in trade, but their economic situation is not bad. The so-called "Dollar Gap" has been closed. British trade is thriving and British wares are being sold even in this country which are not essentially export commodities, for instance, bottled waters of various kinds.

If trade were the only consideration for the total change in British policy, it would be possible to develop considerable bitterness over the ingratitude and immorality of a nation of shopkeepers. The additional factor of the atom and hydrogen bombs and the other unconventional weapons which have been let loose upon mankind raises other issues than ingratitude. Dead nations, like dead men, are not problems in morals; they are merely records in the sands of time. And a nation that can be bombed to extinction has as its first task, survival. It dares not gamble on growth which in an effete era is called colonialism.

What is said of Great Britain is equally true of France and Italy, and while in this country we organize Civil Defense to meet the prospect, the more realistic French suspect that if the Russians do not bomb them, the Americans will. As a matter of fact, Europe's experience in World War II was that the United States bombed first and fastest in time of war and then gave money to repair the physical damage.

It is a serious problem for British, French and Italian statesmen to hold the friendship of the United States while avoiding the ravages of Soviet Russia. The way some of them go about it, they may lose out with both countries, which so often happens to those who are in the middle.

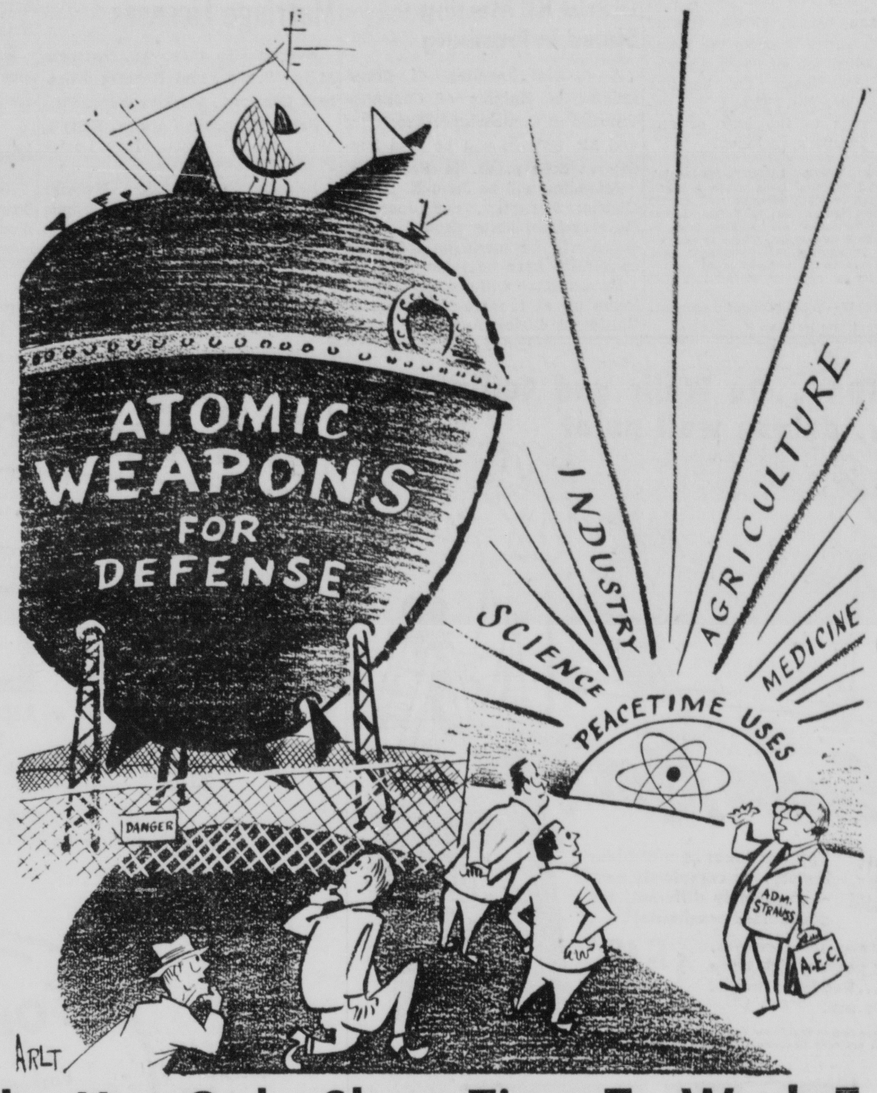
New Day Dawning



Ike Has Only Short Time To Work For GOP Victory

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has about six weeks in which to perform the political miracle that a small group of so-called "liberal" Republicans who are his intimate advisers evidently expect him to achieve. For in six weeks the President is supposed to inspire the disaffected Republican workers and make them work their heads off to get to the polls the indifferent voters who stay away when they aren't particularly aroused about issues or candidates.

It's a tough job, because Mr. Eisenhower is starting late. A Republican national committeeman told this writer the other day, for example, that he had checked with other national committeemen at the recent meeting at Cincinnati to ascertain if any of them had ever had a private conference with the President since he took office on January 20, 1953. He couldn't find a single instance. He added that he wasn't referring only to former Taft committeemen but to pro-Eisenhower committeemen as well.

Fight Between Parties

Now a national committeeman is elected by the delegations at the national convention. He is one of the political leaders of his state and is higher in rank than a state chairman, who is supposed to be concerned largely with state and local offices.

Why didn't Mr. Eisenhower see something of the Republican national committeemen in the various states? Maybe it's because there has been a steady effort to discredit the Republican party by those in the Eisenhower camp who keep insisting that the President won in 1952 not because of his party but in spite of it. Again and again, the statements has been made that Mr. Eisenhower ran ahead of the Republican ticket because his party was "reactionary," but this doesn't explain why his own campaign manager, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, a progressive, was defeated in Massachusetts in 1952. Nor does it explain those instances where the Republican nominees who won seats in Congress ran ahead of Eisenhower in 1952.

The fact remains that, in an off-year election, the name of the incumbent president isn't on the ballot. It's an out-and-out fight between the two major parties.

The real trouble with the Republican high command—the Eisenhower managers—this time is that they have thought they could win while alienating many of the members of the Republican party. There seems to be little thought about how to unite the party and considerable thought on how to keep it disunited. Many letters are pouring in to this writer from various states from Republicans who express that point of view. Typical among them are one from Maine and another from Connecticut. The correspondent in Maine, an eminent lawyer who has taken very little part in politics himself but who is in a position to know the undercurrents in his state, writes:

"In my opinion, the Republicans of Maine suffered but perhaps not as much as in some localities, through the breach between Senator Taft and Governor Dewey. As you may be well aware, the defeat of Senator Brewster (Taft leader) by Governor Payne doubtless left many wounded spirits which have not yet healed . . .

Should Bury Hatchet

"Two years ago last spring in the June primaries, Governor Cross was nominated by the efforts of his friends, hitherto not actively engaged in regular party politics. Most unfortunately, Republican party workers have not only failed to forget this defeat of their candidate but the governor apparently turned to his followers, so to speak, in the primary for advice during this two-year interval, with the result that the Republican party organization, at least in our end of the state — and I think statewide — was so lukewarm in the recent election that very little, and in some districts nothing, was done of a political nature, especially insofar as seeing that the Republican voters exercised their franchise. It is this failure of responsible politicians to 'bury the hatchet' that, to my mind, has caused the result in Maine and will be very largely the cause of what may well result in the return of a Democratic House and Senate to Washington."

From a merchant in a rural community in Connecticut comes this letter:

"This town is typical rural solid Republican. Many Republicans who vote faithfully year in and year out are McCarthy followers. In barroom political discussions and corner-store gab fests McCarthy Republicans are 'shellacked' not only by Democrats but by their own brother Republicans.

"The result is that the McCarthy Republicans are resentful of this treatment from party members. In this state, with John Lodge up for re-election as governor and he is anti-McCarthy, I sense a spirit of vengeance, and fear that these McCarthy Republicans will stay at home. Most of them are Taft Republicans who year in and year out vote Republican. They are the real anti-Democrat party members. My conclusion is that the administration should in some way unite the party or our state will return to the Democrats in November."

That's why Eisenhower's job is a tough one. He has to secure harmony, inspire the party workers and get out the stay-at-home Republican vote. Can he do it in six weeks? That's the big unanswered question, for there has never heretofore been any such task of reinvigorating a political party accomplished in such a short interval.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

When EDC evaporated in Europe did we lose the world or just a glass door?

Just when we were beginning to understand what the initials meant somebdy jerked the string on the abbreviation.

Fortunately we had buttered up an alternative plan that gives us the choice of another exit.

Six hundred French deputies voted on it from all directions. They made so much noise we knew they were agreeing.

Secretary Dulles took it as calmly as a thermometer reading. All he needs now is to have his portforlio swiped in the Simplon tunnel.

Diplomacy and inner soles were invented to hide bad workmanship. We have fought two world wars in Europe and broke the altitude record for things left in mid-air.

We repeat Mendes-France has hollow epaulets for carrying water on both shoulders. As for refuge in atomic security what other nation can go underground in champagne caves?

These are the same caves that stopped the crown prince in 1914 when Tiger Foch put in a floor show.

However, things are brighter than a double-ended lightning bug. There will be a conference in London to decide where to hold the next one.

Naturally, Premier Mendes-France and all the deputies will be there. French is the language of diplomacy until it's translated.

We still have the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which dehydrates to NATO.

That calls for better footwork in fundamentals. We are not running the basics the way we used to.

Federal Power Commission Members Get Junkets From Power Lobbyists

Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission opened hearings yesterday on natural gas rates affecting the housewives of Michigan, Wisconsin and other Northern states. Simultaneously certain commission members have become palsy-walsy with gas and electric lobbyists.

In contrast to previous years, PFCommissioners today think nothing of going on free junkets paid for by the gas and utility industry in a manner that never could have happened when Sen. George Norris was watching the power lobby.

And since one of President Truman's assistants, Don Dawson, reaped headlines for getting his hotel bill paid during a visit to Miami, it might be a good idea to scrutinize the Federal Power Commission, whose members influence the nation's economy far more than a White House assistant.

Last year, the three Republican members of the Power Commission were taken on a grand tour of the Southwest by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association — all expenses paid.

The commissioners who took the trip were FPChairman Jerome Kuykendall, appointed by Eisenhower, Seaborn Digby, also an Eisenhower man, and Nelson Lee Smith, a Republican holdover. Also along was Willard Gatchell, FPC general counsel who had ear trouble and couldn't fly. So while the others flew, the gas company hosts went to the trouble and expense of carrying Gatchell separately by auto.

Asked about the trip, Chairman Kuykendall explained that if he had been the guest of the company only he would not have gone. But he said he considered it was proper to take the trip as the guest of the entire industry.

Democrats Abstain

Power commissioners of previous years, however, would never have let themselves get indebted to the gas industry, the electric power industry or any other industry. And it may be significant that Commissioner Dale E. Doty, appointed by President Truman, and Commissioner Claude Draper, who has been on the commission for more than 20 years, did not attend.

Chairman Kuykendall, who seems to be a sincere though naive gentleman, also admitted that he attended a cocktail party in his honor given by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Morley, partner in the law firm of Wheat, Shannon and May, which represents the West Coast Transmission Co., then applying for a certificate to serve the Pacific Northwest with natural gas.

Kuykendall claims he wasn't keen about going to this party and told his wife to decline it on the grounds that they had another invitation. However, the Morleys changed the date, after which the Kuykendalls felt they had to accept. At the party were the other republican commissioners — Nelson Lee Smith and Seaborn Digby.

Big Power Lobbyist

At the party also was Ed Falck, one of the most active power company lobbyists in Washington. And after the cocktail party the Kuykendalls and the Digbys allowed themselves to be taken to dinner by the big utility lobbyist.

The activities of lobbyist Falck are so amazing that they will have to be taken up in a separate column, except perhaps for his social activities which can be touched upon briefly here.

Significantly, Falck flew to Chicago with Chairman Kuykendall a year ago to attend the National Association of Railroad and Utility Executives, though Kuykendall says it was pure coincidence that they happened to be on the same plane. The government paid Kuykendall's fare.

In Chicago, however, he admits that lobbyist Falck threw a dinner for members of the executive committee. After another executive committee meeting at the Raleigh Hotel last January lobbyist Falck invited the members to his home for a party. Kuykendall and Commissioner Smith attended.

NOTE—What the Power Commission is now considering is one of the most important cases in the nation — the price rates to be charged for the transmission of natural gas north from Texas and Louisiana. The commission previously held that it had no power to regulate the rates, but the Supreme Court reversed them. They now have to decide what these rates should be and obviously should not have their judgment warped by the same kind of free hotel bills or social favors for which the Trumanites were criticized.

McCarthy-Go-Round

The junior senators assigned to investigate Senator McCarthy had to be drafted for the job. Sen. Frank Carlson, Kansas Republican, made a final appeal to Sen. Gene Millikin, Colorado Republican, to head the investigation but Millikin used his seniority to duck out . . . Senate Majority Leader Bill Knowland of California has been excusing McCarthy for taking $10,000 from Lustron on the grounds that other senators write articles and make speeches for pay. Knowland apparently has forgotten the circumstances under which McCarthy accepted the $10,000. The check from Lustron was dated November 12, 1948. Exactly seven days before, the Senate Investigating Committee launched a probe of Lustron. In other words, McCarthy was paid by the company that his committee was investigating . . . But that isn't all. As vice chairman of the Joint Housing Committee, McCarthy had been barnstorming around the country, boosting Lustron's product—prefabricated houses . . . No wonder Lustron's president, Carl Standlund, boasted he had "powerful friends" in Congress. This boast, made a few days after the $10,000 payment to McCarthy, is a matter of record at the RFC.

The Central Problem

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

As time passes, the problem of the defense of the American continent against actual physical destruction looms larger and larger, until it begins to dwarf or engulf all other national problems.

Only a little while ago, the threat of devastating atomic attack seemed to most people something to worry about later. Now the threat is so real and visible—at least to those officials with access to hidden facts—that it begins to seem that something really serious may belatedly be done about it.

Two distinguished special commissions—the last in a long series—have been appointed to study once again the central and dominating problem. One of these commissions was appointed by the National Security Council. It is composed of high government officials and of outside experts, among whom the most important is Dr. James Killian of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The second commission was appointed by Rep. W. Sterling Cole, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. It consists of four distinguished citizens and four of the younger scientists. The chairman is Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer. The other non-scientific members are Lt. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Charles Lindbergh, the great aviator.

Two-Part Effort

The scientific members are Herbert York, director of the Livermore Laboratories in California; Frederic de Hoffman, a brilliant younger physicist from Los Alamos; William Havens, a neutron specialist from Columbia; and Bernard Brodie of Yale.

The familiar problem which confronts both these commissions is in its essence simple enough. Two years ago, the Lincoln Project report proposed a serious effort to create a continental defense against air-atomic attack. This effort was to consist essentially of two parts.

The first part was an early warning line or lines, to provide several hours warning of impending attack by the Soviet "long range air army." The second part was the means to respond to the attack. An effective response would require a chain of fighter and missile bases, reaching up into northern Canada, so that any attacking force would have to run a murderous gauntlet of defensive fire.

The warning system is relatively cheap, and there is no longer any real argument about it. The mid-Canada warning line is already going forward, and the construction of the Far North Line, on the continental fringes, has been approved at least in principle. But an effective response will be anything but cheap. The needed chain of fully equipped fighter and missile bases would soon add $2.5 billion to $5 billion to the yearly budget.

Throughout the whole, long, wasting argument about air atomic defense, this has been the real sticking point. The proponents of balancing the budget at whatever cost to national security instantly attacked the Lincoln Report as dream stuff by long-hairs. They were joined by the big bomber generals and their spokesmen, who feared—without any visible justification whatever—that a serious air defense would bite into the Strategic Air Command's budget.

Same Answers Reported

In the face of such powerful opposition to an effective air defense, the Administration adopted a tactic of buying time by appointing committees. The Lincoln Project is the distant ancestor of the present commissions, but they have all sorts of intermediate ancestors, including the Kelly, Bull, and Sprague inquiries, and many less formal studies.

Each study produced essentially the same answer—a far more effective defense against air atomic attack is both possible and essential. The fact that the original Lincoln Study set an 80 per cent "kill rate" as a target was supposed to be evidence of unrealistic "Maginot Line thinking." As a result of the more recent studies, the target of attacking bombers destroyed has been upped to 90 per cent—enough to insure against really crippling attacks, even with hydrogen bombs.

With this background, the two new commissions are getting on with their work in a wholly new atmosphere. Significantly, Dr. Killian, who is playing the major role in the study for the NSC, also contributed importantly to the Lincoln Project report.

As for the Wedemeyer group, at least two members — Wedemeyer himself and Charles Lindbergh—have deep budget-balancing instincts. But the group has been working hard, and receiving an intensive education in air-atomic realities in the process. And there is already some reason to expect a strong, and unanimous, report proposing a much accelerated air-atomic defense effort.

Meanwhile, of course, almost two years have been largely lost. And now a new argument is being heard—that the Soviets will soon have ballistic missiles, against which there is no known defense. This may be so. But at least it is worth bearing in mind the people who are now saying it is too late are the very same people who were responsible for the delay.

Child's Deafness Can Be Severe Educational Handicap

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Hearing defects in children are more likely than visual defects to escape detection. Blindness often is noted within a few weeks after birth but deafness may be overlooked for months because the youngster appears so normal.

On the other hand, some children with partial loss of hearing or vision may go through grade school without having the defect detected. The stories they tell later of what they missed in school, or the excuses they gave to avoid certain duties, are well known to ear and eye specialists. These situations are avoided by examination of all school children. But parents can be of even greater help by reporting to the physician whenever they suspect that a youngster does not hear or see perfectly.

Deafness is a serious educational handicap and it is almost impossible to teach a child to talk naturally when he cannot hear. Not only is language impeded but learning and social progress as well.

Many symptoms offer clues that the tot's hearing is inadequate. He does not react to a loud noise like the backfiring of an auto or the sudden barking of a dog. There is no response to an airplane overhead, fire or police sirens, or a sout of "No, no," from mother.

Observations of this type can help to determine deafness in babies. Later, delay in speech is noted as well as lack of response to questions or requests. These children fail to hum simple tunes and do not care to listen to the radio or a phonograph.

Another test is to speak to the child when out of sight. Have someone else in the room with the child. If this person hears you well, but the tot pays no attentoin, total deafness may exist. Test again at shorter distances or speak louder and louder until satisfied that the child does not hear.

Early detection does not mean that treatment will be successful. Only a few types of hearing defects such as those caused by acute ear infection or enlarged adenoidal tissue can be improved without resorting to hearing aids or other procedures.

The advantages of early detection center about the future management and education of the child. These youngsters often require special training. Like others, they need love and attention but firm discipline must accompany affection to help these tykes overcome complexes and to make social adjustments.

It feels awful too. This condition represents an inherent weakness of the nervous system so that victims respond abnormally to stress, anxiety, and other emotional disturbances. As a result, they are bothered frequently with palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, headache, or cold hands and feet. Actually, the sufferer usually is healthy and the disorder rarely if ever interferes with the life expectancy.

I've bored a hole and inserted a slow fuse in each. I'll light those fuses, and let's you and me sit on those kegs. The fellow who sits longest has the best nerves."

The Redcoat officer didn't like it, but—put on a spot—had to agree. He was the first to leave the spot, too, getting out in haste as his fuse burned to within an inch of the keg.

"O!' Put" just sat there puffing calmly on his pipe . . . That may have been because he knew both kegs were full of onions.

A Familiar Pattern To Divert Attention

On the afternoon of March 21, 1953, three Americans sailed out of the anchorage of the British crown colony at Hong Kong toward the mainland. Six miles out, Royal Navy observers saw their small yawl intercepted by a junk. Later the yawl was seen in tow of the junk, and that was the last that was heard of the trio, two newsmen and a former ship captain, for a solid year.

It wasn't until the Geneva Conference of last May that the Chinese Reds finally owned up to having held the three at all despite periodic queries and demands for information on the part of the U. S. and British diplomatic corps.

With characteristic suddenness the Reds announced the other day that the three had been "deported." They were seen after several more days wandering down a railroad track, gaunt, disheveled and wearing the same clothes they had on when kidnapped. Their stories follow the familiar pattern of incarceration in dungeons, endless interrogation until they "told the Communist truth," as one of them put it.

This is a frustrating business, and one that can hardly be solved by meeting fire with fire and whisking off to prison any and all subjects of Russia or satellite nations who happen to blunder over borders inadvertently.

But more sobering is the report that an American businessman, listed as Hugh Francis Redmond of New York, has been convicted of spying and has been sentenced to life imprisonment by the Peiping government. This follows the pattern of the arrest and sentencing of Robert Vogeler and others.

Obviously the carefully staged arrests and subsequent "convictions" are an attempt to divert attention from the massive spy and espionage system which the Soviets, their satellites and imitator have set up on a worldwide basis.

These Days

Atoms And Politics

New weapons always alter not only the nature of war but the immediate objectives of diplomacy. Historic areas rise or fall in importance as the weapons for conquest or defense find greater range. When only the enemy on the border was a peril to the maintenance of a state, that peril might be removed by a diplomatic marriage, by gifts amounting to bribes for peace, by paying tribute or by pushing the enemy away from the border. The dynastic wars of Europe, following upon the death of Charlemagne and continuing to Napoleon, were generally of such a nature.

What are the borders of a country—any country—since the atom and hydrogen bombs have come into existence? For instance, the little country, Great Britain, 94,278 square miles, a group of islands off the coast of northwestern Europe, no longer has a natural defense. (Oregon is about 96,000 square miles, for comparison.) That defense used to be the English Channel, which had been crossed by Viking, Anglo-Saxon, Roman, Dane, and Norman, but not by Napoleon or Hitler. Nevertheless both the kaiser and Hitler strafed England ferociously, using airplanes and high explosives. Today, civil life on those islands could be destroyed by nine or ten atom or hydrogen bombs hurled at London, Portsmouth, Liverpool, Birmingham, Hull, Glasgow, Manchester, Edinburgh.

And the job could probably be done in no time at all, either by Soviet Russia or the United States which are amply supplied with bombs for the purpose.

When a nation faces that reality, its diplomacy is modified to meet the situation. Granted the truth that every weapon of offense stimulates the development of counter-weapons of defense, the risk that Coventry could be repeated on so vast a scale that Great Britain might be reduced in a few hours forces upon those in charge of British foreign relations the necessity of avoiding, for as long as possible, a war that could be fought in her skies.

To the practical official, it matters little who permitted such a situation to develop. He is not necessarily an historian and he cannot afford to concern himself too much with his own or other people's blunders. That, perhaps, is why Sir Winston Churchill can still sleep at night. The practical statesman deals with what faces him today. And today, Sir Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden are faced by possible or probable extinction, for their country, should war come. Great Britain has for most of her history managed to fight her wars away from home. The past two wars were in her skies; the next war could destroy her. The British program is based on peace at almost any price.

Primarily the British are interested in trade, but their economic situation is not bad. The so-called "Dollar Gap" has been closed. British trade is thriving and British wares are being sold even in this country which are not essentially export commodities, for instance, bottled waters of various kinds.

If trade were the only consideration for the total change in British policy, it would be possible to develop considerable bitterness over the ingratitude and immorality of a nation of shopkeepers. The additional factor of the atom and hydrogen bombs and the other unconventional weapons which have been let loose upon mankind raises other issues than ingratitude. Dead nations, like dead men, are not problems in morals; they are merely records in the sands of time. And a nation that can be bombed to extinction has as its first task, survival. It dares not gamble on growth which in an effete era is called colonialism.

What is said of Great Britain is equally true of France and Italy, and while in this country we organize Civil Defense to meet the prospect, the more realistic French suspect that if the Russians do not bomb them, the Americans will. As a matter of fact, Europe's experience in World War II was that the United States bombed first and fastest in time of war and then gave money to repair the physical damage.

It is a serious problem for British, French and Italian statesmen to hold the friendship of the United States while avoiding the ravages of Soviet Russia. The way some of them go about it, they may lose out with both countries, which so often happens to those who are in the middle.

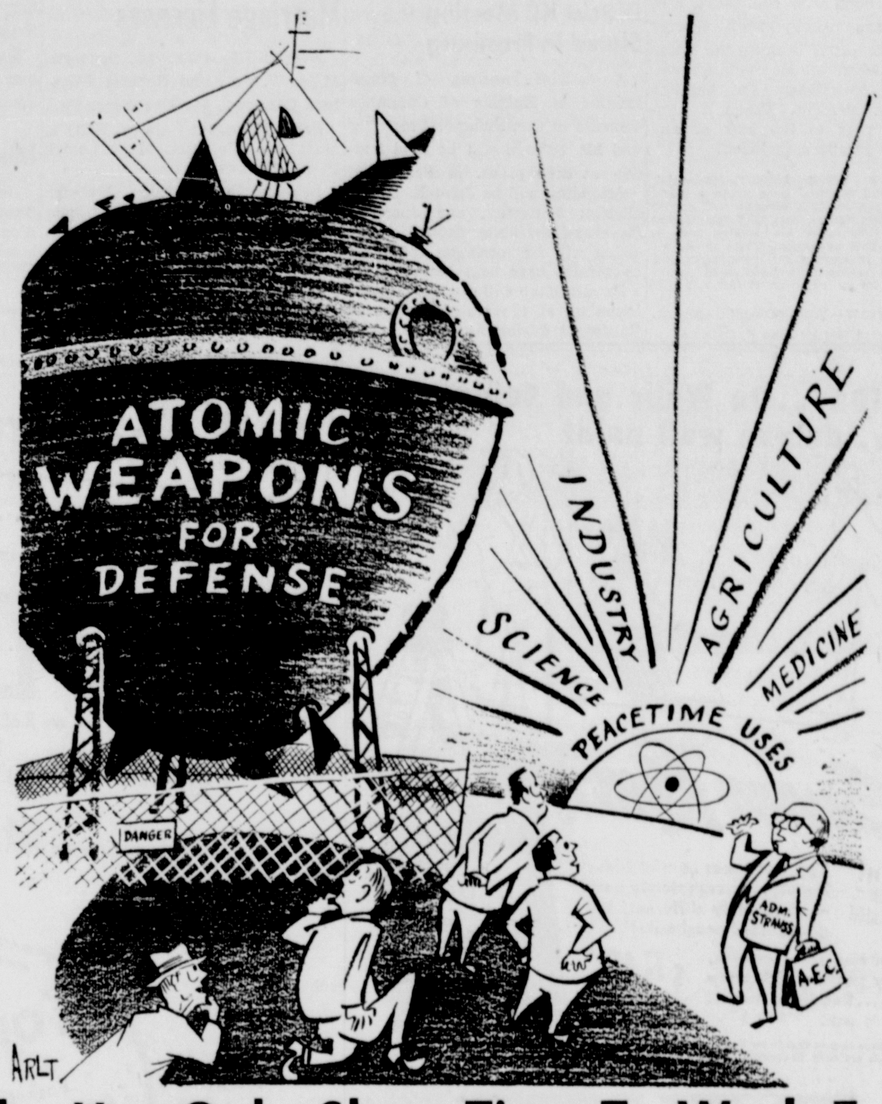
New Day Dawning



Ike Has Only Short Time To Work For GOP Victory

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has about six weeks in which to perform the political miracle that a small group of so-called "liberal" Republicans who are his intimate advisers evidently expect him to achieve. For in six weeks the President is supposed to inspire the disaffected Republican workers and make them work their heads off to get to the polls the indifferent voters who stay away when they aren't particularly aroused about issues or candidates.

It's a tough job, because Mr. Eisenhower is starting late. A Republican national committeeman told this writer the other day, for example, that he had checked with other national committeemen at the recent meeting at Cincinnati to ascertain if any of them had ever had a private conference with the President since he took office on January 20, 1953. He couldn't find a single instance. He added that he wasn't referring only to former Taft committeemen but to pro-Eisenhower committeemen as well.

Fight Between Parties

Now a national committeeman is elected by the delegations at the national convention. He is one of the political leaders of his state and is higher in rank than a state chairman, who is supposed to be concerned largely with state and local offices.

Why didn't Mr. Eisenhower see something of the Republican national committeemen in the various states? Maybe it's because there has been a steady effort to discredit the Republican party by those in the Eisenhower camp who keep insisting that the President won in 1952 not because of his party but in spite of it. Again and again, the statements has been made that Mr. Eisenhower ran ahead of the Republican ticket because his party was "reactionary," but this doesn't explain why his own campaign manager, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, a progressive, was defeated in Massachusetts in 1952. Nor does it explain those instances where the Republican nominees who won seats in Congress ran ahead of Eisenhower in 1952.

The fact remains that, in an off-year election, the name of the incumbent president isn't on the ballot. It's an out-and-out fight between the two major parties.

The real trouble with the Republican high command—the Eisenhower managers—this time is that they have thought they could win while alienating many of the members of the Republican party. There seems to be little thought about how to unite the party and considerable thought on how to keep it disunited. Many letters are pouring in to this writer from various states from Republicans who express that point of view. Typical among them are one from Maine and another from Connecticut. The correspondent in Maine, an eminent lawyer who has taken very little part in politics himself but who is in a position to know the undercurrents in his state, writes:

"In my opinion, the Republicans of Maine suffered but perhaps not as much as in some localities, through the breach between Senator Taft and Governor Dewey. As you may be well aware, the defeat of Senator Brewster (Taft leader) by Governor Payne doubtless left many wounded spirits which have not yet healed . . .

Should Bury Hatchet

"Two years ago last spring in the June primaries, Governor Cross was nominated by the efforts of his friends, hitherto not actively engaged in regular party politics. Most unfortunately, Republican party workers have not only failed to forget this defeat of their candidate but the governor apparently turned to his followers, so to speak, in the primary for advice during this two-year interval, with the result that the Republican party organization, at least in our end of the state — and I think statewide — was so lukewarm in the recent election that very little, and in some districts nothing, was done of a political nature, especially insofar as seeing that the Republican voters exercised their franchise. It is this failure of responsible politicians to 'bury the hatchet' that, to my mind, has caused the result in Maine and will be very largely the cause of what may well result in the return of a Democratic House and Senate to Washington."

From a merchant in a rural community in Connecticut comes this letter:

"This town is typical rural solid Republican. Many Republicans who vote faithfully year in and year out are McCarthy followers. In barroom political discussions and corner-store gab fests McCarthy Republicans are 'shellacked' not only by Democrats but by their own brother Republicans.

"The result is that the McCarthy Republicans are resentful of this treatment from party members. In this state, with John Lodge up for re-election as governor and he is anti-McCarthy, I sense a spirit of vengeance, and fear that these McCarthy Republicans will stay at home. Most of them are Taft Republicans who year in and year out vote Republican. They are the real anti-Democrat party members. My conclusion is that the administration should in some way unite the party or our state will return to the Democrats in November."

That's why Eisenhower's job is a tough one. He has to secure harmony, inspire the party workers and get out the stay-at-home Republican vote. Can he do it in six weeks? That's the big unanswered question, for there has never heretofore been any such task of reinvigorating a political party accomplished in such a short interval.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

When EDC evaporated in Europe did we lose the world or just a glass door?

Just when we were beginning to understand what the initials meant somebdy jerked the string on the abbreviation.

Fortunately we had buttered up an alternative plan that gives us the choice of another exit.

Six hundred French deputies voted on it from all directions. They made so much noise we knew they were agreeing.

Secretary Dulles took it as calmly as a thermometer reading. All he needs now is to have his portforlio swiped in the Simplon tunnel.

Diplomacy and inner soles were invented to hide bad workmanship. We have fought two world wars in Europe and broke the altitude record for things left in mid-air.

We repeat Mendes-France has hollow epaulets for carrying water on both shoulders. As for refuge in atomic security what other nation can go underground in champagne caves?

These are the same caves that stopped the crown prince in 1914 when Tiger Foch put in a floor show.

However, things are brighter than a double-ended lightning bug. There will be a conference in London to decide where to hold the next one.

Naturally, Premier Mendes-France and all the deputies will be there. French is the language of diplomacy until it's translated.

We still have the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which dehydrates to NATO.

That calls for better footwork in fundamentals. We are not running the basics the way we used to.

Child's Deafness Can Be Severe Educational Handicap

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Hearing defects in children are more likely than visual defects to escape detection. Blindness often is noted within a few weeks after birth but deafness may be overlooked for months because the youngster appears so normal.

On the other hand, some children with partial loss of hearing or vision may go through grade school without having the defect detected. The stories they tell later of what they missed in school, or the excuses they gave to avoid certain duties, are well known to ear and eye specialists. These situations are avoided by examination of all school children. But parents can be of even greater help by reporting to the physician whenever they suspect that a youngster does not hear or see perfectly.

Deafness is a serious educational handicap and it is almost impossible to teach a child to talk naturally when he cannot hear. Not only is language impeded but learning and social progress as well.

Many symptoms offer clues that the tot's hearing is inadequate. He does not react to a loud noise like the backfiring of an auto or the sudden barking of a dog. There is no response to an airplane overhead, fire or police sirens, or a sout of "No, no," from mother.

Observations of this type can help to determine deafness in babies. Later, delay in speech is noted as well as lack of response to questions or requests. These children fail to hum simple tunes and do not care to listen to the radio or a phonograph.

Another test is to speak to the child when out of sight. Have someone else in the room with the child. If this person hears you well, but the tot pays no attention, total deafness may exist. Test again at shorter distances or speak louder and louder until satisfied that the child does not hear.

Early detection does not mean that treatment will be successful. Only a few types of hearing defects such as those caused by acute ear infection or enlarged adenoidal tissue can be improved without resorting to hearing aids or other procedures.

The advantages of early detection center about the future management and education of the child. These youngsters often require special training. Like others, they need love and attention but firm discipline must accompany affection to help these tykes overcome complexes and to make social adjustments.

It feels awful too. This condition represents an inherent weakness of the nervous system so that victims respond abnormally to stress, anxiety, and other emotional disturbances. As a result, they are bothered frequently with palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, headache, or cold hands and feet. Actually, the sufferer usually is healthy and the disorder rarely if ever interferes with the life expectancy.

Federal Power Commission Members Get Junkets From Power Lobbyists

Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission opened hearings yesterday on natural gas rates affecting the housewives of Michigan, Wisconsin and other Northern states. Simultaneously certain commission members have become palsy-walsy with gas and electric lobbyists.

In contrast to previous years, PFCommissioners today think nothing of going on free junkets paid for by the gas and utility industry in a manner that never could have happened when Sen. George Norris was watching the power lobby.

And since one of President Truman's assistants, Don Dawson, reaped headlines for getting his hotel bill paid during a visit to Miami, it might be a good idea to scrutinize the Federal Power Commission, whose members influence the nation's economy far more than a White House assistant.

Last year, the three Republican members of the Power Commission were taken on a grand tour of the Southwest by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association — all expenses paid.

The commissioners who took the trip were FPChairman Jerome Kuykendall, appointed by Eisenhower, Seaborn Digby, also an Eisenhower man, and Nelson Lee Smith, a Republican holdover. Also along was Willard Gatchell, FPC general counsel who had ear trouble and couldn't fly. So while the others flew, the gas company hosts went to the trouble and expense of carrying Gatchell separately by auto.

Asked about the trip, Chairman Kuykendall explained that if he had been the guest of the company only he would not have gone. But he said he considered it was proper to take the trip as the guest of the entire industry.

Democrats Abstain

Power commissioners of previous years, however, would never have let themselves get indebted to the gas industry, the electric power industry or any other industry. And it may be significant that Commissioner Dale E. Doty, appointed by President Truman, and Commissioner Claude Draper, who has been on the commission for more than 20 years, did not attend.

Chairman Kuykendall, who seems to be a sincere though naive gentleman, also admitted that he attended a cocktail party in his honor given by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Morley, partner in the law firm of Wheat, Shannon and May, which represents the West Coast Transmission Co., then applying for a certificate to serve the Pacific Northwest with natural gas.

Kuykendall claims he wasn't keen about going to this party and told his wife to decline it on the grounds that they had another invitation. However, the Morleys changed the date, after which the Kuykendalls felt they had to accept. At the party were the other republican commissioners — Nelson Lee Smith and Seaborn Digby.

Big Power Lobbyist

At the party also was Ed Falck, one of the most active power company lobbyists in Washington. And after the cocktail party the Kuykendalls and the Digbys allowed themselves to be taken to dinner by the big utility lobbyist.

The activities of lobbyist Falck are so amazing that they will have to be taken up in a separate column, except perhaps for his social activities which can be touched upon briefly here.

Significantly, Falck flew to Chicago with Chairman Kuykendall a year ago to attend the National Association of Railroad and Utility Executives, though Kuykendall says it was pure coincidence that they happened to be on the same plane. The government paid Kuykendall's fare.

In Chicago, however, he admits that lobbyist Falck threw a dinner for members of the executive committee. After another executive committee meeting at the Raleigh Hotel last January lobbyist Falck invited the members to his home for a party. Kuykendall and Commissioner Smith attended.

NOTE—What the Power Commission is now considering is one of the most important cases in the nation — the price rates to be charged for the transmission of natural gas north from Texas and Louisiana. The commission previously held that it had no power to regulate the rates, but the Supreme Court reversed them. They now have to decide what these rates should be and obviously should not have their judgment warped by the same kind of free hotel bills or social favors for which the Trumanites were criticized.

McCarthy-Go-Round

The junior senators assigned to investigate Senator McCarthy had to be drafted for the job. Sen. Frank Carlson, Kansas Republican, made a final appeal to Sen. Gene Millikin, Colorado Republican, to head the investigation but Millikin used his seniority to duck out . . . Senate Majority Leader Bill Knowland of California has been excusing McCarthy for taking $10,000 from Lustron on the grounds that other senators write articles and make speeches for pay. Knowland apparently has forgotten the circumstances under which McCarthy accepted the $10,000. The check from Lustron was dated November 12, 1948. Exactly seven days before, the Senate Investigating Committee launched a probe of Lustron. In other words, McCarthy was paid by the company that his committee was investigating . . . But that isn't all. As vice chairman of the Joint Housing Committee, McCarthy had been barnstorming around the country, boosting Lustron's product—prefabricated houses . . . No wonder Lustron's president, Carl Standlund, boasted he had "powerful friends" in Congress. This boast, made a few days after the $10,000 payment to McCarthy, is a matter of record at the RFC.

The Central Problem

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

As time passes, the problem of the defense of the American continent against actual physical destruction looms larger and larger, until it begins to dwarf or engulf all other national problems.

Only a little while ago, the threat of devastating atomic attack seemed to most people something to worry about later. Now the threat is so real and visible—at least to those officials with access to hidden facts—that it begins to seem that something really serious may belatedly be done about it.

Two distinguished special commissions—the last in a long series—have been appointed to study once again the central and dominating problem. One of these commissions was appointed by the National Security Council. It is composed of high government officials and of outside experts, among whom the most important is Dr. James Killian of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The second commission was appointed by Rep. W. Sterling Cole, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy. It consists of four distinguished citizens and four of the younger scientists. The chairman is Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer. The other non-scientific members are Lt. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and Charles Lindbergh, the great aviator.

Two-Part Effort

The scientific members are Herbert York, director of the Livermore Laboratories in California; Frederic de Hoffman, a brilliant younger physicist from Los Alamos; William Havens, a neutron specialist from Columbia; and Bernard Brodie of Yale.

The familiar problem which confronts both these commissions is in its essence simple enough. Two years ago, the Lincoln Project report proposed a serious effort to create a continental defense against air-atomic attack. This effort was to consist essentially of two parts.

The first part was an early warning line or lines, to provide several hours warning of impending attack by the Soviet "long range air army." The second part was the means to respond to the attack. An effective response would require a chain of fighter and missile bases, reaching up into northern Canada, so that any attacking force would have to run a murderous gauntlet of defensive fire.

The warning system is relatively cheap, and there is no longer any real argument about it. The mid-Canada warning line is already going forward, and the construction of the Far North Line, on the continental fringes, has been approved at least in principle. But an effective response will be anything but cheap. The needed chain of fully equipped fighter and missile bases would soon add $2.5 billion to $5 billion to the yearly budget.

Throughout the whole, long, wasting argument about air atomic defense, this has been the real sticking point. The proponents of balancing the budget at whatever cost to national security instantly attacked the Lincoln Report as dream stuff by long-hairs. They were joined by the big bomber generals and their spokesmen, who feared—without any visible justification whatever—that a serious air defense would bite into the Strategic Air Command's budget.

Same Answers Reported

In the face of such powerful opposition to an effective air defense, the Administration adopted a tactic of buying time by appointing committees. The Lincoln Project is the distant ancestor of the present commissions, but they have all sorts of intermediate ancestors, including the Kelly, Bull, and Sprague inquiries, and many less formal studies.

Each study produced essentially the same answer—a far more effective defense against air atomic attack is both possible and essential. The fact that the original Lincoln Study set an 80 per cent "kill rate" as a target was supposed to be evidence of unrealistic "Maginot Line thinking." As a result of the more recent studies, the target of attacking bombers destroyed has been upped to 90 per cent—enough to insure against really crippling attacks, even with hydrogen bombs.

With this background, the two new commissions are getting on with their work in a wholly new atmosphere. Significantly, Dr. Killian, who is playing the major role in the study for the NSC, also contributed importantly to the Lincoln Project report.

As for the Wedemeyer group, at least two members — Wedemeyer himself and Charles Lindbergh—have deep budget-balancing instincts. But the group has been working hard, and receiving an intensive education in air-atomic realities in the process. And there is already some reason to expect a strong, and unanimous, report proposing a much accelerated air-atomic defense effort.

Meanwhile, of course, almost two years have been largely lost. And now a new argument is being heard—that the Soviets will soon have ballistic missiles, against which there is no known defense. This may be so. But at least it is worth bearing in mind the people who are now saying it is too late are the very same people who were responsible for the delay.

Hyde Defends Eisenhower Administration

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Bethesda, Republican candidate for re-election as the Sixth Maryland District Congressman, stated Tuesday night that career employes of the federal government have fared better under the Eisenhower administration than ny other new administration.

Rep. Hyde spoke at a meeting of the National Federation of Federal Employes at the Fairfax Hotel in Washington.

While there have been some "disturbances," they were kept to a minimum, he declared. "What few dislocations occurred, he added, "were necessary to carry out the economies in government to which the Republicans were committed and which won overwhelming approval of the voters two years ago."

Democrats Made Change

In contrast, Rep. Hyde asserted, was the situation 22 years ago when the Democrats took over the reins of government after 12 years of GOP rule. "Civil servants lost their jobs in droves as the patronage-happy Democrats moved to abolish government boards, bureaus and commissions in wholesale lots, he stated.

Hyde, a supporter of the Federal Pay Raise Bill in the last session of congress, which was vetoed by President Eisenhower, pointed out that federal workers have received more benefits from the Republican 83rd Congress than from any other congress.

The biggest single accomplishment of the Eisenhower Administration is the success with which the economy was directed from a war time to a peace time pace, Rep. Hyde said today at a luncheon meeting of the Bethesda Civitan Club at the Kenwood Country Club.

"The transition from war to peace was made so smoothly," Hyde said, "that many persons never knew it had occurred."

See Business Ahead

"Lashing back at the Democratic "prophets of gloom," Hyde pointed out that unemployment, spotty and declining now, had never reached the high point it hit in 1949 and 1950 under the Democrats before the Korean War. While reduced defense needs had drugged the market slightly, he added, most industries have already shaken off the threat of recession and are preparing for near record business this winter.

He contrasted the present administration's theory of creating prosperity by helping business create more jobs and promote stability by reducing taxes to give workers more spendable income with the Democratic dependence on pump-priming to put money in consumer's hands and then take it away "with high taxes before it is ever spent."

"Our enemies and some of the extreme right wingers have called the Eisenhower Administration nothing but the New Deal warmed over," he said. "But there is a distinct cleavage between Republicans and Democrats, exemplified by the Atomic Energy Bill," he said.

"Voting on this bill," he said, "clearly points up the basic differences between the socialistic policies of the Democrats and the free enterprise position of the Republicans."

The jumper is a versatile fashion — select yours according to your type of figure.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What fashion is so long out of style that it's new again? The jumper!

My styling consultant predicted the return of this practical fashion months ago. It is a logical follow-up to the ever-increasing slender silhouette, for one thing, and to the popularity of sportswear separates that expand a wardrobe so endlessly. Put the two together—slim skirts and separates—and you have the jumper, with its variable blouses and sweaters.

There are other variables about the jumper that give it advantages: full-skirted, it is a height reducer; slim-skirted, it stretches the figure upward. Minus a blouse and dressed up with jewelry, the basic in wool, tweed, jersey or velvet is a chic evening or dinner dress. With blouse or sweater, it is a daytime fashion.

Choose Your Line

Here is a perfect example of how you can adapt the lines of current fashion favorites to your own figure. If you are short and slight of build, choose a jumper with straight or medium-full skirt, and a blouse with round neck or small round collar.

If you cast a short, full-figured shadow, you'll look most attractive in a straight-skirted jumper (one with center stitching or pleat, perhaps) and a blouse with moderate "V" neck or small pointed collar. A round neckline would be far less becoming, just as a wide skirt would be.

For the tall, slight girl the most becoming jumper will have a box-pleated, full-gored, or circular skirt. Its blouses or sweater will have a round neck. Avoid the vertical line that makes this type of figure look taller—a tight, tubular skirt or a deep "V" neckline.

Tall and full-figured? Your best lines are vertical and diagonal. Pointed collars are good, but not round ones. A medium-gored or eased straight skirt will be fine, but not all-around pleats or full gores.

Skirt Lengths

For a woman of average height, the proper skirt length is from 13½ to 15 inches from the ground—depending upon your own taste. Full skirts are usually worn shorter than slim skirts because the latter ride up when you sit down. Sheath, full or in-between, the hemline must be straight. That's an important plus to the look of any fashion, jumpers included!

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope for a copy of WHAT'S YOUR LINE?

Tomorrow—Well-groomed speech.

Hyde Defends Eisenhower Administration

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, Bethesda, Republican candidate for re-election as the Sixth Maryland District Congressman, stated Tuesday night that career employes of the federal government have fared better under the Eisenhower administration than ny other new administration.

Rep. Hyde spoke at a meeting of the National Federation of Federal Employes at the Fairfax Hotel in Washington.

While there have been some "disturbances," they were kept to a minimum, he declared. "What few dislocations occurred, he added, "were necessary to carry out the economies in government to which the Republicans were committed and which won overwhelming approval of the voters two years ago."

Democrats Made Change

In contrast, Rep. Hyde asserted, was the situation 22 years ago when the Democrats took over the reins of government after 12 years of GOP rule. "Civil servants lost their jobs in droves as the patronage-happy Democrats moved to abolish government boards, bureaus and commissions in wholesale lots, he stated.

Hyde, a supporter of the Federal Pay Raise Bill in the last session of congress, which was vetoed by President Eisenhower, pointed out that federal workers have received more benefits from the Republican 83rd Congress than from any other congress.

The biggest single accomplishment of the Eisenhower Administration is the success with which the economy was directed from a war time to a peace time pace, Rep. Hyde said today at a luncheon meeting of the Bethesda Civitan Club at the Kenwood Country Club.

"The transition from war to peace was made so smoothly," Hyde said, "that many persons never knew it had occurred."

See Business Ahead

"Lashing back at the Democratic "prophets of gloom," Hyde pointed out that unemployment, spotty and declining now, had never reached the high point it hit in 1949 and 1950 under the Democrats before the Korean War. While reduced defense needs had drugged the market slightly, he added, most industries have already shaken off the threat of recession and are preparing for near record business this winter.

He contrasted the present administration's theory of creating prosperity by helping business create more jobs and promote stability by reducing taxes to give workers more spendable income with the Democratic dependence on pump-priming to put money in consumer's hands and then take it away "with high taxes before it is ever spent."

"Our enemies and some of the extreme right wingers have called the Eisenhower Administration nothing but the New Deal warmed over," he said. "But there is a distinct cleavage between Republicans and Democrats, exemplified by the Atomic Energy Bill," he said.

"Voting on this bill," he said, "clearly points up the basic differences between the socialistic policies of the Democrats and the free enterprise position of the Republicans."

The jumper is a versatile fashion — select yours according to your type of figure.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What fashion is so long out of style that it's new again? The jumper!

My styling consultant predicted the return of this practical fashion months ago. It is a logical follow-up to the ever-increasing slender silhouette, for one thing, and to the popularity of sportswear separates that expand a wardrobe so endlessly. Put the two together—slim skirts and separates—and you have the jumper, with its variable blouses and sweaters.

There are other variables about the jumper that give it advantages: full-skirted, it is a height reducer; slim-skirted, it stretches the figure upward. Minus a blouse and dressed up with jewelry, the basic in wool, tweed, jersey or velvet is a chic evening or dinner dress. With blouse or sweater, it is a daytime fashion.

Choose Your Line

Here is a perfect example of how you can adapt the lines of current fashion favorites to your own figure. If you are short and slight of build, choose a jumper with straight or medium-full skirt, and a blouse with round neck or small round collar.

If you cast a short, full-figured shadow, you'll look most attractive in a straight-skirted jumper (one with center stitching or pleat, perhaps) and a blouse with moderate "V" neck or small pointed collar. A round neckline would be far less becoming, just as a wide skirt would be.

For the tall, slight girl the most becoming jumper will have a box-pleated, full-gored, or circular skirt. Its blouses or sweater will have a round neck. Avoid the vertical line that makes this type of figure look taller—a tight, tubular skirt or a deep "V" neckline.

Tall and full-figured? Your best lines are vertical and diagonal. Pointed collars are good, but not round ones. A medium-gored or eased straight skirt will be fine, but not all-around pleats or full gores.

Skirt Lengths

For a woman of average height, the proper skirt length is from 13½ to 15 inches from the ground—depending upon your own taste. Full skirts are usually worn shorter than slim skirts because the latter ride up when you sit down. Sheath, full or in-between, the hemline must be straight. That's an important plus to the look of any fashion, jumpers included!

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! This "P.S." gives you complete information on handling lines to your own best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed return envelope for a copy of WHAT'S YOUR LINE?

Tomorrow—Well-groomed speech.

The "Cleaningest" Cleaner!

There's Been a Change Made in FINA FOAM

The new Triple Strength Fina Foam produces the highest level cleaning efficiency. It has a definite advantage where the resoiling of carpeting or upholstery is considered. When carpets are home cleaned, a good portion of the cleaner remains in the pile because rinsing has been omitted. Any of the new Fina Foam left in the carpet dries to a fine invisible crystalline powder which is easily removed by vacuuming. Ordinarily, soaps and some synthetic detergents leave a gummy deposit in the pile; this traps dirt and causes the carpet to resoil rapidly. The new Fina Foam does not cause the fibres to mat and on drying leaves the rugs or upholsetry fabrics with an open lofty pile. The new Fina Foam is triple strength. One gallon makes 3 gallons, so not only is it much more efficient and easy to apply, it is much less costly to use. The new Triple Strength Fina Foam is available at Rosenbaum's.

The "Cleaningest" Cleaner!

There's Been a Change Made in FINA FOAM

The new Triple Strength Fina Foam produces the highest level cleaning efficiency. It has a definite advantage where the resoiling of carpeting or upholstery is considered. When carpets are home cleaned, a good portion of the cleaner remains in the pile because rinsing has been omitted. Any of the new Fina Foam left in the carpet dries to a fine invisible crystalline powder which is easily removed by vacuuming. Ordinarily, soaps and some synthetic detergents leave a gummy deposit in the pile; this traps dirt and causes the carpet to resoil rapidly. The new Fina Foam does not cause the fibres to mat and on drying leaves the rugs or upholstery fabrics with an open lofty pile. The new Fina Foam is triple strength. One gallon makes 3 gallons, so not only is it much more efficient and easy to apply, it is much less costly to use. The new Triple Strength Fina Foam is available at Rosenbaum's.

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK —(INS)— American business men with connections in Bolivia have been telling the State Department for weeks that a worse Communist situation exists in that land of strategic materials than prevailed in Guatemala under Arbenz.

It has lacked the publicity of the Guatemalan disorders. Complaints have been received in Washington that State Department personnel in La Paz are so remote from the rest of the country that they have little concept of what is going on.

"I was in La Paz just before the present government came into power," an American recently wrote to Secretary Dulles. "I visited our embassy and spoke of the dangers of communism. The charge d'affaires assure me that there was no such danger. This despite the fact that I had just come down from Villa Victoria (five minutes away) where lived 40,000 Indians and where practically every house had a painted hammer and sickle over its door.

"I spoke of the imminent revolution, which was freely talked about among the people and which our men felt would break out any minute. But he told me that revolution was impossible. The current government, he said, had everything under control. Fortunately, I didn't take his word but hired a car and just crossed the Peruvian border when the revolution started . . . The Communist rulers in La Paz are poisoning the rest of South America."

Returnees have assured the State Department that the Reds who have taken over Bolivia, under the P.I.R., the nation's Communist Party, have avoided many of the blunders made by their fellow Reds in Guatemala.

The country is pictured as being rapidly communized. "Freedom and justice exist only in name," one complaint reads. "Execution without trial is common. Jails are overcrowded and concentration camps are set up at Ichilo, Corocoro, Carangas, Unica and elsewhere. Freedom of the press has long since disappeared. Opposition papers have been closed. Neighboring Latin American countries are crowded with Bolivian exiles.

"A number of revolutionary movements against the Red-Controlled government have been crushed inside Bolivia. Several such movements have been organized outside the country. One is centered in Santiago, Chile, and another in Lima, Peru. This latter group is made up of former MNR officials, who established the present government, but who because of objections to Red infiltration have had to leave the country."

The former MNR officials have presented their case not only to Dulles but to Vice President Nixon, and Senators Wiley, Smathers and McCarthy. Former Bolivian President J. Enrique Hertzog, now in Peruvian exile, in a recent letter to American editors wrote:

"The present Bolivian government has confiscated private property, it has neglected its international obligations, as set up in the Bogota Charter, as regard to expropriations; it has established arbitrary and illegal agencies to exploit the spoilations; 'American imperialism' has been made the favorite target of all members of the government, while the government wages the most ruthless class warfare.

"The army has been disbanded and armed bands of miners and farmers, in the true early Bolshevik style, have been organized to take its place; foreign Communist experts have been engaged to teach the people their doctrines; political commissars have been appointed in mines and farms in the usual Communist manners; the police forces are instructed to persecute Democratic citizens and to give all their support to Communists.

"The Communist program is carried out systematically with a view to establishing a Soviet structure in the very heart of the continent."

The State Department has moved very cautiously in the Bolivian matter, apparently waiting a formed U. S. opinion, hardly possible without informed correspondence out of that country.

New Maine Governor Says Nixon Lost Votes For GOP

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP) — Maine's first Democratic governor in 20 years says Vice President Richard Nixon lost votes for the Republicans in last week's election.

But Gov.-elect Edmund S. Muskie, says President Eisenhower might have saved the day for the GOP had he campaigned in Maine.

In an interview published in Newsweek magazine, Muskie says;

"Nixon definitely pictured this election as a test of the Eisenhower administration and our candidates for Congress and for the Senate concentrated on national issues, particularly on the tax program and on foreign policy.

"I didn't discuss those issues myself; I talked about local issues. However, I can tell you this: Those two issues had a terrific impact. Some of the votes I got may have rubbed off on the Democratic candidates for Congress and for the Senate, but I'm convinced that some of theirs rubbed off on me."

Muskie adds that he doesn't believe President Eisenhower's endorsement alone will help a candidate. He explains:

"This tactic of calling on Maine to vote Republican in order to help the Republican party . . . backfired.

"Now, if you ask me what would have happened if President Eisenhower had come into Maine and campaigned personally, well, I wouldn't know what to answer. Nixon, I'm convinced, lost votes for the Republicans, but I suspect that Ike might have changed the situation completely."

Grant County School Calendar Is Announced

174 Teach Days Listed By Frye

PETERSBURG — Grant County School Superintendent A. Neil Frye announced through a special bulletin to the 78 teachers of county schools, the school calendar for the term which opened on August 31.

Frye noted that the county schools will be in session a total of 174 days during the nine month term. He emphasized that all holidays as Christmas, Deer Season, Good Friday and the day following Thanksgiving would be made up before school closes in May.

The schools of the county will be in session until May 20, when the two high schools will hold commencement exercises, added the superintendent.

In explaining why schools would only be in session 174 days, Frye pointed out that the teachers receive three paid holidays during the term. They are the national holidays of general election on November 2; Armistice Day November 11 and Thanksgiving Day. To complete the required 180 day school term, the teaching staff will be in session three days for county teacher meeting and workshops. One of those days was used prior to the opening of the school term.

This year, pupils of Grant County will be allow to hunt two of the days of deer season. The schools will close their doors on November 25 for Thanksgiving Day and will not be opened until classes resume on December 1. This will give them vacations for Thanksgiving and deer season in one week.

An explanation was made concerning the closing of the schools for the deer season. It was done in past year to prevent any rural or bus student from being wounded by a stray shot taken, while he waits for his ride to one of the schools of the county. It has been found that this was a successful answer to this problem and prevented any further accidents occuring during the time when many hunters with powerful rifles are in the woods of the area.

Christmas vacation will begin at 3 p. m. December 23, and extend until Monday, January 3 when classes will resume.

The midyear teachers meeting has been disbanded and this term the teaching staff will meet on Saturday, October 23 in a Fall meeting. The other meetings of the county education association will be the Spring banquet on April 2.

Schools will not be in session on Good Friday April 8, and the day will not be counted in the school calendar.

County Field Day on May 6 will close the school calendar of events. This day, which annually draws all school pupils of Grant County to Petersburg, will highlight the Spring activities of the schools, concluded the school superintendent.

Grant County School Calendar Is Announced

174 Teach Days Listed By Frye

PETERSBURG — Grant County School Superintendent A. Neil Frye announced through a special bulletin to the 78 teachers of county schools, the school calendar for the term which opened on August 31.

Frye noted that the county schools will be in session a total of 174 days during the nine month term. He emphasized that all holidays as Christmas, Deer Season, Good Friday and the day following Thanksgiving would be made up before school closes in May.

The schools of the county will be in session until May 20, when the two high schools will hold commencement exercises, added the superintendent.

In explaining why schools would only be in session 174 days, Frye pointed out that the teachers receive three paid holidays during the term. They are the national holidays of general election on November 2; Armistice Day November 11 and Thanksgiving Day. To complete the required 180 day school term, the teaching staff will be in session three days for county teacher meeting and workshops. One of those days was used prior to the opening of the school term.

This year, pupils of Grant County will be allow to hunt two of the days of deer season. The schools will close their doors on November 25 for Thanksgiving Day and will not be opened until classes resume on December 1. This will give them vacations for Thanksgiving and deer season in one week.

An explanation was made concerning the closing of the schools for the deer season. It was done in past year to prevent any rural or bus student from being wounded by a stray shot taken, while he waits for his ride to one of the schools of the county. It has been found that this was a successful answer to this problem and prevented any further accidents occuring during the time when many hunters with powerful rifles are in the woods of the area.

Christmas vacation will begin at 3 p. m. December 23, and extend until Monday, January 3 when classes will resume.

The midyear teachers meeting has been disbanded and this term the teaching staff will meet on Saturday, October 23 in a Fall meeting. The other meetings of the county education association will be the Spring banquet on April 2.

Schools will not be in session on Good Friday April 8, and the day will not be counted in the school calendar.

County Field Day on May 6 will close the school calendar of events. This day, which annually draws all school pupils of Grant County to Petersburg, will highlight the Spring activities of the schools, concluded the school superintendent.

Frostburg State Opens Soccer Season At Towson Saturday

Babcock Has Veteran Team For Campaign

Nine-Game Schedule Includes N. C. State And Duke University

Frostburg State Teachers College will open its 1954 soccer season at Towson Saturday, participating in a four-team tournament which will be part of a Baltimore County Soccer Clinic and Intercollegiate Tournament.

Coach Kenneth Babcock will field a veteran eleven this year, composed of players who have had two and three years experience. Last season the Bobcats from Frostburg State captured five games, lost one and tied two in one of their best showings to date.

Play In Tournament

Although Towson State Teachers were originally scheduled Saturday to open Frostburg's nine-game schedule, the tournament will take the place of the opener with Frostburg playing half-hour games with Towson, Wilson Teachers College, and Salisbury Teachers College.

Both Towson and Salisbury will be represented by veteran teams also. Towson tied Frostburg 0-0 last year and Salisbury handed the Cats their only defeat in eight games, 2-0.

Slippery Rock Teachers, one of the most powerful small college soccer teams in the nation, again appears on Frostburg's slate as do the Penn State Frosh, Grove City College, Mt. Saint Mary's College, Indiana State Teachers and two newcomers, Duke University and North Carolina State.

The addition of Duke and N.C. State adds a big college lustre to Frostburg's schedule this year as both are regarded as powerhouse elevens in the Southern Conference.

The only team which Frostburg met last season which will not be on the 1954 schedule is the University of Pittsburgh which was dropped by Babcock. The Bobcats defeated Pittsburgh, 2-0, last season.

Has Veteran Team

Grove City's 2-2 deadlock was the only other blemish on Frostburg's campaign in 1953.

Babcock has veterans Jim Byrnes, John Fatkin, both of whom made the All-America squad last year, Buddy Poland and Bill Kirk who were All-Southern Zone selectees, and Tom Kelly, Ronnie Chapman, Don Bell, Mickey LaPorta, Bob Kirk, Bob Wilson and Moose Arnone on his starting eleven.

Newcomers are Jim Kelly, Bill Beeman, Ray Barclay, and Jim Gentry from Valley High School; Jack Jones and Carl Emerick from Beall; Ronnie Carter of Mt. Savage; Neil Walter of Oakland; Ronnie Ruffo of LaSalle and John Keister from Grantsville.

The Baltimore County clinic will get underway at 10 a. m. at Towson State Teachers College. It was organized to interest youngsters and their parents in the game of soccer and to demonstrate the value of the game; to bring to attention the simplicity of the game in respect to rules, equipment and methods of organizing; and to acquaint interested persons with resource material, literature, movies and expert teachers and advisors.

Opens With Movie

The program will open with a feature movie on soccer and will be followed by demonstrations by noted national and international players, coaches and officials.

Included among the demonstrators and advisors will be Tom Amhrien, former international player; Glenn Warner, coach of the U. S. Naval Academy; Cyril Hanaby, goalie for the Baltimore Rockets soccer team; Tom Connelly, president of the Maryland-District of Columbia Soccer Association; Kenneth Babcock; Gene Ringsdorf, official of the National Soccer Association; Granville Kraft, president of the Mason-Dixon Soccer Referees Association; John Hart, former all-southern player; John Kerr, leader of junior soccer in Baltimore; and Ricardo Pizarro, former Springfield College varsity star.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK — Rodney Breedlove (left), husky junior pivot man for Coach Roy Lester's Allegany High Campers was chosen the first "lineman of the week" by the Knights of Columbus selection committee. He joins Jerry Landis (right), Fort Hill quarterback who was named "back of the week." Breedlove was outstanding in Allegany's 20-0 win over Beall last Friday while Landis sparked Fort Hill to a 41-6 triumph over Front Royal, Va., Saturday in the stadium here.

Rodney Breedlove Is Picked First Lineman Of The Week

Sentinels' Landis Named Best Back

Rodney Breedlove, center and linebacker of the Allegany High School Campers football edition this year, bruised Beall High's players so often with his fine blocking and jarring tackles that he was selected as the Knights of Columbus' first 1954 Lineman of the Week.

Beginning the seventh season of naming outstanding players in the Greenway Avenue stadium at Fort Hill the Knights of Columbus committee is for the second straight year naming both a lineman and a back.

Joining Breedlove as the initial back nominee is Jerry Landis, senior quarterback of the Fort Hill High Sentinels.

The weekly nominees will again receive inscribed miniature gold footballs and the Player of the Year will be selected from these to be awarded an engraved gold wrist watch.

Breedlove earned his selection in Allegany's opener with Beall which the Campers won, 20-0. He made about half of Allegany's tackles and threw several key blocks which led to AHS scoring plays.

The first block he tossed took Roy Niner out of a play to give Alco a first on the Beall 10 in the third quarter, helping Ed Cecil's 20-yard dash. Later he blocked out Mike Passarell to enable Don Fletcher to get away on a 60-yard punt return. His linebacking braced the Allegany line which held Beall's running attack to less than 100 yards gained.

Other linemen who gained consideration for their fine play were Ronnie Leib, AHS end, who did Coach Roy Lester's eleven's punting and scored on a 16-yard pass. Also mentioned were Dale Hillegas, Fort Hill guard who led the Sentinels both on offense and defense, and end Kenneth Poling, whose blocking was outstanding for Fort Hill.

Landis displayed excellent field generalship as the Sentinels launched their 1954 season with a 41-6 triumph over Front Royal, Va. He flashed snappy ball-handling and performed the split-T option play almost to prefection. Landis carried the ball three times for 23 yards and tallied one six-pointed for the Sentinels. He completed two passes for touchdowns and returned a punt 26 yards for Coach Bill Hahn's gridders. Other backs mentioned were Ed Cecil and Don Rice of AHS and Bob Andrews of Fort Hill.

Byrne Wins With Aid Of A Triple Play

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Aided by a triple play in the sixth inning, lefty Tommy Byrne blanked Washington on five hits today for a 3-0 New York victory. It was the veteran southpaw's third victory in four decisions since he rejoined the Yankees.

A slim paying crowd of 2,117 saw the Yanks safeguard the 35-year old hurler's 1-0 lead in the sixth with their triple play.

Wayne Terwilliger and Pete Runnels singled in that order with the former holding second at the start of the sixth. Mickey Vernon then lined to first baseman Bill Skowron who tagged first, doubling Runnels, and then threw to shortstop Gerry Coleman. Coleman caught Terwilliger trying to return to second base.

LaSalle Jayvees Snap AHS Win Skein, 6 To 0

Cioni Scores Only TD For Triumph

LaSalle High's Jayvees snapped a five-game winning streak compiled last season by an undefeated Allegany High Jayvees eleven and defeated the Little Campers yestrday, 6-0, for their second straight triumph.

Joe Cioni, quarterback for the Explorer Jayvees, tallied the game's only touchdown on a keep play, racing nine yards for the tally. Bill Becker's attempted conversion was blocked.

Cioni set up the score by tossing a 39-yard pass to end Charles Imes who caught the ball on the Allegany nine. Cioni scored on the next play.

Coach Jim Hosack's Allegany eleven, which had won five games without a defeat last year, thus lost their opener this season. The AHS Jayvees twice threatened in the hard-fought defensive battle.

In the second quarter Allegany moved the ball to the LaSalle 15 where a fumble ended the threat and the LaSalle line held for downs on the Explorer four just as the game ended.

Outstanding for Coach Bob Hall's Little Explorers were Tom Joyce, Cioni and Becker while best for Allegany's Jayvees were Doug Walker, Don Ware and Jesse Ketterman.

LaSalle gathered five first downs to the Campers' four, and picked up 121 yards rushing to 135 by Allegany. LaSalle's only completed pass in five tries was for 39 yards. AHS failed to pass. The lineups:

Stengel Promises To Rebuild Yanks, Signs Two-Year Pact

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Casey Stengel, still "surprised" that he failed to win a sixth straight pennant, today signed to manage the New York Yankees for a fourth two-year term through 1956 and promised to rebuild the club.

The grizzled old manager, now 64, will remain the game's highest paid manager at "exceptional money." Neither Stengel nor the Yanks would nail down the exact figures, but it was believed his basic salary is $75,000 a year with a profit-sharing pension plan and a bonus edging the figure close to $95,000. Stengel had managed the Yanks to five pennants and five World Series triumphs since 1949 until beaten by Cleveland this year.

Although the Yanks won more than 100 games in its second place finish to the Indians, Stengel left no doubt many changes will be made.

"Our farm system isn't dead," he said at a press conference. "We came up with Bob Grim and Bill Skowron this year and we may have two more next year.

"We've got to fix our hitting and our pitching. When you get a setback you have to rebuild. Anybody interested in any of the New York Yankees can get in touch with Mr. Weiss (General Manager George Weiss) by phone. With the exception of Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle I'd listen to talk about any others."

Remembering that Stengel said recently he ought to be fired if he didn't win the pennant, a writer asked Casey if he still felt the same way.

"By god, I'm surprised I lost it," he said. "I didn't expect to lose it until we left Cleveland."

Dan Topping, co-owner of the Yankees, explained, "We talked him into coming back."

He gave four reasons for his return, in this order: 1. No loss of money; 2. His services were wanted; 3. His health was all right; 4. The challenge of rebuilding.

Detroit Rallies To Nip Orioles

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Detroit scored four runs in the seventh inning today to defeat Baltimore, 4-1. Steve Gromek yielded four hits to the Orioles, one a bases-empty homer by Cal Abrams.

Gromek's triumph, his 18th against 16 losses, kept alive Detroit's hopes of overtaking Boston in the battle for fourth place in the American League. The fifth-place Tigers now trail the Red Sox by 1½ games.

Frostburg State Opens Soccer Season At Towson Saturday

Babcock Has Veteran Team For Campaign

Nine-Game Schedule Includes N. C. State And Duke University

Frostburg State Teachers College will open its 1954 soccer season at Towson Saturday, participating in a four-team tournament which will be part of a Baltimore County Soccer Clinic and Intercollegiate Tournament.

Coach Kenneth Babcock will field a veteran eleven this year, composed of players who have had two and three years experience. Last season the Bobcats from Frostburg State captured five games, lost one and tied two in one of their best showings to date.

Play In Tournament

Although Towson State Teachers were originally scheduled Saturday to open Frostburg's nine-game schedule, the tournament will take the place of the opener with Frostburg playing half-hour games with Towson, Wilson Teachers College, and Salisbury Teachers College.

Both Towson and Salisbury will be represented by veteran teams also. Towson tied Frostburg 0-0 last year and Salisbury handed the Cats their only defeat in eight games, 2-0.

Slippery Rock Teachers, one of the most powerful small college soccer teams in the nation, again appears on Frostburg's slate as do the Penn State Frosh, Grove City College, Mt. Saint Mary's College, Indiana State Teachers and two newcomers, Duke University and North Carolina State.

The addition of Duke and N.C. State adds a big college lustre to Frostburg's schedule this year as both are regarded as powerhouse elevens in the Southern Conference.

The only team which Frostburg met last season which will not be on the 1954 schedule is the University of Pittsburgh which was dropped by Babcock. The Bobcats defeated Pittsburgh, 2-0, last season.

Has Veteran Team

Grove City's 2-2 deadlock was the only other blemish on Frostburg's campaign in 1953.

Babcock has veterans Jim Byrnes, John Fatkin, both of whom made the All-America squad last year, Buddy Poland and Bill Kirk who were All-Southern Zone selectees, and Tom Kelly, Ronnie Chapman, Don Bell, Mickey LaPorta, Bob Kirk, Bob Wilson and Moose Arnone on his starting eleven.

Newcomers are Jim Kelly, Bill Beeman, Ray Barclay, and Jim Gentry from Valley High School; Jack Jones and Carl Emerick from Beall; Ronnie Carter of Mt. Savage; Neil Walter of Oakland; Ronnie Ruffo of LaSalle and John Keister from Grantsville.

The Baltimore County clinic will get underway at 10 a. m. at Towson State Teachers College. It was organized to interest youngsters and their parents in the game of soccer and to demonstrate the value of the game; to bring to attention the simplicity of the game in respect to rules, equipment and methods of organizing; and to acquaint interested persons with resource material, literature, movies and expert teachers and advisors.

Opens With Movie

The program will open with a feature movie on soccer and will be followed by demonstrations by noted national and international players, coaches and officials.

Included among the demonstrators and advisors will be Tom Amhrien, former international player; Glenn Warner, coach of the U. S. Naval Academy; Cyril Hanaby, goalie for the Baltimore Rockets soccer team; Tom Connelly, president of the Maryland-District of Columbia Soccer Association; Kenneth Babcock; Gene Ringsdorf, official of the National Soccer Association; Granville Kraft, president of the Mason-Dixon Soccer Referees Association; John Hart, former all-southern player; John Kerr, leader of junior soccer in Baltimore; and Ricardo Pizarro, former Springfield College varsity star.

Sept. 25—At Towson
Oct. 8—Indiana State Teacher (home)
Oct. 9—Mt. St. Mary's (home)
Oct. 15—Slippery Rock (home)
Oct. 22—Salisbury at Towson
Oct. 30—Penn State Frosh (home)
Nov. 2—At Grove City
Nov. 5—Duke at Durham, N. C.
Nov. 6—N. C. State at Raleigh, N. C.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK — Rodney Breedlove (left), husky junior pivot man for Coach Roy Lester's Allegany High Campers was chosen the first "lineman of the week" by the Knights of Columbus selection committee. He joins Jerry Landis (right), Fort Hill quarterback who was named "back of the week." Breedlove was outstanding in Allegany's 20-0 win over Beall last Friday while Landis sparked Fort Hill to a 41-6 triumph over Front Royal, Va., Saturday in the stadium here.

Rodney Breedlove Is Picked First Lineman Of The Week

Sentinels' Landis Named Best Back

Rodney Breedlove, center and linebacker of the Allegany High School Campers football edition this year, bruised Beall High's players so often with his fine blocking and jarring tackles that he was selected as the Knights of Columbus' first 1954 Lineman of the Week.

Beginning the seventh season of naming outstanding players in the Greenway Avenue stadium at Fort Hill the Knights of Columbus committee is for the second straight year naming both a lineman and a back.

Joining Breedlove as the initial back nominee is Jerry Landis, senior quarterback of the Fort Hill High Sentinels.

The weekly nominees will again receive inscribed miniature gold footballs and the Player of the Year will be selected from these to be awarded an engraved gold wrist watch.

Breedlove earned his selection in Allegany's opener with Beall which the Campers won, 20-0. He made about half of Allegany's tackles and threw several key blocks which led to AHS scoring plays.

The first block he tossed took Roy Niner out of a play to give Alco a first on the Beall 10 in the third quarter, helping Ed Cecil's 20-yard dash. Later he blocked out Mike Passarell to enable Don Fletcher to get away on a 60-yard punt return. His linebacking braced the Allegany line which held Beall's running attack to less than 100 yards gained.

Other linemen who gained consideration for their fine play were Ronnie Leib, AHS end, who did Coach Roy Lester's eleven's punting and scored on a 16-yard pass. Also mentioned were Dale Hillegas, Fort Hill guard who led the Sentinels both on offense and defense, and end Kenneth Poling, whose blocking was outstanding for Fort Hill.

Landis displayed excellent field generalship as the Sentinels launched their 1954 season with a 41-6 triumph over Front Royal, Va. He flashed snappy ball-handling and performed the split-T option play almost to prefection. Landis carried the ball three times for 23 yards and tallied one six-pointed for the Sentinels. He completed two passes for touchdowns and returned a punt 26 yards for Coach Bill Hahn's gridders. Other backs mentioned were Ed Cecil and Don Rice of AHS and Bob Andrews of Fort Hill.

Interference Call Wins For Braves

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 22 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves defeated Cincinnati, 3-1, today in a game ended on a weird note with the umpires calling out a Redleg base runner on an interference penalty play.

Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts declared immediately that he was protesting the ruling, announced by plate umpire Hal Dixon following an 18-minute conference in the middle of the infield.

LaSalle Jayvees Snap AHS Win Skein, 6 To 0

Cioni Scores Only TD For Triumph

LaSalle High's Jayvees snapped a five-game winning streak compiled last season by an undefeated Allegany High Jayvees eleven and defeated the Little Campers yestrday, 6-0, for their second straight triumph.

Joe Cioni, quarterback for the Explorer Jayvees, tallied the game's only touchdown on a keep play, racing nine yards for the tally. Bill Becker's attempted conversion was blocked.

Cioni set up the score by tossing a 39-yard pass to end Charles Imes who caught the ball on the Allegany nine. Cioni scored on the next play.

Coach Jim Hosack's Allegany eleven, which had won five games without a defeat last year, thus lost their opener this season. The AHS Jayvees twice threatened in the hard-fought defensive battle.

In the second quarter Allegany moved the ball to the LaSalle 15 where a fumble ended the threat and the LaSalle line held for downs on the Explorer four just as the game ended.

Outstanding for Coach Bob Hall's Little Explorers were Tom Joyce, Cioni and Becker while best for Allegany's Jayvees were Doug Walker, Don Ware and Jesse Ketterman.

LaSalle gathered five first downs to the Campers' four, and picked up 121 yards rushing to 135 by Allegany. LaSalle's only completed pass in five tries was for 39 yards. AHS failed to pass. The lineups:

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22 (AP)—In a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox today the Cleveland Indians tied a 27-year-old American League record set by the New York Yankees—110 wins in a season. The Tribe has three home games left with Detroit.

Winding up their season series against the White Sox with an 11-11 tie, the Indians scored single runs in the second, third and fourth innings off southpaw Jack Harshman, who suffered his eighth loss against 14 victories.

Stengel Promises To Rebuild Yanks, Signs Two-Year Pact

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Casey Stengel, still "surprised" that he failed to win a sixth straight pennant, today signed to manage the New York Yankees for a fourth two-year term through 1956 and promised to rebuild the club.

The grizzled old manager, now 64, will remain the game's highest paid manager at "exceptional money." Neither Stengel nor the Yanks would nail down the exact figures, but it was believed his basic salary is $75,000 a year with a profit-sharing pension plan and a bonus edging the figure close to $95,000. Stengel had managed the Yanks to five pennants and five World Series triumphs since 1949 until beaten by Cleveland this year.

"Our farm system isn't dead," he said at a press conference. "We came up with Bob Grim and Bill Skowron this year and we may have two more next year.

"We've got to fix our hitting and our pitching. When you get a setback you have to rebuild. Anybody interested in any of the New York Yankees can get in touch with Mr. Weiss (General Manager George Weiss) by phone. With the exception of Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle I'd listen to talk about any others."

Remembering that Stengel said recently he ought to be fired if he didn't win the pennant, a writer asked Casey if he still felt the same way.

"By god, I'm surprised I lost it," he said. "I didn't expect to lose it until we left Cleveland."

He gave four reasons for his return, in this order: 1. No loss of money; 2. His services were wanted; 3. His health was all right; 4. The challenge of rebuilding.

Detroit Rallies To Nip Orioles

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Detroit scored four runs in the seventh inning today to defeat Baltimore, 4-1. Steve Gromek yielded four hits to the Orioles, one a bases-empty homer by Cal Abrams.

Gromek's triumph, his 18th against 16 losses, kept alive Detroit's hopes of overtaking Boston in the battle for fourth place in the American League. The fifth-place Tigers now trail the Red Sox by 1½ games.

The taste that made Millions Sure made this drink famous

Some call it "over ice"... some call it "on the rocks"... but by any name, today it's a nationwide favorite! To become so famous, this drink needed the superb taste of a whiskey like 7 Crown. For it takes the smooth palatability of Seagram's 7 Crown for an over-ice drink to be fully enjoyed!

Series May Be Worth $10,000 To Winning Team Players

Two Largest Parks To Be Games Sites

Giants To Host Opener Wednesday In Polo Grounds

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—The 1954 World Series, to be played in the largest ball parks in the two major leagues with ticket prices at their highest levels, may be worth more than $10,000 to each player on the winning team.

It is almost sure to break all previous records for attendance and gate receipts.

Series Opens Wednesday

The series opens next Wednesday in the Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants, which has a listed seating capacity of 55,000. After two games, it moves to Cleveland's 73,500-seat Municipal Stadium for the fat weekend games. Then, if it lasts longer than five games, it returns to New York.

The Cleveland stadium is where the all-time World Series record of 86,288 saw a game between the Indians and the Boston Braves, Oct. 10, 1948. That record may not be broken, but the Indians have had about twice as many ticket applications as they could fill. The Giants also have been swamped, and standing room only crowds are assured.

Ticket prices are the same as they were last year—$10 for box seats, $7 for reserved seats, $4 for standing room and $2 for bleachers. The federal tax on admissions has been reduced since last year, so the actual "take" will be higher. The five per cent New York City tax which the Giants have tacked onto the standard prices can be disregarded in the calculations.

Share In Four Games

The series attendance and "gate" records were set in Yankee Stadium (capacity 67,000) and Brooklyn's Ebbets Field (32,111). If only four games are played to sell-out crowds in the bigger parks this year, they should be enough to set records for receipts and the players' pool.

Under baseball law, the players on the contending teams—and the teams which finish second, third and fourth in each league, share only in the receipts of the first four games.

Fifteen per cent on all games is paid to the secretary-treasurer of baseball. This goes to pay the expenses of the commission's office and certain World Series costs not borne by the contending clubs.

Of the remainder, 60 per cent from the first four games goes into the players' pool and the rest is divided equally among the contending clubs and their respective leagues. After the first four games, the entire amount after the commissioner's share goes to the clubs and leagues.

Mrs. Bibby Loses In State Women's Golf Tournament

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Mrs. William Bibby of Cumberland, last year's runnerup was defeated by Mrs. Frank Kush of Argyle as she and three others advanced today to the semi-finals of the Maryland Women's Amateur Golf championships.

Mrs. Kush scored an easy 5 and 3 victory over the Cumberland golfer.

Mrs. Maurice Glick of Woodholme, tourney top choice, and Mrs. C. E. Richards of the Country Club of Maryland, also had easy times downing Helen Ruff, 5 and 3, and George May McKeever, Argyle, 4 and 3, respectively.

Mrs. J. W. Y. Martin, of Green Spring, the other semi-finalist, had to battle for 22 holes before dropping Mrs. Morton Wasserkrug, Woodholme.

Hurler Tosses No-Hit Contest

Ft. Eustis Scores In Softball Tourney

EDGEWOOD, Md., Sept. 22 (AP)—Bob Saunders pitched a brilliant no-hitter, striking out 21 batters in eight innings, as Ft. Eustis, Va., kept its hopes alive in the 2nd Army Softball Tournament with a 2-0 victory today over Ft. Knox, Ky.

The power-laden Ft. Lee, Va., entry continued to maul enemy pitchers and remained undefeated in four games with a 13-1 victory over Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., and a 17-5 triumph over Ft. Monroe, Va.

Besides Ft. Lee, Eustis was the only other double winner of the day, Eliminating the host Army Chemical Center, 9-0, in an earlier game.

Joining Knox and Army Chemical on the sidelines were New Cumberland General Depot, Pa., 18-17 loser to Pennsylvania Military District, and Penn Military, which later dropped a 3-2 test to Aberdeen.

Thomas Grid Season Opens

Ed Supak's Eleven To Host Circleville

Thomas High School will open its football season at home today, meeting Circleville High's Indians of Pendleton County at 2 p.m.

The Tucker Countians with Ed Supak at the helm for the fourth straight year will be meeting Coach Guy Propst's gridders for the sixth straight year. Thomas holds a 4-1 edge in wins, having copped the 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1953 games by scores of 27-6, 33-0, 6-0 and 7-0 while the Indians scored a 19-13 victory in 1952.

Today's game is the first of four for the Tucker eleven.

Dodger Rookie Fans 15 Giants To Set Record

Karl Spooner Bests NL Champions, 3-0

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22 (AP) — Karl Spooner, 23-year-old Brooklyn southpaw up from Fort Worth in the Texas League, set a record for a rookie pitcher making his first start in the major leagues today when he struck out 15 New York Giants and shut out the new National League champions 3-0.

Spooner, from Oriskany Falls, N. Y., broke the record of 13 strikeouts established by Cliff Melton of the Giants in making his big league debut April 25, 1937.

The 15 strikeouts also is high for the National League this season. Harvey Haddix of St. Louis had the previous high of 13 on April 29.

Spooner, who had 262 strikeouts in the Texas League this year, allowed only three hits, two of the scratch variety. Alvin Dark beat out an infield roller in the first inning, Willie Mays got a bloop single in the third, and Johnny Antonelli singled over first base in the fifth.

The young lefty retired the side on six consecutive strikeouts in the seventh and eighth innings.

The third Western Maryland Softball Tournament, sponsored by the Cumberland Recreation Department with Robert E. Pence as director will be concluded tonight when the Michelbach Furniture Company of Alexandria, Va., meets the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose in the finals at 8:30 o'clock at Penn Avenue Field.

Each team won three games to advance to the finals in the 17-team tournament which got under way on Wednesday, September 8.

Hicks scored the first win for the Virginians, tossing a three-hitter against Perabee Lounge. Darley followed up with a pair of wins over the Amvets, a 4-0 one-hitter, and Ridder Motors.

The final originally was set for Tuesday but was postponed on account of rain.

Series May Be Worth $10,000 To Winning Team Players

Two Largest Parks To Be Games Sites

Giants To Host Opener Wednesday In Polo Grounds

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—The 1954 World Series, to be played in the largest ball parks in the two major leagues with ticket prices at their highest levels, may be worth more than $10,000 to each player on the winning team.

It is almost sure to break all previous records for attendance and gate receipts.

Series Opens Wednesday

The series opens next Wednesday in the Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants, which has a listed seating capacity of 55,000. After two games, it moves to Cleveland's 73,500-seat Municipal Stadium for the fat weekend games. Then, if it lasts longer than five games, it returns to New York.

The Cleveland stadium is where the all-time World Series record of 86,288 saw a game between the Indians and the Boston Braves, Oct. 10, 1948. That record may not be broken, but the Indians have had about twice as many ticket applications as they could fill. The Giants also have been swamped, and standing room only crowds are assured.

From there on it becomes a matter of fairly simple arithmetic to arrive at new records and the $10,000 plus figure for the winning players.

Ticket prices are the same as they were last year—$10 for box seats, $7 for reserved seats, $4 for standing room and $2 for bleachers. The federal tax on admissions has been reduced since last year, so the actual "take" will be higher. The five per cent New York City tax which the Giants have tacked onto the standard prices can be disregarded in the calculations.

Share In Four Games

The series attendance and "gate" records were set in Yankee Stadium (capacity 67,000) and Brooklyn's Ebbets Field (32,111). If only four games are played to sell-out crowds in the bigger parks this year, they should be enough to set records for receipts and the players' pool.

Under baseball law, the players on the contending teams—and the teams which finish second, third and fourth in each league, share only in the receipts of the first four games.

The receipts after taxes, are split up this way:

Fifteen per cent on all games is paid to the secretary-treasurer of baseball. This goes to pay the expenses of the commission's office and certain World Series costs not borne by the contending clubs.

Of the remainder, 60 per cent from the first four games goes into the players' pool and the rest is divided equally among the contending clubs and their respective leagues. After the first four games, the entire amount after the commissioner's share goes to the clubs and leagues.

Dixie Cage Classic Pairings Announced

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 22 (AP)—Pairings for the sixth annual Dixie Basketball Classic were decided at a drawing today.

In the classic Dec. 27-29 North Carolina will meet Southern California in the first game; North Carolina State will play Cornell in the second; Wake Forest will oppose Minnesota in the third, and Duke will play West Virginia in the first round windup.

Mrs. Bibby Loses In State Women's Golf Tournament

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP)—Mrs. William Bibby of Cumberland, last year's runnerup was defeated by Mrs. Frank Kush of Argyle as she and three others advanced today to the semi-finals of the Maryland Women's Amateur Golf championships.

Mrs. Kush scored an easy 5 and 3 victory over the Cumberland golfer.

Mrs. Maurice Glick of Woodholme, tourney top choice, and Mrs. C. E. Richards of the Country Club of Maryland, also had easy times downing Helen Ruff, 5 and 3, and George May McKeever, Argyle, 4 and 3, respectively.

Mrs. J. W. Y. Martin, of Green Spring, the other semi-finalist, had to battle for 22 holes before dropping Mrs. Morton Wasserkrug, Woodholme.

Hurler Tosses No-Hit Contest

Ft. Eustis Scores In Softball Tourney

EDGEWOOD, Md., Sept. 22 (AP)—Bob Saunders pitched a brilliant no-hitter, striking out 21 batters in eight innings, as Ft. Eustis, Va., kept its hopes alive in the 2nd Army Softball Tournament with a 2-0 victory today over Ft. Knox, Ky.

Bobby Booth's home run with one on in the top of the eighth was the big blow of the extra-inning contest.

Saunders, sidelined with a boil on his pitching arm in Ft. Eustis' only loss in five games in the double elimination tournament, hit three batters and walked one.

The power-laden Ft. Lee, Va., entry continued to maul enemy pitchers and remained undefeated in four games with a 13-1 victory over Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., and a 17-5 triumph over Ft. Monroe, Va.

Besides Ft. Lee, Eustis was the only other double winner of the day, Eliminating the host Army Chemical Center, 9-0, in an earlier game.

Joining Knox and Army Chemical on the sidelines were New Cumberland General Depot, Pa., 18-17 loser to Pennsylvania Military District, and Penn Military, which later dropped a 3-2 test to Aberdeen.

Thomas Grid Season Opens

Ed Supak's Eleven To Host Circleville

Thomas High School will open its football season at home today, meeting Circleville High's Indians of Pendleton County at 2 p.m.

The Tucker Countians with Ed Supak at the helm for the fourth straight year will be meeting Coach Guy Propst's gridders for the sixth straight year. Thomas holds a 4-1 edge in wins, having copped the 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1953 games by scores of 27-6, 33-0, 6-0 and 7-0 while the Indians scored a 19-13 victory in 1952.

Thomas closed the 1953 season with a 5-game winning streak and wound up with a 5-2 record for its best year since Supak succeeded Emil Suder at the start of the 1951 campaign.

Today's game is the first of four for the Tucker eleven.

Chevation Named For International

LAUREL, Md., Sept. 22 (AP)—Chevation, winner of the Kent Stakes at Delaware and Discovery Handicap at Aqueduct, was added today to the list of American-bred candidates for the Washington D. C. International at Laurel.

The 3-year-old chesnut colt from William duPont's Foxcatcher Farm was named by a committee of turf writers who will select two representatives from a list of 22 candidates for the Nov. 3 International.

FANS 15 GIANTS — Karl Spooner, 23, rookie lefthander who won 21 games in the Texas League, fanned 15 New York Giants yesterday in his major league debut for the Brooklyn Dodgers. He won 3-0, setting a National League record for strikeouts for a rookie in his first start.

Dodger Rookie Fans 15 Giants To Set Record

Karl Spooner Bests NL Champions, 3-0

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22 (AP) — Karl Spooner, 23-year-old Brooklyn southpaw up from Fort Worth in the Texas League, set a record for a rookie pitcher making his first start in the major leagues today when he struck out 15 New York Giants and shut out the new National League champions 3-0.

Spooner, from Oriskany Falls, N. Y., broke the record of 13 strikeouts established by Cliff Melton of the Giants in making his big league debut April 25, 1937.

The 15 strikeouts also is high for the National League this season. Harvey Haddix of St. Louis had the previous high of 13 on April 29.

Spooner, who had 262 strikeouts in the Texas League this year, allowed only three hits, two of the scratch variety. Alvin Dark beat out an infield roller in the first inning, Willie Mays got a bloop single in the third, and Johnny Antonelli singled over first base in the fifth.

The young lefty retired the side on six consecutive strikeouts in the seventh and eighth innings.

Moose To Play Michelbach In Tourney Final

Softball Teams Meet At Penn Ave. Tonight

The third Western Maryland Softball Tournament, sponsored by the Cumberland Recreation Department with Robert E. Pence as director will be concluded tonight when the Michelbach Furniture Company of Alexandria, Va., meets the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose in the finals at 8:30 o'clock at Penn Avenue Field.

Each team won three games to advance to the finals in the 17-team tournament which got under way on Wednesday, September 8.

One of the standout local players in the tourney is Jim Roby who has registered all three wins scored by the Moose over Cunningham's, the Old Germans and Corriganville. Roby won 11 and lost 11 during the Rocking Chair League season, including the playoffs.

Hicks scored the first win for the Virginians, tossing a three-hitter against Perabee Lounge. Darley followed up with a pair of wins over the Amvets, a 4-0 one-hitter, and Ridder Motors.

The final originally was set for Tuesday but was postponed on account of rain.

Trophies will be presented to outstanding tourney players following tonight's contest.

In the prelim at 7 p. m., the Old German Hermanettes will meet the Cumberland All-Stars.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22—(INS)—I am very interested in MGM's purchase of "Trial," written by Don M. Mankiewicz, son of Sarah and the late Herman Mankiewicz and nephew of Director-Producer Joe Mankiewicz.

Dore Schary tells me that it has an unusual theme, showing the workings of a Communist ring against the background of a sensational murder trial in this country. The book, which will be published in January of next year, is a Harper's prize novel, and was bought for Robert Taylor. Charles Schnee will produce.

Don, whom I've known since he was a small boy, seems to have a real talent as a writer.

Susan Hayward is torn between her wish to take a rest after making two pictures in succession, and co-starring with Clark Gable in "Soldier Of Fortune." She is still working in "Untamed," and she went directly into that from "The Conqueror." But what woman could resist the chance to play opposite the king?

However, Susan has not yet said yes to Buddy Adler's offer to do the Gable picture, which will be filmed in Hong Kong.

"Left Hand Of God" will be postponed until next year because Gregory Peck won't finish "Moby Dick" in time. "Besides," says Adler, "Darryl Zanuck wants Edward Dmytryk to direct 'Soldier Of Fortune', which is set for the last of October."

Chatter In Hollywood:

Apparently Barbara Rush, who will shortly apply for a divorce from Jeffrey Hunter, likes the name Jeffrey.

When she was in Ireland with Rock Hudson for the "Captain Lightfoot" picture, she saw a great deal of Jeffrey Toone, unattached British actor. Toone, who is extremely attractive, played the heavy in "Captain Lightfoot."

However, I do not believe this is a romance, and I do believe both Barbara and young Hunter tried very hard to hold their marriage together. But separations are not good for married people.

I have been asked if the romance of Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds is the real thing. My answer is yes, yes, yes. They came to see me to watch "Operation Entertainment," the TV overseas show, and if ever I saw two people in love it's these two. Debbie was proudly wearing the new watch Eddie had given her which is about as big as a dime.

Although Deb was dead tired and had to be up early to report for "Hit The Deck" at MGM, she went on with us to Cobina Wright's birthday party and Eddie sang "Happy Birthday" to our hostess.

What a nice party it was with a night warm enough to dine outdoors. Fernando Lamas sang beautifully; Arlene Dahl sang a duet with Cobina, with Jimmy McHugh at the piano. The team of Liberace and McHugh played a duet again, and then Liberace played two wonderful solos.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There's a rumor afloat that handsome Robert Taylor and his beautiful wife, the former Ursula Thiess, have dated the stork for early summer.

Frances Farmer, whose life has just about equalled Lillian Roth's for tragedy, is back in Santa Monica after eight years in Portland. She's very active now in A. A.

It's a Christmas marriage for Marilyn Maxwell and Jerry Davis, the writer.

The James Cagneys celebrate their 32nd anniversary this week—and apart. Jimmy is at Midway with the "Mister Roberts" company.

Surprise! Elaine Stewart back again with Johnny Grant at the Encore.

Anne Jeffreys and Bob Sterling christen their baby, Jeffrey Hart Sterling, Oct. 10 at the Episcopal Church in Beverly Hills.

Doris Kenyon looked so pretty on a TV show that Donald O'Connor and Sid Miller have signed her for one of their series.

TV Singer Mae Williams, who broke three vertebrae and cracked a rib when she fell down stairs, can't come back to work for at least eight weeks. This is really hard luck because Mae was doing so well on her TV show.

Jack Webb went shopping with his gal, Dorothy Towne. They were glimpsed looked at pretty clothes in a shop on the strip.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Police Step Up Probe Of Filling Station Holdup

FERNDALE, Md., Sept. 22 (AP)—Police stepped up investigation of the armed robbery Monday night of a service station along U. S. 301 that has been victimized twice within a month.

A trio of youths took $275 from the station attendant in Monday night's robbery near Gambrills. Early in the morning of Aug. 25, two men robbed the same station of $215 and forced the attendant to accompany them part of the way in the get-away car.

The most recent robbery was nearly foiled by a woman customer who got some ice cream and water for the car radiator but failed in efforts to get aid.

Curtis L. Hardesty, the attendant, said Mrs. Lois Heuer of Millersville came into the station shortly after one of the bandits brandished a .38 revolver.

"The man standing in the doorway told me to wait on the woman and not make any foolish moves if I wanted to live," Hardesty said.

The woman, who purchased some ice cream and then called Hardesty to fill the radiator before she left, said she noticed the attendant was extremely nervous.

She said she attempted to get aid at a nearby house but couldn't arouse anyone.

"I went home and told my husband," Mrs. Heuer said, "and he said I was reading too many detective novels and went to bed."

American Tobacco Co. Backs Cigarette Code

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP) — The American Tobacco Co. favors the idea of a code of standards for cigarette advertising, Paul M. Hahn, president, said today in a letter to the Federal Trade Commission.

The FTC last week called upon the cigarette industry to abandon references to health in its advertising and proposed development of cigarette advertising standards.

Hahn, in a letter to the FTC, said the advertising of his company's cigarettes "is devoid of any questionable claims or implications."

He added "we should, therefore, look with favor upon any process that would provide an effective means of bringing about general adherence to such a policy throughout the cigarette industry."

Hahn emphasized the feasibility of the FTC proposal would depend on "policing and enforcing acceptable standards."

A new alfalfa variety called Lahontan is said to be practically immune to injury from the stem nematode.

Daily Bridge Lesson by Barclay

AN INVITATION TO GAME

MANY players, of not too much experience in skilled competition, confuse two utterly different things. They know that the response of a minimum suit bid to an opening suit bid in first or second position by their partners may not indicate either great strength or weakness at once, also that a minimum rebid of the same suit on the next round advertises inability to do anything else, the hand maybe being worthless in any other declaration. Consequently, such a bid is always something of a sign-off. But a rebid of the original suit by the opening bidder does not necessarily convey any such meaning. Indeed, it may be an invitation to a No Trump game if the partner can stop any unbid suit.

	♠ A 10 4 ♥ Q 9 6 5 ♦ A 5 ♣ 7 6 5 2
♠ Q J 8 7 6 2 ♥ K J 10 8 ♦ K 6 4 ♣ None	N W E S	♠ 9 ♥ A 4 2 ♦ 9 7 ♣ A K Q J 9 4 3
	♠ K 5 3 ♥ 7 3 ♦ Q J 10 8 3 2 ♣ 10 8

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1. Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	5 ♣
2. Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 NT

The first sequence there shows the bidding actually done on this deal. The second is what should have been done. East, however, on his third turn was afraid that another bid of his clubs would be treated by West as a sign-off and dropped, whereas there might be a game in the hand. And he was afraid to show support for West's hearts, since he had only three of them and there was a good chance West had only four, also that the missing ones would not be luckily divided between the opponents. So, to make sure of a game contract, he hopped directly into a club game.

It is easy to see how the opposition beat that at the start with two tricks in diamonds and one in spades.

If East had rebid his clubs on the third round, West would have gone to game in No Trumps, since he had diamonds stopped and knew his partner must have considerable club suit plus some kind of entry for it, since he had opened the bidding. Game in No Trumps would have been easy.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ Q 7 ♥ K Q J 7 5 ♦ K 9 ♣ J 9 8 3

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Daily Bridge Lesson — by Barclay

AN INVITATION TO GAME

MANY players, of not too much experience in skilled competition, confuse two utterly different things. They know that the response of a minimum suit bid to an opening suit bid in first or second position by their partners may not indicate either great strength or weakness at once, also that a minimum rebid of the same suit on the next round advertises inability to do anything else, the hand maybe being worthless in any other declaration. Consequently, such a bid is always something of a sign-off. But a rebid of the original suit by the opening bidder does not necessarily convey any such meaning. Indeed, it may be an invitation to a No Trump game if the partner can stop any unbid suit.

	♠ A 10 4 ♥ Q 9 6 5 ♦ A 5 ♣ 7 6 5 2
♠ Q J 8 7 6 2 ♥ K J 10 8 ♦ K 6 4 ♣ None	N W E S	♠ 9 ♥ A 4 2 ♦ 9 7 ♣ A K Q J 9 4 3
	♠ K 5 3 ♥ 7 3 ♦ Q J 10 8 3 2 ♣ 10 8

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1. Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	5 ♣
2. Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 NT

The first sequence there shows the bidding actually done on this deal. The second is what should have been done. East, however, on his third turn was afraid that another bid of his clubs would be treated by West as a sign-off and dropped, whereas there might be a game in the hand. And he was afraid to show support for West's hearts, since he had only three of them and there was a good chance West had only four, also that the missing ones would not be luckily divided between the opponents. So, to make sure of a game contract, he hopped directly into a club game.

It is easy to see how the opposition beat that at the start with two tricks in diamonds and one in spades.

If East had rebid his clubs on the third round, West would have gone to game in No Trumps, since he had diamonds stopped and knew his partner must have considerable club suit plus some kind of entry for it, since he had opened the bidding. Game in No Trumps would have been easy.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A 9 6 4 3 2 ♥ 10 9 8 ♦ 6 5 ♣ A K
♠ K J 10 4 ♥ 4 ♦ Q J 10 8 4 2 ♣ Q 6 2	N W E S	♠ 8 5 ♥ A 6 3 2 ♦ A 7 3 ♣ 10 7 5 4
	♠ Q 7 ♥ K Q J 7 5 ♦ K 9 ♣ J 9 8 3

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

Oils, Airlines Send Market To Another New High Mark

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP) — Oils and airlines combined to send the Stock Market on today to its second straight new high mark.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 60 cents to $135.80, the third 25-year peak in the past four sessions. The average hit a peak Friday, fell off Monday, came back to another new high Tuesday, and scored again today.

Also higher with the oils and airlines were the steels, foods, motors, railroads, coppers, some aircrafts, the chemicals, tobaccos, coal companies, most movie issues, glass company stocks, utilities, and radio-televisions.

The industrial component of the average gave the biggest boost to the average with a gain of $1.00 at new high of $186.60 while railroads were up 50 cents and the utilities up 10 cents. Volume came to 2,260,000 shares. That compares with 1,770,000 shares traded yesterday.

Pan American World Airways was at the top of the most active list up 8⅜ at 15¼ on 40,900 shares. It was followed by Royal Dutch Petroleum up 1¾ at 60¼, American & Foreign Power up ½ at 11⅝, Decca Records up ⅜ at 14⅜, and Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton up ⅛ at 10⅛.

Oils, Airlines Send Market To Another New High Mark

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP) — Oils and airlines combined to send the Stock Market on today to its second straight new high mark.

Heavy buying in those two sections, plus good gains scored in almost all major divisions, generated a moderate advance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 60 cents to $135.80, the third 25-year peak in the past four sessions. The average hit a peak Friday, fell off Monday, came back to another new high Tuesday, and scored again today.

Also higher with the oils and airlines were the steels, foods, motors, railroads, coppers, some aircrafts, the chemicals, tobaccos, coal companies, most movie issues, glass company stocks, utilities, and radio-televisions.

The industrial component of the average gave the biggest boost to the average with a gain of $1.00 at new high of $186.60 while railroads were up 50 cents and the utilities up 10 cents. Volume came to 2,260,000 shares. That compares with 1,770,000 shares traded yesterday.

Pan American World Airways was at the top of the most active list up 5/8 at 15¼ on 40,900 shares. It was followed by Royal Dutch Petroleum up 1¾ at 60¼, American & Foreign Power up ½ at 11⅝, Decca Records up 5/8 at 14⅝, and Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton up ⅛ at 10⅛.

Gas Rate Boost Granted By PSC In 2-1 Decision

Average Monthly Hike Is 57 Cents

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP) — The Public Service Commission, in a 2-1 decision today granted the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. its second rate increase in less than two years.

The commission order authorized the company to raise its rates to Maryland consumers to allow for an increase in gross annual revenue of $366,116. The increase figures out to about 57 cents a month more on the average household bill.

Commissioner Wilmer Fell Davis dissented from the majority decision by Chairman John H. Hessey and Commissioner Frank Harper. Davis said he felt the increase was too large.

The company, in an application filed last Jan. 22, had asked for a rate increase which would have produced an additional $417,416 a year, or about 65 cents a month per customer.

On Jan. 28, 1953, the company was authorized a $400,000 annual rate increase. That increase was the first the company had obtained since its rates were first established in 1927.

By commission figures, the rate increase authorized today will allow the company a return of 5.75 per cent on its investment.

Davis, in his dissenting opinion, noted that the latest increase, coupled with that allowed in 1953, results in a total increase of more than 40 per cent in two years.

"No private business," Davis remarked, "would consider making so great an increase in the cost of its product in two years. I do not think a monopoly should be allowed to do so either by this commission."

Davis, saying a 5.6 per cent rate of return should be enough, added:

"I feel . . . that the Public Service Commission should do everything possible to alleviate the suffering caused by unemployment and other factors in this distressed area. A few cents saved for each customer served would mean much more to him than the $26,210 allowed the corporation.

"Surely a community which has been as hard hit as Cumberland these last few years should be given as sympathetic a rating as possible."

The majority opinion also took note that to allow the full increase requested by the company would have raised its rates a total of 41.52 per cent in two years.

"While a proper increase is understandable," the majority said, "such an enormous one is quite shocking." The opinion continued:

Trucker Dies Under Load Of Rock At Mines

Tucker County Man Is Crushed To Death

A freak strip mining accident in Tucker County yesterday afternoon took the life of Ralph Dennis Helmick, 38-year-old World War II veteran and experienced truck driver.

Helmick, a resident of Hendricks, was operating a huge truck loaded with 15 tons of rock and dirt, when the truck overturned and crushed him.

According to West Virginia State Police and to eye witnesses, the tragedy occurred just past 1 p.m. Helmick was dead when admitted to Tucker County Hospital at Parsons.

Witnesses said Helmick's huge truck had just been loaded with about 15 tons of rock and dirt by a power shovel. As he started to pull away from the shovel, the right rear wheel of the heavy vehicle ran over a large raised stump on the ground. The vehicle began to tilt, and Helmick jumped from the cab. He slipped in the mud and the load and the truck crushed him.

Friend Attempts Rescue

Tony Altieri, shovel operator, said he saw the truck tilt and the load of rock shift. He told police he swung the shovel around to try to catch the truck before it overturned, but the shovel did not swing fast enough.

At the hospital, Helmick was reported to have suffered multiple fractures of his left hip and left pelvis, multiple fractures of his right leg and left arm and numerous internal injuries. It was believed he had died almost instantly.

Helmick was a native of Horseshoe Run, born there February 15, 1916. He entered the Army in 1943 and was assigned to Company F, 331st Infantry Regiment of the 83d Division. He fought through several engagements in Central Europe and was awarded the Good Conduct Medal, American Theater, European Theater and World War II Victory medals and ribbons. He was in Europe from October 1944 to March 1946.

Experienced Truck Driver

Helmick was a son of Mrs. Ora Margaret Helmick of Hendricks and the late Noah Helmick. He is also survived by his wife, Naomi Helmick, and several brothers and sisters.

State Troopers Donald E. Peters and James Rightmire of the Thomas detachment, West Virginia State Police are investigating the mishap.

Co-workers at the big strip mine operation, known as Sam Polina Strip Mining Project, said Helmick was an experienced truck driver and had been driving trucks since before he entered the Army in World War II.

The strip mine operation is located five miles north of Thomas along the Western Maryland Railway, between Thomas and Davis.

CALVIN D. JOHNSON

Optimist Club To Mark Eighth Anniversary

Calvin D. Johnson Will Deliver Address

Calvin D. Johnson, former congressman from Illinois and rated as one of the five best speakers in America, will deliver the address at the eighth anniversary dinner of the Cumberland Optimist Club Saturday.

The ladies' night event will begin at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Country Club. Entertainment following Johnson's talk will be by Arabella, of Pittsburgh.

Johnson, a resident of Belleville, Ill., was elected to Congress in 1942. He exposed and forced abandonment of programs whereby American taxpayers' money was used to pay farmers of Peru not to raise cotton, and he also disclosed and forced abandonment of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's European farm machinery program under which a half million pieces of farm equipment were scheduled to go to European countries, many of which today are behind the iron curtain.

As a member of the Illinois General Assembly for six years, Johnson organized the drive to break the loan shark and collection agency rackets of Southern Illinois. He also exposed relief racketeering, brought about legislation to stop exploiting of people on relief, and sponsored the Johnson Work or Don't Eat Law which forced every able-bodied man on relief to work and earn the amount of his budget.

Johnson also was on the school and park boards of Belleville and served four years as a member of the St. Clair County, Ill., Board of Supervisors. In the latter capacity he brought about disclosure of large scale tax graft.

Born near Fordsville, Ky., November 22, 1898, Johnson is a descendant of the famous pioneer Kentucky season, Ephriham McDowell, whose likeness stands in Statuary Hall in the Capitol Building in Washington.

The program for the anniversary dinner is in charge of Hugh G. Funkhouser and his committee, Francis Warnick, Carl Winfield, John Ankeney, George Fey and James Honeycutt. Earl Nonnenman is president of the club.

Three Are Hurt On Sideling In Bus-Car Mishap

Resident Charged With MV Violation

Three local residents were injured and two of them were hospitalized yesterday with injuries sustained when a car in which they were riding collided with a school bus on the east side of Sideling Hill on U.S. Route 40 about four miles west of Hancock.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital were Mrs. Claggett L. Loy, 215 Cecelia Street, and Mrs. Elmer D. Henderson, 605 Hill Top Drive. Mrs. Loy's husband was treated at the hospital and released. The two women are reported in "fair" condition.

Police Chief Howard N. Murfin of Hancock said William Landers, who drives a school bus transporting children to and from Hancock School, had completed his run yesterday and was returning to his home on Sideling Hill.

At the scene of the accident, police said, the highway is three-lane, two westbound and one eastbound. As Landers made a right turn into the driveway of his home, Henderson, driver of the car, apparently became confused and attempted to pass the bus on the right side.

The left front of Henderson's car was damaged and the right front of the bus was damaged in the accident which occurred at 4:30 p. m. The four occupants of the car were brought to Cumberland in ambulances from the Kight Funeral Home.

Henderson apparently was uninjured. He is being charged with passing a vehicle on the wrong side, Chief Murfin added.

Town Decides To Close Street Behind College

Frostburg To Get $54,000 From State

The Frostburg Mayor and City Council at a special meeting last night unanimously approved an ordinance closing Park Avenue in the vicinity of Frostburg State Teachers College.

The ordinance, No. 477, provides for the closing of Park Avenue from the east side of Maple Street Extended to the first house on the south side of Park Avenue and continuing with the south side of Park Avenue to the end of the property line at State Teachers College, on the west side of an alley west of and parallel with Centre Street.

Before deciding the question, the Mayor and City Council heard statements from 10 representatives in a large group of townspeople. Eight of the speakers were in favor of the street closing.

After hearing the views, the Frostburg officials went into executive session with James Reid, a member of the staff of the State Board of Education. After the session it was announced that the state will give the city $54,000 with the receipt of the deed closing Park Avenue.

Future building plans of the college call for construction of two dormitories astride Park Avenue. The special meeting lasted about an hour and a half.

With an estimated $44,000 of the state money, the Frostburg Mayor and Council will widen College Avenue from Water Street to Maple Street. That will leave $10,000 for other street improvements.

Allegany High School Gets New Librarian This Year

MISS EVELYN BRIGHT

For the first time in 17 years Allegany High School has a new librarian.

The new one is Miss Evelyn Bright. She succeeds Mrs. Cora Perry of RFD 2, Flintstone, who retired last summer after 17 years as Allegany's librarian.

Miss Bright, who is from Keyser, has been active in civic affairs. She is a member of the American Association of University Women, Keyser Little Theatre, Keyser Women's Club, National, State and County Education Associations, West Virginia Music Educators and West Virginia Journalists. At present she also is organist of Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Keyser.

During the summer of 1953, Miss Bright visited in Europe attending the Coronation, touring England, Wales, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and France. She sailed on the Queen Mary.

Most of Miss Bright's experience has been in the teaching profession combined with library work. Although she started as a music supervisor in Kanawha County, W.Va., and later served in the same capacity in Grant County, W.Va. She also taught English in Piedmont, Petersburg and Fort Ashby high schools. In most of her positions she also has done some library work. At Fort Ashby last year she staged a minstrel, an operetta and co-directed the junior class play.

A graduate of Keyser High School, Miss Bright later attended a girls' school in Staunton, Va. She received her bachelor's degree from West Virginia Wesleyan College and her master's degree from West Virginia University. She also has done graduate work at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., Western Maryland College and the Columbia University Library School. She plans to obtain master of library science degree at Columbia. She is residing in Keyser with her parents.

Miss Bright's predecessor, Mrs. Perry, is a native New Englander. She received her early education in Topeka, Kan., but returned to Simmons College in Boston to receive her bachelor of library science degree. After raising a family of three children she resumed her library work at Allegany 17 years ago.

This summer Mrs. Perry, who was named Maryland's Mother of 1953, and her husband, Karl G. Perry, Fort Hill teacher, spent six weeks in Bamberg, Germany, visiting their daughter, son-in-law and granddaughter. They took an auto tour through Germany, Switzerland and Austria. They also visited England and Holland. Because of high winds off the cost of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland on the return trip, their plane had to land in Iceland.

Mrs. Perry is active in civic affairs. She still retains her active membership in the Education Associations, Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, American Association of University Women and the Girl Scouts of America.

Bloodmobile Visit To Be October 4, 5

Scheduling of blood donors for the next visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile here and at Westernport has started, according to Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive secretary of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter.

The quota is 300, or 150 for each community.

Mrs. Witherup said persons who will give a pint of blood at the Cumberland Blood Bank, which will be conducted as usual at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, may schedule appointments now by calling the Red Cross office.

Those in the Tri-Towns area who will give a pint of blood at the Westernport Blood Bank should schedule appointments with Mrs. Paul Cueva of Luke, branch chairman for that area.

The blood program is a continuing one, and each month more and more new blood donors must be recruited, Mrs. Witherup said. Blood donated is used to provide a full supply for hospitals in the county, and any surplus is given to the Armed Forces and in the campaign to prevent and combat polio, by converting the blood to gamma globulin.

Allegany County residents, with a couple of exceptions, have been supporting the blood program very generously, Mrs. Witherup noted. However, since the Westernport area is so much smaller in population than is the Cumberland area, it is necessary that the quota be exceeded considerably here, if the two-day allotment of 300 pints is to be procured.

Mrs. Charles Helmrich is recruiter chairman for the chapter and said last night that recruiting is continuing and scheduling for this visit has been started both here and in Westernport.

Gas Rate Boost Granted By PSC In 2-1 Decision

Average Monthly Hike Is 57 Cents

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22 (AP) — The Public Service Commission, in a 2-1 decision today granted the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. its second rate increase in less than two years.

The commission order authorized the company to raise its rates to Maryland consumers to allow for an increase in gross annual revenue of $366,116. The increase figures out to about 57 cents a month more on the average household bill.

Commissioner Wilmer Fell Davis dissented from the majority decision by Chairman John H. Hessey and Commissioner Frank Harper. Davis said he felt the increase was too large.

The new rates will be based on meter readings taken Oct. 15, and after.

The company, in an application filed last Jan. 22, had asked for a rate increase which would have produced an additional $417,416 a year, or about 65 cents a month per customer.

On Jan. 28, 1953, the company was authorized a $400,000 annual rate increase. That increase was the first the company had obtained since its rates were first established in 1927.

By commission figures, the rate increase authorized today will allow the company a return of 5.75 per cent on its investment.

Davis, in his dissenting opinion, noted that the latest increase, coupled with that allowed in 1953, results in a total increase of more than 40 per cent in two years.

"No private business," Davis remarked, "would consider making so great an increase in the cost of its product in two years. I do not think a monopoly should be allowed to do so either by this commission."

Davis, saying a 5.6 per cent rate of return should be enough, added:

"I feel ... that the Public Service Commission should do everything possible to alleviate the suffering caused by unemployment and other factors in this distressed area. A few cents saved for each customer served would mean much more to him than the $26,210 allowed the corporation.

"Surely a community which has been as hard hit as Cumberland these last few years should be given as sympathetic a rating as possible."

The majority opinion also took note that to allow the full increase requested by the company would have raised its rates a total of 41.52 per cent in two years.

"While a proper increase is understandable," the majority said, "such an enormous one is quite shocking." The opinion continued:

Town Decides To Close Street Behind College

Frostburg To Get $54,000 From State

The Frostburg Mayor and City Council at a special meeting last night unanimously approved an ordinance closing Park Avenue in the vicinity of Frostburg State Teachers College.

The ordinance, No. 477, provides for the closing of Park Avenue from the east side of Maple Street Extended to the first house on the south side of Park Avenue and continuing with the south side of Park Avenue to the end of the property line at State Teachers College, on the west side of an alley west of and parallel with Centre Street.

Before deciding the question, the Mayor and City Council heard statements from 10 representatives in a large group of townspeople. Eight of the speakers were in favor of the street closing.

After hearing the views, the Frostburg officials went into executive session with James Reid, a member of the staff of the State Board of Education. After the session it was announced that the state will give the city $54,000 with the receipt of the deed closing Park Avenue.

Future building plans of the college call for construction of two dormitories astride Park Avenue. The special meeting lasted about an hour and a half.

With an estimated $44,000 of the state money, the Frostburg Mayor and Council will widen College Avenue from Water Street to Maple Street. That will leave $10,000 for other street improvements.

Trucker Dies Under Load Of Rock At Mines

Tucker County Man Is Crushed To Death

A freak strip mining accident in Tucker County yesterday afternoon took the life of Ralph Dennis Helmick, 38-year-old World War II veteran and experienced truck driver.

Helmick, a resident of Hendricks, was operating a huge truck loaded with 15 tons of rock and dirt, when the truck overturned and crushed him.

According to West Virginia State Police and to eye witnesses, the tragedy occurred just past 1 p.m. Helmick was dead when admitted to Tucker County Hospital at Parsons.

Witnesses said Helmick's huge truck had just been loaded with about 15 tons of rock and dirt by a power shovel. As he started to pull away from the shovel, the right rear wheel of the heavy vehicle ran over a large raised stump on the ground. The vehicle began to tilt, and Helmick jumped from the cab. He slipped in the mud and the load and the truck crushed him.

Friend Attempts Rescue

Tony Altieri, shovel operator, said he saw the truck tilt and the load of rock shift. He told police he swung the shovel around to try to catch the truck before it overturned, but the shovel did not swing fast enough.

At the hospital, Helmick was reported to have suffered multiple fractures of his left hip and left pelvis, multiple fractures of his right leg and left arm and numerous internal injuries. It was believed he had died almost instantly.

Helmick was a native of Horseshoe Run, born there February 15, 1916. He entered the Army in 1943 and was assigned to Company F, 331st Infantry Regiment of the 83d Division. He fought through several engagements in Central Europe and was awarded the Good Conduct Medal, American Theater, European Theater and World War II Victory medals and ribbons. He was in Europe from October 1944 to March 1946.

Experienced Truck Driver

Helmick was a son of Mrs. Ora Margaret Helmick of Hendricks and the late Noah Helmick. He is also survived by his wife, Naomi Helmick, and several brothers and sisters.

State Troopers Donald E. Peters and James Rightmire of the Thomas detachment, West Virginia State Police are investigating the mishap.

Co-workers at the big strip mine operation, known as Sam Polina Strip Mining Project, said Helmick was an experienced truck driver and had been driving trucks since before he entered the Army in World War II.

The strip mine operation is located five miles north of Thomas along the Western Maryland Railway, between Thomas and Davis.

Dr. Albert C. Cook of Cumberland and Frostburg, president of the school's National Alumni Association, presided at the formal presentation of the certificates to Dr. Myron Aisenberg, dean of the Dental School.

Dr. Cook announced that the first of the scholarships already had been awarded to a freshman in the Dental School. A new scholarship will be awarded each fall for the next three years.

The scholarships include tuition, laboratory fees, books and instruments. Known as the E. Benton Taylor Memorial Educational Scholarships, the awards are given in honor of the late Mr. Taylor, president until his death last year of the Luther B. Benton Company, dealers in dental supplies.

CALVIN D. JOHNSON

Optimist Club To Mark Eighth Anniversary

Calvin D. Johnson Will Deliver Address

Calvin D. Johnson, former congressman from Illinois and rated as one of the five best speakers in America, will deliver the address at the eighth anniversary dinner of the Cumberland Optimist Club Saturday.

The ladies' night event will begin at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Country Club. Entertainment following Johnson's talk will be by Arabella, of Pittsburgh.

Johnson, a resident of Belleville, Ill., was elected to Congress in 1942. He exposed and forced abandonment of programs whereby American taxpayers' money was used to pay farmers of Peru not to raise cotton, and he also disclosed and forced abandonment of United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's European farm machinery program under which a half million pieces of farm equipment were scheduled to go to European countries, many of which today are behind the iron curtain.

As a member of the Illinois General Assembly for six years, Johnson organized the drive to break the loan shark and collection agency rackets of Southern Illinois. He also exposed relief racketeering, brought about legislation to stop exploiting of people on relief, and sponsored the Johnson Work or Don't Eat Law which forced every able-bodied man on relief to work and earn the amount of his budget.

Johnson also was on the school and park boards of Belleville and served four years as a member of the St. Clair County, Ill., Board of Supervisors. In the latter capacity he brought about disclosure of large scale tax graft.

Born near Fordsville, Ky., November 22, 1898, Johnson is a descendant of the famous pioneer Kentucky season, Ephriham McDowell, whose likeness stands in Statuary Hall in the Capitol Building in Washington.

The program for the anniversary dinner is in charge of Hugh G. Funkhouser and his committee, Francis Warnick, Carl Winfield, John Ankeney, George Fey and James Honeycutt. Earl Nonnenman is president of the club.

Bloodmobile Visit To Be October 4, 5

Scheduling of blood donors for the next visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile here and at Westernport has started, according to Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive secretary of the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter.

The next visit of the bloodmobile from Johnstown is scheduled here for October 4 and at Westernport October 5.

The quota is 300, or 150 for each community.

Mrs. Witherup said persons who will give a pint of blood at the Cumberland Blood Bank, which will be conducted as usual at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, may schedule appointments now by calling the Red Cross office.

Those in the Tri-Towns area who will give a pint of blood at the Westernport Blood Bank should schedule appointments with Mrs. Paul Cueva of Luke, branch chairman for that area.

The blood program is a continuing one, and each month more and more new blood donors must be recruited, Mrs. Witherup said. Blood donated is used to provide a full supply for hospitals in the county, and any surplus is given to the Armed Forces and in the campaign to prevent and combat polio, by converting the blood to gamma globulin.

Allegany County residents, with a couple of exceptions, have been supporting the blood program very generously, Mrs. Witherup noted. However, since the Westernport area is so much smaller in population than is the Cumberland area, it is necessary that the quota be exceeded considerably here, if the two-day allotment of 300 pints is to be procured.

Mrs. Charles Helmrich is recruiter chairman for the chapter and said last night that recruiting is continuing and scheduling for this visit has been started both here and in Westernport.

Three Are Hurt On Sideling In Bus-Car Mishap

Resident Charged With MV Violation

Three local residents were injured and two of them were hospitalized yesterday with injuries sustained when a car in which they were riding collided with a school bus on the east side of Sideling Hill on U.S. Route 40 about four miles west of Hancock.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital were Mrs. Claggett L. Loy, 215 Cecelia Street, and Mrs. Elmer D. Henderson, 605 Hill Top Drive. Mrs. Loy's husband was treated at the hospital and released. The two women are reported in "fair" condition.

Police Chief Howard N. Murfin of Hancock said William Landers, who drives a school bus transporting children to and from Hancock School, had completed his run yesterday and was returning to his home on Sideling Hill.

At the scene of the accident, police said, the highway is three-lane, two westbound and one eastbound. As Landers made a right turn into the driveway of his home, Henderson, driver of the car, apparently became confused and attempted to pass the bus on the right side.

The left front of Henderson's car was damaged and the right front of the bus was damaged in the accident which occurred at 4:30 p. m. The four occupants of the car were brought to Cumberland in ambulances from the Kight Funeral Home.

Henderson apparently was uninjured. He is being charged with passing a vehicle on the wrong side, Chief Murfin added.
